Provident Nursing School program Sunday at 12 noon

When Provident Hospital dedicates its new facility at 1301 Liberty Heights Ave. on Sunday, the day will culminate many years of hard work and will represent a kind of cooperation that is unusual.

Activities planned for the day will begin with a luncheon at 12 noon sponsored by the Helene Fuld School of Nursing in honor of attorney Gordon Phillips, executor of the estate of the Helene Fuld Foundation.

The Helene Fuld Foundation provides extensive funds to support the foundation.

It provides tuition scholarships for all students who attend the school.

• • •

The new Nursing School which is to be able to train more than 100 students and will house 80 students will be dedicated at 1:30 p.m. in a separate ceremony.

At that time Attorney Phillips will cut the ribbon that symbolizes the introduction of a new technique in educational training.

The foundation donated a student responder system to the hospital which is the first of its kind to be used in a nursing school. This system is an electronic device that provides for programmed training experiences.

• • •

At 4 p.m. the official Dedication Ceremony for the entire Complex will be held. George L. Russell Jr., President of the Board of Trustees will give the dedication address.

Dr. Saul M. Perdue, vice-president of the Board of Trustees, will preside over the 30-minute program.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro and other elected officials are expected to be on hand to participate in the ceremony. Matthew Fraling, a local vocalist and arranger, will sing "The Impossible Dream," accompanied by Joseph L. Neal.

Dr. James D. Carr, a physician who trained at Provident Hospital and son of one of the founders, will bring a message for the physicians who have been trained by the hospital.

Other program participants include Henry J. Whyte, the executive director, Joseph Meyerhoff, Samuel Hecht, Mrs. Victorine Adams, Mrs. Beatrice Avery, Dr. Elijah Saunders and Charles G. Tildon.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Willard Clayton, member the Board of Trustees and the benediction by His Imminence Lawrence Cardinal Shehan.

• • •

Following the dedication, guests will be allowed to tour the new facility in areas that do not interfere with patient care.

Among out-of-town guests are expected members of the National Association of Health Services Executives, an organization of black health care providers headed by Mr. Whyte, executive director. Mr. Tildon is also an officer in the organization.

In recognition of many sacrifices that have been made to raise money and do the planning of the hospital, a special recognition will be given to the first donor to make a pledge to the new Provident Hospital in the drive that officially began in December, 1962.

This donor will be on the platform to represent all persons who contributed any amount of money, time and service toward the development of the new Provident Hospital.

Mrs. Howard is the wife of Dana Duane Howard of the 4100 block Liberty Heights Ave.

Miss Black Teenage Baltimore finals set

The Baltimore Scholarship Fund Inc. will benefit from the Miss Black Teenage Pageant. This fund serves as an educational and cultural stimulus in the community to assist deserving inner-city children in achieving proficiency in fine arts, the performing arts, the commercial arts, and the communication arts.

Young girls of Baltimore will compete in the Miss Black Teenage Baltimore Finals, a preliminary to the Miss Black Teenage America Beauty Pageant, June 23, at the Pimlico Room, 4908 Park Heights Ave., at 8:30 p.m.

The pageant will feature teenage students 13 to 16 years of age, who will not be 17 before August 1st. To qualify, they must be of good appearance, with a performing talent.

Most of these young ladies and their parents have met one another via group meetings. The national finals will be held in Atlanta, Ga., July 28.

MISS BLACK TEENAGE BALTIMORE — Mrs. Carolyn D. Wainwright, a community information supervisor for the Baltimore Model Cities agency, and an assistant to the executive director, Maurice Hubert Jr., will be narrator and emcee for the Miss Black Teenage Baltimore Pageant, June 25 at the Pimlico Room.

Burnett calls for greater Coppin--CCB cooperation

By DR. SIDNEY KOBRE

Instead of being in competition with each other, the Community College and the four-year universities and colleges in Baltimore should be working together "to provide higher education for the poor, the black, the disadvantaged and the left-outs."

Said so what President Calvin W. Burnett, of Coppin State College, told the more than 550 graduates of the Community College of Baltimore at the 31st commencement exercises.

The event was held on the lawn of the Liberty Campus, with President Harry Bard giving a welcoming address and introducing the principal speaker, city officials and other guests. More than 1,500 graduates, their relatives and friends, college deans and faculty attended the impressive ceremonies.

• • •

Scholarship keys and awards were given to outstanding students for their achievements and for the assistance they had given to advance the welfare of the college.

Cornell Gregory Jones was presented the English Key for his excellent in writing and literature, while Mitchell Henry Danoff was presented the Citizenship Key.

The Activities Key was given to Lydia Theresa Smith who served as secretary of the Student Government Association; and to Jerome Owens, basketball star, the Athletics Key was awarded.

