Frederick A. Howard appointed AFRO mechanical superintendent

The appointment of Frederick A. Howard, 50, as mechanical superintendent for the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers, has been announced by Mrs. Frances Murphy Henderson, chairman of the board.

At mechanical superintendent Howard will be responsible for the day to day production involved in the composition and printing of the AFRO's 13 weekly editions. He assumed his new duties on June 6.

Howard will be working in cooperation with John J. Oliver Sr., AFRO vice president for production. Both are veteran AFRO employees and members of the company board of directors.

Howard graduated from Hampton Institute and worked at the Journal and Guide Newspaper in Norfolk, Va. as a linotype operator, job compositor, maintenance and make-up man for little over a year before coming to the AFRO Feb. 7, 1949.

FREDERICK A. HOWARD

Starting as a linotype operator, Howard moved up to linotype foreman in 1951 and since that time has served as supervisor in every area of the composing room operation.

Howard has attended numerous conferences, seminars and workshops on newspaper production and has made frequent visits to plants of various sizes to study production methods.

With twice weekly papers in Baltimore and Washington and nine weekly editions, the AFRO-AMERICAN production crews print papers five days a week and work one or more shifts every day.

He is grandson of Greenbury Howard, a brother of Mrs. Martha Elizabeth Howard Murphy, wife of AFRO founder John H. Murphy Sr.

Va. College shortens name to get U.S. aid

LYNCHBURG, Va. — Virginia Seminary and College has shortened its name to Virginia College and qualified for federal aid.

Seminaries are not covered by the various federal programs for aid to higher education, so the college's board of managers decided to upgrade the school.

Nine new members joining the board of trustees, are William G. Rolley, acting chairman, and Vladimir A. Dutre, Theodore R. Haggins Jr., Brooks Hays, W. Pat Jennings, R. Walter Johnson, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Koontz, Mortimer C. Lebowitz and Edward F. Ryan.

William B. Robertson, special assistant to Gov. Linwood Holton, delivered the college's commencement address Monday evening. The Rev. James I. Brooks of Court Street Baptist Church delivered the baccalaureate sermon Sunday afternoon.

Confirmation of federal eligibility came in a letter from James M. Hahman, chief of the institutional eligibility unit, junior colleges and institutes in the U. of Health, Education and Welfare.

He noted that the college is now eligible for aid under the Higher Education Act of 1965, Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963 and National Defense Education act of 1958.

Youths may lose scholarships

NEW YORK — Two Harlem youths may lose scholarships already awarded them, if suspension and criminal charges of disorderly conduct filed against them by Richard Klein, principal of the HS of Music and Art, are not dropped.

Members of the community are asking the principal to drop the charges against Manuel Cabrera and Wolfredo Pesante so they will not lose college scholarships amounting to almost $10,000.

The youths were arrested May 24 after word of their suspension sparked a sit-down protest by students in the lobby of the school.

The boys were suspended when Klein identified them as the leaders of an earlier demonstration that forced the cancellation of the school's spring concert and art exhibit.

Graves sees district as problem

AUSTIN, Tex. — Rep. Curtis Graves of Houston says a reapportionment plan created a big central Houston district that is "too black" for him and said he would have trouble running in it.

Graves who is the only non-white in the Texas House of Representatives said, "I don't think I can win in that District."

"That district will probably elect four black Panthers with Afros about two feet wide, and if you think we have trouble with decorum up here now, just imagine how it will be trying to see the speaker around a two-foot wide Afro."

Can you find the Volkswagen hidden in this picture?

If you can, you'll make us very sad.

Because we've troubled ourselves no end to hide it from you.

Our quest for the invisible Volkswagen took us all the way to Turin, Italy.

Where we asked the famous Ghia Studios to design us a sporty Italian body.

They did.

Then we secretly prowled about Europe for the best coach builder we could find.

Success. To the Karmann Coachworks of Osnabrück we handed over Ghia's sketches with the injunction:

"Make it beautiful." (Or else.)

They did.

They welded. And burnished. And sculpted. And sanded. And painted.

Until they had shaped in steel what Ghia had shaped in pencil.

Smug in the knowledge that nobody could ever mistake this beautiful car for a Volkswagen, we concealed our air-cooled engine in back. (For better traction.)

And made it go about 26 miles on just one gallon.

Then we gave this Volkswagen its final disguise:

We named it the Karmann Ghia.

Just ask a million menthol smokers why they switched to KOOL.

We ask all the time. And what we've found out shouldn't surprise anyone. They like its cool, smooth taste. So much so that Kool is the fastest growing of the major filter brands in America.*

And Kool is the number 1 menthol cigarette in the 50 states. You'll find it everywhere.

Right now, there are 27 other menthol brands wishing they were on top. But Kool plans to stay number 1.

Only Kool combines the right amount of pure menthol with 28 fine tobaccos. And then tops it all off with the most popular type of filter in America.

If you want a smoother taste from a menthol cigarette, give Kool a try.

But you don't have to go by our say-so. Instead just ask someone why he changed to Kool. After all, we do it all the time.

Mack Thomas freed in death of Clarence 'Egypt' Jones

Mack Douglas Thomas, 32, 900 block Newington Ave., has been found not guilty in the Sept. 5, 1969 murder of Clarence "Egypt" Jones.

Jones, 45, a well-known Avenue figure, was slain inside a carryout shop in the 1000 block Pennsylvania Ave. His death preceded the November, 1969 slaying of the carryout owner, William Alvin (Butch) Stanford who was shot in an argument over 50 cents entrance fee at a S. Wheeler St. tavern.

"Butch's" slayer was freed on self-defense without a trial.

Mr. Thomas's case was dropped by the state when his wife took advantage of her automatic constitutional right to remain silent and refused to testify against him in Criminal Court. Judge O'Donell presided at the brief hearing.

Assistant State's Attorney Ray Davis told the court there were no other witnesses except the wife and without her testimony, the state had no case.

Mr. Thomas gave himself up on Jan. 6, 1970, was indicted by the grand jury and later in the month was freed under $25,000 bail through a writ of habeas corpus filed by his attorney, Geral Kroop.

At a preliminary hearing in Homicide Court, his wife testified directly after Egypt was fatally shot, she received a telephone call.

In a statement made to the court, she quoted the man whom she thought to be her husband as saying, "I guess you'll have to call me a mad dog. I just killed your boyfriend."

In a statement filed along with his request for bail in January, 1970, Mr. Thomas said that he would be residing at home with his mother. He also stated he was born July 30, 1938 in Halifax, Va. but came to Baltimore in 1940 and has resided here since.

He stated that he had served in the Army from 1958 to 1960 and had attained the rank of E-5.

One out of five high school kids majors in V.D.

. . . in one of America's most populated cities. And many of them will graduate to illnesses that will haunt them for the rest of their lives. The less lucky will die. This year well over 2½ million Americans will contract Venereal Disease unnecessarily. Tragically half of all V.D. cases are in the under 25 year old age group.

And V.D. sneaks into the school system to do its killing the slow and painful way. Symptoms disguise themselves and hide in the body for years before resurging to strike with a crippling and often mortal blow.

A few basic methods of prevention will help fight this devastating love pollution. Learn the plain facts about V.D. from doctors, hospital clinics, and public health offices. And your local pharmacist is a professional source for medically recognized products that aid in the prevention of V.D.
