prison philosophy and to "save Baltimore and Maryland from further disgraceful news going out across the nation."

Mr. Brailey said that the news is coming from inside the prison all of which is legally available to taxpayers whose money supports the budget, that Warden Schoonfield is circulating petitions asking staff members to sign.

The petition, staff members told Mr. Brailey, tells of Warden Schoonfield's good deeds and they are in fear of their jobs, "if we don't sign it."

Following the Tuesday meeting, Mayor D'Alesandro asked Delegate Brailey for more specifics as to inmates complaints and he will follow them up personally with trips to the jail to talk with the complainants.

Mrs. Hiram Schoonfield has been working at the jail for about four weeks as a lieutenant in the Women's Detention Center.
