Griffin, Gibson expose move to make Keyes superintendent

School Board members Larry Gibson and James Griffin this morning (Friday) held a press conference to express disapproval of an attempt by Board President Robert Karwacki and Acting Superintendent Sterling Keyes to make Keyes a finalist for the permanent position.

Gibson referred to the "spirit of cooperation and trust" that had existed between board members prior to the meeting.

He pointed out that Mr. Keyes' acceptance as acting superintendent was contingent upon an agreement that he (Keyes) "would not be considered for and would not accept" the permanent superintendency.

"I was surprised and distressed that Mr. Karwacki admitted that his (Karwacki) word was as worthless as some of the treaties this country entered into with the Indians," Mr. Gibson stated.

During the press conference Mr. Gibson said that at the time of the Keyes agreement, another member of the board, Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy Moss, suggested that the agreement be put in writing but the board refused to do so.

Mr. Griffin expressed the belief that the move had been planned from the beginning.

He said he had suspected that Karwacki and Keyes never intended to keep their word.

He expressed dismay at the waste of taxpayers' money in the school board interviews which have been conducted so far and referred to the agreement that Keyes would not seek the permanent position as a "fraud" perpetrated on the community and the students.

The vote at the Thursday night meeting at which the Keyes matter came up resulted in a four-to-four tie with one board member absent.

Mr. Gibson feels that, "The matter is closed, period."

Vandrew Gross, 68, buried on Thursday

Funeral services were held 10 a.m. on Thursday, at Morton and Dyett Funeral Chapels for Vandrew Gross Jr.

Mr. Gross, 68, 3302 Clifton Ave., was a retired Penn Station worker. He died Sunday at Bon Secours Hospital after a two-year illness. He was a native of Charlottesville, Va. and a product of the public schools there.

He is survived by his wife of 26 years, Mrs. Lois Gross; two daughters, Mrs. Betty Maddox and Mrs. Muriel Hutchinson; four grandchildren, Barbara, Stevie, and Bobby Hutchinson and Gerald Maddox, all of Philadelphia.

Also two sisters, Mrs. James E. Flowers, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Clayton Washington, of Hampton, Va.; and a brother, James M. Gross, Baltimore.

Vandrew Gross Jr., a man whom relatives remember as one "noted for his sunny disposition," was buried in Mt. Calvary on Thursday.

Barbara Walden in person at Hutzlers Monday

Miss Barbara Walden, owner of the Barbara Walden Cosmetic Line, is at downtown Hutzlers and at Westview from June 28 through July 3, to demonstrate the products which bring out the natural undertones found in dark skin.

"Thus," she says, "enhancing the exciting beauty of the black woman."

Miss Walden has also gone into the lighter shades since the texture and coloring of her products has resulted in a demand by Latins, Orientals and Caucasians for the cosmetics.

What's Happening On the Eastside

By GEORGIANNA MOODY

Over a number of years now the residents living in the Lafayette Courts community have found it to be a hardship getting certain services after early evening hours.

After 5 p.m., the residents contend that they cannot even buy an aspirin without going to one of the hospitals several blocks away from their homes.

The Resident Council at Lafayette has decided to do something about what is considered a problem to the residents.

Members of the council have drawn up a plan which tops all former plans for a high-rise building complex.

The plan calls for converting the 1st floor of the 1101 Orleans St. high-rise building into, let's call it "a city within a city."

The city within a city will consist of a drugstore, a laundry room, a beauty and barber shop, a grocery store, all built into one complex to serve the Lafayette Community.

This small city will cost somewhere in the area of $98,000.00. While talking to Mrs. Shirley Wise, a member of the Resident Advisory Board of Lafayette Courts, today, I was told that the $98,000.00 is not the problem at this point to get the plan on the ground.

The problem at the moment is getting more residents involved. The needed involvement consists of getting the residents organized into the many committees working with this plan.

Mrs. Wise, who lives at 130 Aisquith St., and who is also the chairman of the Steering committee, needs residents to work with the laundry room committee, the drug store committee and many other committees connected with the building plan.

The Steering committee meets every Monday evening at 201 Aisquith Street at 7:30 p.m.

If you cannot make the meetings this Monday evening but want to become involved, please contact Mrs. Shirley Wise at 130 1K Aisquith or Mrs. Joyce Gray at 131 4A Aisquith, Mrs. Frances Reives at 1101 4A Orleans or Mr. George Milburn at 1100 E. Fayette. Please come out and show a concern.

