Hope increases for child born with a heart defect

If your child is born with a heart defect, he has a better chance today than ever before to overcome this handicap and to lead a normal adult life, says the American Heart Association.

Recent progress in diagnosis and in surgery now makes it possible to operate on many of the defects once thought to be hopeless, according to the booklet "If Your Child Has A Congenital Heart Defect."

It was prepared primarily for parents, but also is helpful to adult patients, physicians and nurses, says the Heart Association.

For more information on this booklet, ask the heart association for a free copy of "If Your Child Has A Congenital Heart Defect."

Do you have an extra piano you don't want?

The piano at the Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind has seen its last days. Famed trumpeter for the local Municipal Band, Arnett J. Brown Sr., who has paid for tuning the ancient 88-keys the last five years says it's done for.

If anyone has a piano he does not want, call Mrs. Hunter at the 1321 Eutaw Pl. home (LA. 3-6396). Mr. Brown states he will pay for moving if you cannot afford to do so.

Boy, 14, sentenced to do housework for his mother

A 14-year-old boy was sentenced by Juvenile Court Master John O'Grady to do housework for his mother to compensate for the $2.50 she paid back to a newsboy, her son had robbed at the point of a slingshot.

In court Wednesday, Master O'Grady told the mother the teenager should be required to do the scrubbing and take out the trash. The newsboy told the court the $2.50 was taken when his assailant pointed the slingshot at him, pulled it back and let a rock fly into his stomach.

BACK-SLAPPING was in order last week as Mayor D'Alesandro welcomes Dr. Roland N. Patterson the new Baltimore superintendent of schools here for a brief visit from his home in Seattle, Washington.

Eye trouble downs Ella

PARIS — Singer Ella Fitzgerald has entered a hospital here with eye trouble. She had to shorten her performance at the Nice International Jazz Festival earlier in the week because of it.

Norman Granz, her manager, canceled concerts in other parts of France as well as dates in Italy and Tunisia. He said Miss Fitzgerald would return to Los Angeles and rest for an October engagement in Las Vegas.

JULY 25

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, who has had a long and illustrious career as president of Atlanta's Morehouse College, appears on Book Beat Channels 67 and 28, today at 12:30 p.m., to discuss his recently published autobiography, Born To Rebel.

Eye tests are free for children

Free vision screening tests are being offered by the Maryland Society for Prevention of Blindness to 3 and 4 year olds, to discover preschool age children in need of eye examination.

The program is scheduled from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. as follows:

Flag—House Courts — Wednesday; Somerset Court — Friday; Lexington Terrace — Tuesday, July 27; Cherry Hill Homes — Wednesday, July 28.

The tests will be given in the auditorium of the first three public housing projects, and in the community building of the Cherry Hill Homes.

"Undiscovered, untreated eye defects and diseases can result in unnecessary permanent loss of sight in children as well as impose an unnecessary handicap to their educational, emotional and social development," a spokesman for the society stated.

"Of particular concern is 'lazy eye blindness,' known medically as amblyopia ex anopsia, a condition which must be diagnosed and treated in the early preschool years if visual loss is to be avoided."

SWIMMING in the Municipal Swim Meet last Saturday at Riverside Park was Mark Butler, who, the photo shows, is intent upon reaching his goal.

ON DRY LAND, Mark Butler, the swimmer, is shown with his coach, Teddy Murray, on shore at the Riverside Park pool during the Saturday Recreation Department Municipal Swimming Meet.

Jackson-Five did it all on Saturday at U. of Md.

By SUSAN WOOD

The Jackson 5 put it all together at Cole Field Houses College Park, Saturday night and once again came out on top.

The show was sponsored by the Black Student Union in cooperation with radio station WOL.

The show also featured the "Commodors" and Miss Yvonne Fair.

The "Commodors," a new group that just signed a contract with Motown, came out first to put the fans in a mellow mood.

Next came Miss Yvonne Fair, who started off slowly at first and she soon began to pick up once she got moving.

Before the Jackson 5 came on, one of the WOL spokesmen announced, "We have a good show lined up for you. You can scream and clap your hands."

Suddenly, there was screaming from every nook and cranny in the place. It was apparent that the Jackson 5 were about to begin.

They sang "Stand" and "Higher," which Tito really sounded out on the guitar.

They brought the house down on "I Want You Back," "ABC," "Mama's Pearl," and "The Love You Save."

Michael made the girls scream when he sang "Who's Loving You," "Never Can Say Goodbye," and "Maybe Tomorrow."

Jermaine added his special effects to the show and sang "Bridge Over Troubled Water," "I Found That Girl," and "She's Good."

Instead of just introducing a song, Michael or Jackie (Sigmund), would say something that would lead into a song. This is what the audience particularly enjoyed. This brought out their personalities.

For the 12 thousand people who went to the show, it was worth all the time and effort that went into it.

JULY 23-24

The dinner theater of Community College of Baltimore presents Jules Feiffer's play, "Feiffer's People," at the college. Ample free parking is available near the entrance to the cafeteria at 2901 Liberty Heights Avenue. For reservations call Nancy Marschner at 462-5300, extension 277, or the office of Dean Milton A. Dugger, 462-5800, extension 280.

1,000 to attend meeting for recreation facilities

July 26, at 7 p.m. more than 1,000 citizens of the Leakin Park-Gwynns Falls Park-Edmondson Village area will meet at Edmondson High School auditorium.

Subject of discussion is the final plan for the Edmondale and Lyndhurst Playgrounds, part of the planned development for Leakin and Gwynns Falls Parks.

Some months ago the city allotted $100,000 for play equipment and lights in the area which has no moving picture theatres nor bowling areas.

Over $500,000 additional money will be required to obtain needed recreation facilities.

A recent survey shows 47,000 persons including 22,000 children reside in the densely populated area.

* * *

Mrs. Anna Clinkscales, president of the Leakin-Gwynns Falls Park Improvement Association, states that 10 station wagons will be waiting at the Community Services Information Office, 3400 Edmondson Ave. at 6 p.m. July 28 to take all persons to the high school free. For information phone: 947-1015.

All citizens are asked to participate in the planning session. Mrs. Clinkscales' group has been running shuttle buses to enable all citizens to register to vote in the area's own independent effort to see that everyone is on the books on time.

Divorced after two weeks

Mrs. Decores Smith of the 3300 block of Cherryland Rd. was granted a divorce July 12 from Wade Smith, whose last reported address was Halifax, N.C. The decree was granted on grounds that the couple had voluntarily separated with the intention to end their wedded life.

The Smiths were married in religious ceremony Dec. 17, 1958 in Baltimore and were separated Jan. 3, 1969, two weeks after the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Smith testified that they never saw each other again after separation.

In waiving her right to alimony, Mrs. Smith told the court, "I don't want nothing from him."
