

THE CHAIRMAN: The Chair concurs, Delegate Henderson, that the interpretation you suggest is positive. My concern is that it is not as clear as it might be. I think it might be worthwhile to take the recess to see if the language can be clarified.

For what purpose does Delegate Moser rise?

DELEGATE MOSER: I would adopt Judge Henderson's interpretation entirely and if you would care to leave the wording to the Committee on Style and Drafting —

THE CHAIRMAN: I do not think the matter is one that can be left to the Committee on Style. I think it is a matter of substance. I think we are wasting time now if you will permit the Chair to say so.

For what reason does Delegate Cardin rise?

DELEGATE CARDIN: It was a parliamentary inquiry.

THE CHAIRMAN: State the inquiry.

DELEGATE CARDIN: I want to inquire if after the language is drafted we will vote on the acceptance of this as an inclusion in the constitution as opposed to the omission.

THE CHAIRMAN: That is correct.

DELEGATE CARDIN: Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN: The Chair is going to recognize Delegate Powers to move that the Committee rise, but earnestly suggests that Delegate Moser, Delegate Willoner, and Delegate James spend a few minutes at lunch and see if they can remove any positive doubt about this.

Delegate Powers.

DELEGATE POWERS: Mr. Chairman, I move that the Committee of the Whole rise and report that it has not yet completed consideration of R&P-2.

(The motion was duly seconded.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All those in favor, signify by saying Aye; contrary, No. The Ayes have it. It is so ordered.

(Whereupon, at 1:25 P.M., the Committee of the Whole rose, and the Convention reconvened.)

(The mace was removed by the Sergeant-at-Arms.)
