FOUNDER'S DAY LUNCHEON — The Baltimore Club of the National Association of Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc. held its Founder's Day Luncheon on Sunday, June 13 at the Statler Hilton Hotel. Attending the gala affair were: (l. to r.) Mrs. Shirley W. Smith who presided; Mrs. Ersa H. Poston, President of the New York State Civil Service Commission and guest speaker. Mrs. Rosalie J. McGuire, recipient of the Sojourner Truth Award, Mrs. Hermia S. Rogers, recipient of Kurt Schmoke who was presented the Outstanding Youth Award; Mrs. Dorothy B. Sanders, winner of the Business Award; Mrs. Hattie N. Harrison, who received the Community Service Award, Mrs. Josephine Keene, a member of the club; Mrs. Edna DeC. Johnson, president of the Baltimore Club. (AFRO staff photo by Frank W. Phillips 3rd).

Business and Professional Awards Luncheon cites 4

There are . . . two principal forces which face each other across the deep chasm which divides our society today.

On one side the forces of the so-called 'straight society' . . . these seek to maintain traditional cultural values. These are accused as the protectors of the system.' Young people refer to them with disdain as the 'over 30 generation.'

Mrs Ersa H. Poston was speaking at the Baltimore Club of the National Association of Business and Professional Women's Club.

It was the Baltimore Club Founder's Day luncheon at the Statler Hilton Hotel on Sunday.

* * *

Speaking on "Bridging the Generation Gap," Mrs. Poston observed: "This is where it stands today . . . call it what you will . . . a generation gap . . . a communications gap or cultural gap. The division is there and it doesn't show any signs of getting narrower.

"Anyone who really believes that the recent lessening of student unrest, street demonstrations, ghetto riots and other confrontational crisis indicates a return to 'The Good Old Days is sadly deluding himself."

* * *

The tall and attractive speaker is an active civic and professional person and is the recipient of many awards.

She is president of the New York State Civil Service Commission and was appointed by Governor Rockefeller in February 1967.

A native of Paducah, Ky., she received her early education in that city. She is a graduate of Kentucky State College and received a Master of Social Work degree from the Atlanta University School of Social Work.

* * *

The Founder's Day affair was exquisite, despite the cloudy out-doors, the room was filled with the season of spring.

* * *

Friends, family and club members gathered to see four Baltimoreans cited for outstanding achievement.

Recipients of the awards were: Mrs. Rosalie J. McGuire, the Sojourner Truth Award; Mrs. Hattie N. Harrison, the Community Service Award; Mrs. Dorothy Sanders, the Business Award, and Kurt Schmoke, the Outstanding Youth Award.

Rep. Parren J. Mitchell, D-7th, extended greetings.

Other participants in the program were: Mrs. Charlotte P. Swan, the Rev. Vernon Dobson, pastor of Union Baptist Church; Mrs. Shirley W. Smith, Mrs. Roslyn C. Wood, Mrs. Lotte P. Swan, Mrs. Gwendolyn Brooks, Mrs. Edna DeCoursey Johnson.

Mrs. Miller named co-chairman of ABCD

Mrs. Stanley Miller, assistant professor in the University of Maryland School of Social Work, has been named co-chairman of the ABCD Project — an organized effort to find adoptive parents for black children in Maryland.

Named by the Maryland Conference of Social Welfare, Mrs. Miller succeeds Mrs. Lester S. Levy, who has been co-chairman of the Project since it was founded four years ago.

Serving as co-chairman with Mrs. Miller is Mrs. Guilbert A. Daley, the representative of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

The sorority and Conference of Social Welfare coordinate the state-wide effort to locate adoptive parents for some 1,000 black children.

* * *

Mrs. Miller received her B.A. in economics and statistics from the University of Pennsylvania in 1943, her M.S. in public health statistics from the University of Michigan in 1950 and her M.S.W. in community organization from the University of Maryland in 1965.

Prior to joining the faculty of the University of Maryland School of Social Work in 1957, Mrs. Miller was a field director for the VISTA Training Center in Baltimore.

She is a member of the Association of Certified Social Workers, National Association of Social Workers, Maryland Conference of Social Welfare, Alpha Lamda Delta Honor Society and the Mortar Board.

She also is on the board of directors of Echo House and the University of Pennsylvania Alumni Association.

Illustrious Women

MISS ENNISE PRENTISS BLACK

CITED—Mrs. Bertha C. Winston is pinned with corsage by Mrs. Bettye S. Graves at Friday evening testimonial in her honor. Mrs. Graves was chairman of the banquet committee.

