Needs Advice

Dear Jan,

I am 13 and in love. I mean really IN LOVE with this boy. He says he loves me, too? walk up to him and make him say it. Jan please help me.

ADVICE NEEDED

Dear Advice:

I think you're in for the biggest letdown of your life. A 13-year-old boy USUALLY is more interested in sports and other activities than love.

Perhaps you'd better find other things to do in your spare time other than concentrating on LOVE.

Has Admirers

Dear Jan,

I am 14 and go with a guy 16. I dig him and he dig me. He says he likes other girls about 6 other girls who like him. Everytime I am with him they start picking at me. There boy I won't let go. What should I do?

DON'T KNOW

Ignore the six other girls.

TELL IT TO JAN

If you are under 21 and have a problem Jan might lend you a helping hand. Write Jan c/o AFRO Magazine, P.O. Box 1857, Baltimore, Md. 21203. Write all letters clearly and briefly.

Can't Pick Dates

Dear Stacey:

I will be 21 in June. My problem is my parents pick out all my male friends for me. They don't talk to them. I have a friend who likes me and I like him. I think my parents dislike him for some reason. Am I old enough to pick my own friends? They just think no man is good enough for me. Jan please help me.

MISS PARENT PROBLEM

Dear Miss:

By all means, you are old enough to pick your own friends.

I write this "special" guy to your home for dinner so you can prove to your parents that you are worthy of choosing your own friends.

A Pretty Place

April sparkles, like rare old wines
With its apple, cherry, and dogwood blossoms
I head for the wooden places
Where there are golfers, and planters, and anglers
That Baltimore, when revisited by April
Is a beauty that sort of vamps us
Like an orchid on a black velvet gown.

PRAYER

Give us, O, Lord, a concern for stones that the builders reject, for the sheep that is lost, for the son or daughter that is a prodigal so that what is lost may be found and what is thought dead may be made alive.

Help us, the wayward feet to stay and guide them in the homeward way.

18-year-olds get vote at St. James Church

The parish meeting of St. James Episcopal Church was held last Monday and the following amendments were made to the charter.

1. The number of vestrymen was increased from 8 to 12.

2. The term of the senior and junior wardens was increased from 1 to 4 years.

3. 18-year-old members in good standing may now vote at parish meetings and are eligible to hold office as vestrymen.

These amendments become effective at the next year's parish meeting.

New vestrymen elected were Mrs. Vernice Reynolds and Joseph Wiles, who replaced Mrs. Mary Morris and Everett Saunders who had served a four year term.

Other officers elected by the vestry were, Edgar Smith, senior warden; John H. Murphy III, junior warden; Mahlon Oswell, treasurer; Jerome Todd, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Elaine Howard, secretary.

Arshell Morrell speaking for some 17 youngsters who attended the meeting stated the youth wanted to participate more actively in the churchs' program.

After an hour of dialogue between youngsters and older parishioners, the meeting was adjourned.

DAMON HOWARD YOUNG, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Young, Jr. and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Young Sr., was christened at Saint James' Episcopal Church, recently. Mrs. Young, mother, is the former Miss Wilhelmina Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manning Howard of Rockville, Md. A family reception followed the christening and was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Young, Sr.

Youth, 14, plays drums for Easter services

By MARIE P. COOKE

More than a thousand church members, friends and relatives turned out on Easter Sunday to give thanks and hear 14-year-old Paul Crook play his drums at Bethel AME Church.

Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul (Josephine) Crook of Norfolk Ave., is a 7th grade student at Friends School. The 5'4" youth, like most boys his age, he enjoys playing basketball, football, and "girl watching."

He won the top honorary scholarship at Friends this year and plans to become a doctor.

Paul played musicial selections at the 8 p.m. and 1 a.m. services which completely enhanced the churchgoers. Among the tunes he played were:

"God Gave Me A Song", "I Heard The Voice of Jesus," "All Glory Laud and Honor," "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord" and others.

The Rev. H. Hildebran, pastor, commented," It was a fine performance from a fine young man."

Mrs. Crook, a former nurse at University hospital for 14 years and now teach- churches in the Baltimore area have called and invited her 14-year-old to visit their houses of worship. He will, however, appear at the Annual Conference Youth Night at Trinity AME Church.

Paul has studied music under Warren Shelley at Peabody for the past 7½ years.

He is not, however, the only child in his family who studies music. Anthony, 12, who accompanied his brother at Bethel at the 8 a.m. service, plays electric guitar. He is a sixth-grader at Dickey Hill Elementary and is already enrolled at Boys Latin for the coming school year.

Michael, 10, plays piano and organ. He, too, attends Friends school.

Congressman to speak at House dinner

Congressman Walter E. Fauntroy, first District of Columbia representative to the U.S. Congress, will speak at The Freedom House Fellowship Dinner, tonight (Friday) April 23, 6:30 p.m., Blue Crest North, 401 Reisterstown Road.

Congressman Fauntroy was a co-worker with the late Rev. Martin Luther King in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference Crusades for Civil Rights. He is pastor of the new Bethel Baptist Church in Washington, D.C.

LeRoy O. Dyett, local businessman, chairman of the dinner committee, announced that Congressman Fauntroy supports the program of Freedom House located at 1234 Druid Hill Avenue, which is an organized effort of inner city neighborhood leaders and the police department, and other city officials in the fight on crime and delinquency.

The STOP Squad members of the police department under the direction of Lt. James A. Watkins, who have been working with the Freedom House leaders in the war on narcotics and other crime producing forces, will be special guests.

The dinner is a fund raising effort to support the program of the ghetto neighborhood leaders in the joint effort of the citizens and the police to reduce crime and delinquency.
