Coppin coed shot

Miss Janice Marie Jennings, 24-year-old Coppin State College freshman, is reported in "satisfactory condition" at Sinai Hospital this morning (Friday).

Police say the young woman was shot in the left hip Thursday about 12:40 a.m. and left for dead in an alley behind the 5000 block Elmer Ave. in Pimlico by a man who told her he had been hired to kill her.

Reports quote Miss Jennings as saying she was walking in the 4700 block Park Heights Ave. when a stocky man she did not know came up to her, grabbed her by the neck and told her at pistol point to go along with him and keep her mouth shut.

They also quote the student as saying he shoved her along in front of him across Park Heights Ave. and through alleys and during the trip told her he was from New York.

Police state that Miss Jennings said she was then ordered to sit on the ground and wait until a woman who hired the gunman arrived. Police report that the young woman was able to get to her mace gun and spray the man's face with about half the contents.

They quote her as saying the man who is about 27 years of age, grabbed her but after a struggle she was able to get away. Police report that she told them she ran down the alley but the man fired a bullet into her thigh before he fled in the opposite direction.

Police report the wounded student was found by neighbors attracted by her cries for help and taken to a house where residents summoned an ambulance.

State pharmacists launch anti-VD drive

Maryland pharmacists Wednesday kicked off a state-wide "awareness" drive against venereal disease, which they describe as being in dire need of efforts aimed in three directions: education, prevention and treatment.

Don Fedder, past president of the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association and now chairman of its board of trustees, said, "For generations, venereal disease has been swept under the rug. Too many people in high places act on the theory that—'if you ignore it, it will go away.'

"Too many of the same people, more-over, like to argue that V.D. happens only to the 'wrong kind' of people . . . and such people deserve it!

"I've got news for such thinkers: venereal disease is afflicting boys and girls and men and women in every social stratum, of every level of so-called 'respectability. It is the prime equal-opportunity disease.'"

With venereal disease nationally already acknowledged as raging at "epidemic status," Maryland's share of V.D. is running substantially above the national levels and trending even higher, according to an analysis of current data made by the MPA.

Ransom E. Lancaster, long at Ft. Holabird

Ransom E. Lancaster, 49, a clerk for the U.S. Army Intelligence Command Station in Ft. Holabird, Md. died suddenly on Saturday at his Brookfield Avenue home.

A 25-year employee of the army, bus loads of his co-workers came Thursday noon to attend funeral services at the Douglas Memorial Community Church, where he was an active member.

Mr. Lancaster, belonged to the Ambrosia Brotherhood of his church, was a 32nd degree Prince Hall Mason and a Patron of the Gethseman Chapter No. 34, Order of the Easter Star.

The son of the late John and Sarah Lancaster, he was born in Baltimore and attended city public schools.

On Sept. 8, 1950, he married the former Miss Ethel Neal who survives.

Mr. Hill served two years in the states in World War II.

In addition to his wife, he is survied by four sisters: Mesdames Hester Lovett, Clara Watson, Martha Bowers, and Ida Williams, all of Baltimare, and a brother, Warren Lancaster, Baltimore.

Burial was in Arbutus Memorial Park.

NAACP hits Marine base bias

NEW BERN, N.C. — The local branch of the NAACP with the help of the field labor director from the NAACP's national office report that discriminatory practices are used against minority employees at the Cherry Point Marine Corps Air Station.

The investigation alleges discrimination in the following areas:

Military off-base housing; employment on and off base for military civilians; promotion, job training, retirement and compensation for on-the-job injury.

And, on-base employment is unknown until the fields are filled.