Mrs. Bertha C. Winston honored at testimonial

"The good life seeks to provide for others what it seems as a right of its own . . . Bertha Coleman Winston obviously belives in a quality of life that frees every man and woman, boy and girl, to discover his or her best self. This has been her labor of love for many years . . ."

The warm words are the introduction to a program tribute distributed to over 400 guests who gathered at Blue Crest North Friday evening to honor the well-known churchwoman and civic leader.

* * *

Such words of praise for Mrs. Winston's leadership role in numerous church and civic organizations and support of young people was echoed by 23 persons who participated in the program by word and song.

"Keynote speaker was Mrs. Tiny Leak of Washington, Eastern director, Young People's Missionary Department, National Baptist Convention.

* * *

It was Mrs. Leak who observed Mrs. Winston has 'unselfishly utilized her many and varied talents for the betterment of others."

She pointed, particularly to her role as a Christian, wonderful lady, her work in development of the National Baptist Women's Auxiliary and her particular encouragement to black young people and adults, as well as her devotion to her late husband, the Rev. W. J. Winston, founder of Wayland Baptist Church.

* * *

There were more tributes. Speaker after speaker alluded the honoree's scholarship, leadership for 14 years as national director of the convention's Youth Department and in a similar post in the New England and later the Maryland Convention.

The testimonial was arranged by a group of Concerned Citizens of which Mrs. Bettye S. Graves who presided, was general chairman. Mrs. Estelle Dobson was co-chairman.

Invocation was by the Rev. Darneal Johnson, present pastor of Wayland. Miss Ellen G. Wilkerson, Zion Baptist, explained the occasion.

* * *

Unscheduled speaker (I invited myself here tonight), was former Wayland pastor, the Rev. W. W. Payne, now pastor of City Temple.

He drew sustained applause when he saluted Mrs. Winston and observed, 'I put myself on this program, because I feel nobody here knows and loves her as much as I do. (There were 'amens' from the audience and again, when he continued with:

"I remember when she was the choir director, and I was the organist. If I have had any success in the ministry, I owe it to her and her husband." There was sustained applause when he kissed her and presented her 'a rose for a lovely lady.'

* * *

Also, Everett Logan, president, Sunday School and Baptist Training Union of Md.; the Rev. Eddie Wilson, pastor of Leadenhall Baptist, who presented her plaque on behalf of Va. Seminary and College and noted she had married one of the school's "most illustrious sons."

And, Mrs. Ann Morgan, Church Women United, who told of Mrs. Winston's work in race relations and her commitment to join hands with the white women in Church Women to work together for God.

Also, Mrs. Doreatha Jordan, president Interdenominational Ministers Wives Alliance ('We have learned from following you'); Mrs. Helen Brackett, president, Baptist Ministers Wives of Baltimore ('We honor one whom we greatly esteem. Knowing you is to love you. God bless you for your deep concern for others').

* * *

Other speakers were Mrs. Violet Hill Whyte, lifelong friend; the Rev. Dr. J. L. Moore, Sharon Baptist; Clarence L. Gittings Jr., assistant superintendent Baltimore public schools; Mrs. Emery M. Bodde, who presented gifts to the honoree.

Mrs. Betty S. Ford, past president-director, Young People's Department of the convention, introduced the guest speaker.

There were musical tributes by Miss Elaine Taylor and Mrs. Rosalin Catlin Wood, soloists. Mrs. Mildred Williams, Sharon Baptist, provided pre-dinner music, and Mrs. Gloria Stokes led the musical tribute through the years.

The Rev. Spencer Dobson, St. Mark's Institutional Baptist, said the benediction.

Among Mrs. Winston's relatives present from out of town were nieces, Mrs. Evelyn Tiller, N.Y., Mrs. Elise White, N.Y. and Mrs. Mary Wenger, Washington.

Other members of the testimonial committee were: Mrs. Emery M. Boddie, chairman, special gifts; Miss Rosetta Davis, chairman, hostesses; the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Montague Brackett; Mrs. Lottie Brown, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Cooke, the Rev. Spencer Dobson, the Rev. Vernon Dobson, Mrs. Betty S. Ford, Mrs. Frances E. Gaines.

Also, Mrs. Anna Jordan, Everett Logan, Mrs. Gabrielle McNair, the Rev. James L. Moore, Mrs. Gloria Stokes, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Swinson, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Vaughan, Mrs. Ellen G. Wilkerson, Miss Mildred Williams.