Mrs. Wise is also interested in college students or college graduates of public housing getting in contact with one of the above names. There may be a paid position for a dynamic public housing resident. See you Monday evening at 7:30 p.m.?? Hope So.

The Enoch Pratt Library will provide an outdoor library every Wednesday starting July 7, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at 125 Colvin Street in the airway. Come and bring your friends; the books are begging for mental digestion.

The Lafayette Garden Club is in need of more members who will really take an active part in beautifying the community. Mrs. Dorothy Myers, 1135 Orleans is the president. Mrs. Eula Evans, 144 N. Central Avenue is secretary.

Anyone interested in working with the AFRO Clean Block campaign this summer please leave your name at your management office.

All public housing projects in the city will be taking part in the AFRO Clean Block Campaign.

Regardless of what project you live in please contact your management office and someone will come to your home and discuss the program with you.

Please show an interest in your home and your lawn.

MEET
MISS BARBARA WALDEN,
HERSELF A DARK BEAUTY INTRODUCING COSMETICS FOR THE BLACK WOMAN EXCLUSIVELY AT HUTZLER'S

WHY A SPECIAL MAKEUP FOR BLACK SKIN? Because no matter how light or how dark, there is an orange, or sometimes a blue undertone to black skin. That's why makeup created for the pink undertones of the Caucasian skin can never be right for the black. Also there are more oil glands in the black skin, which make water base or matte finish foundations unsuitable. Barbara Walden makeup preparations are made with natural oils and they're also transparent to let the warm skin tones glow through. She has designed makeup for skins from a toasty beige to ebony, cosmetics to cope with skin problems, and hair setting lotions that really work. Her Lip-Light and Lip-Dark shade the lips to match, for an even lipstick color.
And the eye makeup is so great!

Try these Barbara Walden cosmetics:

Foundation	$4.50
Face Powder	$4.50
Regular or pearlized Lipstick	$2.50
Lip-Light or Lip-Dark	$2.50
Cheek Rouge	$2.50
Free-and-Set Hair Set	$7.50

Toiletries—Downtown and Westview

MISS BARBARA WALDEN
will be

Illustrious Women

Miss Myra A. Harris, on Board of Directors, Towson State College.

Miss Myra A. Harris, daughter of Mrs. Elmira E. Harris and the late John A. Harris, was recently elected to the Board of Directors of Towson State College.

A native of Baltimore, Miss Harris graduated third in her class from Frederick Douglass High School, where she received the William H. Lemmel Memorial Scholarship and the Sigma Rho Sorority Award.

While in high school, she enjoyed playing tennis and basketball, and is currently fond of basketball and baseball, but only as a spectator," she says.

Miss Harris was the first non-white student to be enrolled at towson State and received her BS degree in elementary education, graduating in the top 15 per cent of her class.

She later took her Master of Arts degree in remedial reading and elementary education from Columbia University Teachers College, where she graduated in the upper 10 per cent of her class. She has also done post graduate work at Loyola College.

Her credentials in the field of education include teaching grades three, four and five in the Baltimore Public Schools, serving as supervising teacher for students from Goucher, Towson and Morgan College, and giving teaching demonstrations for students, newly selected and veteran teachers.

In 1968 she received the Outstanding Young Educator Award, presented by the Baltimore Jaycees. She was also senior teacher for two years at the Mt. Royal Elementary School, and is presently Assistant Principal of the Harlem Park Elementary School under Principal Lester C. Hudgins.

Miss Harris lists among her hobbies sewing and reading, and notes also that she enjoys meeting and working with people.

An active member of St. Pius V Roman Catholic Church, as well as a member of the parish council, she is a member and former president of the Happy Set social club, and takes part in various neighborhood organizations.

Miss Harris lives with her mother in the 700 block Dolphin St., and has two brothers living in Baltimore. Wilfrid is employed by the Johns Hopkins Hospital, and Carl Harris works for the Post Office.

When she can get away from many activities and duties here, though, Miss Harris loves to travel. The summer of 1969 she toured England, Holland, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, France and Italy.

Last summer she enjoyed seeing sights in the Orient; she went to Bangkok, Hong Kong, and Osaka, Kyoto and Tokyo, Japan.

Plans for more traveling are indefinite, she says, but she hopes to get away again in the near future.