Robert T. Roseile, Jr., who served during the year as president of the Student Government Association, and represented the students on the Board of Trustees, was graduated with high honor and awarded a Scholarship Key.

In his address, Dr. Burnett illustrated specifically how the Coppin State College and the Community College of Baltimore could work together to provide meaningful higher education for Baltimoreans.

He suggested that the two institutions could have an exchange of faculty, could share facilities and could develop curriculums together.

He cited in particular the law-enforcement and allied health curriculums at the Community College which now awards the two-year Associate in Arts degrees in these subjects. At Coppin State, such programs could be developed for the third and fourth year students.

The speaker said that the four-year institutions must not remain hidden behind the cloak of academia and forget their responsibilities to the community and its residents.

He commended the philosophy of President Harry Bard and the Community College, which emphasized that all graduates be given a chance at higher education, regardless of their economic circumstances and previous preparation.

The speaker cited the particular value of community colleges, graduates of which have the opportunity to continue with their education at four-year institutions, entering the third year; or they may prepare to enter directly into their careers in business and the professions.

"The Community College provides manpower for the city's economic institutions and the governmental agencies," Dr. Burnett declared. "The graduates are trained to be nurses, businessmen, construction engineers and many other occupations."

He declared that the graduates should not forget the importance of the expert faculty at the Community College; the graduates have a commitment to perform at high quality levels for the people in the business, in the professions and in government service in which they, as graduates, will enter.

President John H. Moxley, III, of the CCB Board of Trustees, presented the English Key; Comptroller Hyman Pressman, the Citizenship Key; and Board of Trustee member Louis Doering, the Activities Key and the Athletic Award. Senator Rosalie Abrams presented the German language and literature award to Victor Taliuto.

President of the City Council William Donald Schaefer gave the Scholarship Keys, and Mayor D'Alesandro, in presenting the awards and diplomas, was assisted by Profs. Dennis Epley and Arthur C. Mueller, class sponsors.

The arrangements for the commencement event were made by Dean Leona S Morris, of Student Personnel Services, and Prof. Benjamin Durant was in charge of music. The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Eugene R. Ackerman, of Taneytown Church.

Mitchell speaks at Mt. Winans

The Winans Civic Interest Group, Inc. invite all to watch the Urban Renewal Program on channel 11, Sundays at 10 p.m.

The Rev. James Reynolds, trial pastor of Bethany Baptist Church, Mt. Winans, was elected pastor of Bethany Baptist Church. His strongest opposition members who are known in most churches as the rulers of tomorrow.

On Sunday, May 30 the Community Unity Services were held at Bethany Baptist Church in which the Rev. J. Lloy dRu hsa,pstor Rev. J. Lloyd Rush, pastor of the Mt. Winans United Church delivered the message which inspired all.

The Rev. Rush delivered his final sermon both at the Unity Services and his church before going to conference.

At Mt. Winans Elementary School, June 7, Senator Mitchell was guest speaker for the Tenant Council of Westport and residents of Mt. Winans. He was introduced and presented to the group by Mrs. Hortense Grant, who related his achievements.

Mr. Mitchell further cited his past service to this community despite the fact that he is from the 4th district. His theme was "A Mayor who will be Responsive to the Masses and Not the Classes."

Senator Mitchell stated that there was a lack of leadership in City Hall and that he would stop the building of highways and build homes. We are going to select our own mayor and not have him picked by a group of millionaires.

In closing, he invited everyone to come to his campaign headquarters at 409 N. Charles St. on Monday week at 6 p.m. Responsible for the wonderful turnout were Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Joan Kennedy, and the Tenant Council members.

• • •

The fabulous Alamonts of South Baltimore will picnic at the Marshall Hall Amusement Park on Sunday, June 27th. Their president Bertie Brooks, and committee men, Walter Fisher and Elmer Brown, hope to see you there.

The last meeting of the season for the Mt. Winans Civic Interest Group, Inc. will be held on Wednesday, June 16th at the Elementary School at 8 p.m. There will be no more regular meetings until Wednesday, September 15.

Happy Birthday greetings are extended to Miss Victoria Carol Matthews. The date, June 13th. She will be given a birthday party by her parents at their residence, 2324 Navada St.

Everyone is acquainted with his great deliverence ability, his great leadership, his great musical ability, and his wonderful radio choir and friendly members.

It is well to note that with all this greatness he, the Rev. Arthur Jones, pastor of Jones Tabernacle Baptist Church, is humble enough to bring his great choir and members to Star of Bethlehem AME Church to render service.

Star of Bethlehem Church, with their faithful few, showed their gratitude to the Rev. Jones and his members by paying their annual visitaton to the church where he first heard the Rev. Roland Howard, also a dynamic and sincere deliverer.
