Home and garden tour set for Windsor Hills

"It is probably the oldest, most stable, completely integrated neighborhood in the city," remarked John Michener, president of Windsor Hills Association when he announced that community's fourth annual home and garden tour to be held Sunday, May 9, noon to 5 p.m.

"Racial integration," he went on, "began here in the early 1950's, and although there was some initial panic when blacks first moved in, it was rather quickly checked by a strong neighborhood association whose leaders convinced Windsor Hills' residents that they should not just accept integration but commit themselves to the more positive goal of making integrated living work.

"From that very modest beginning, Windsor Hills went on to officially dedicate itself, a few years later, to becoming a demonstration community of integrated living.

"Perhaps the surest indication of how successful we've been," he continued, "is the fact that today both young white families and black families are moving into houses which come on the market, and they are doing so in just about equal numbers."

About 20 homes in the area will be open to the public on Sunday, representing a cross-section of life styles and tastes, and a number of gardens will also be open.

There will be a "white elephant" sale, featuring old and new items, some genuine antiques, others real "white elephants." There will also be a handwork boutique, with needlework, crocheting, knitting and a variety of other handwork done by ladies in the neighborhood.

An arts and crafts show, including the work of Baltimore artist, Charles Palmer, a resident of Windsor Hills, will be displayed on Prince George Road.

Tickets for the home and garden tour cost $1.00 and may be purchased at Queen Anne and Prince George Rds. on the day of the tour. In case of rain, the event will take place the following Sudnay, May 16.

Hospitals invite your questions

"Anyone who has a question about hospital programs and services is invited to call two special telephone numbers on May 10, 11 and 12. We'll have the people there to provide the answers."

So said Richard J. Davidson, executive vice president of the 55 member Maryland Hospital Association, in announcing a special project of his organization—during Maryland Hospital Week, May 9 to 15.

Representatives of various metropolitan area hospitals will man two direct telephone lines between 10:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. on May 10, 11 and 12 at the association offices, 1301 York Road, Lutherville.

Recording devices will tape phoned inquiries of persons who call at any other hours of those three days, Davidson said.

Interested citizens are encouraged to call 821-7511 or 821-7512 to ask whatever questions they might have.

"This is part of our Maryland Hospital Week observances and we hope that during these three days we can explain some of the aspects of hospital operations that are troubling area residents," Davidson stated.

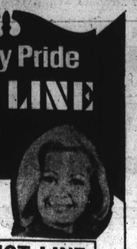
QUESTIONS TO Marilyn



WRITE: HOT LINE
3325 Duncanwood Lane
Balto., Md. 21213

Dear Marilyn:

How can I make cheese pie just like Pantry Pride's? I love it.

Mrs. John Orsino, Gloucester, N. J.

Dear Mrs. Orsino:

You are a real homemaker! Anybody that can buy a delicious cheesecake and still wants to make it on her own, deserves nothing short of pie in the sky! Here goes.

1 cup sweiback crumbs (about 12 sweiback)	2 eggs, well beaten
¼ cup confectioners sugar	½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup melted butter	1 tsp. grated lemon rind
4 pkgs. (3-oz. each) cream cheese, softened	¼ tsp. salt
	1 cup sour cream
	½ tsp. vanilla extract

Combine swieback crumbs, 2 tbsps. confectioners sugar and butter; reserve ¼ cup. Press remaining crumbs over bottom of buttered 8- or 9-inch round layer pan; chill. Meanwhile, beat cream cheese until fluffy; add eggs, granulated sugar, lemon rind and salt, beating until smooth. Pour cheese mixture into crumb-lined cake pan. Bake in 375° oven for 25 minutes. Remove cake from oven and reset oven temperature to 425°. Combine sour cream, vanilla extract and remaining confectioner's sugar; spread over cake and sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Bake 10 minutes longer. Cool cheesecake thoroughly before serving. This recipe makes about 8 servings.

. . . or you can buy it at Pantry Pride!

Marilyn

Dear Marilyn:

I just bought a fondue pot because it looked so pretty. I am an impulsive buyer. I get in lots of trouble with my husband. Save the day for me, please, and tell me something I can use this pot for.

Troubled Tessie

Dear Troubled Tessie:

Down in Texas they have a dish which they call Chili Rabbit. It's delicious. It's tangy. I hope it will do to take the bite out of your husband's bark!

Combine one 15-ounce can of chili con carne, ½ cup light cream, ½ cup canned condensed consommé, 1 pound process sharp cheese slices.

Stir continuously over low heat.

Transfer to your lovely impulsive fondue pot. Serve with corn chips. And you will look pretty good, too.

Marilyn

Dear Marilyn:

Could you give me a recipe for pizza pie sauce?

Mrs. J. Gibson, Lansdale, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Gibson:

I think this one is great. Spread on your prepared pizza dough Pantry Pride bottled spaghetti sauce with mushrooms. Top with sliced Genoa salami and shredded pizza cheese. Bake in a very hot oven as the pizza dough recommends.

Your whole family should be fighting over a pizza this pie.

Pantry Pride HOT LINE

Dear Marilyn:

I'd like to try something different in potatoes. They seem so boring lately. My whole family feels overbaked, boiled, fried!

Mrs. R. Kingston, Balto., Md.

Dear Mrs. Kingston:

If you know your onions this shouldn't really be a problem. Try dicing a small onion into the water with your cut up potatoes. Then forget it.

When your potatoes are ready, drain into a colander. Then beating in butter, salt, pepper and milk you'll be whipping up a completely non-boring batch of potatoes.

Marilyn

Dear Marilyn:

Your column is a great help to me. Would you have a recipe for good beef vegetable soup?

Sarah, Baltimore

Dear Sarah:

I'll blow my image with this one for sure. The best beef vegetable soup I've ever tried is made with the condensed soups. I do add a soup bone, salt and pepper. See? No secrets. Just plain easy . . . and excellent.

Marilyn

I get letters:

Helen Wyant has a British cook book with terms she doesn't understand. What is castor sugar; demerara sugar; black treacle; corn flour; patna rice?

Mrs. William Shoemaker, with an Australian recipe book wants to know about castor sugar. Also Sultanas. Is 5-oz. flour the same as 1¼ cups?
