Kinlein contempt hearing Monday

Judge James MacGill has ordered a contempt citation hearing for Howard County state's attorney, Richard Kinlein, to be scheduled for Aug. 9 at 10 a.m. in Circuit Court in Ellicott City.

Mr. Kinlein is being charged for allegedly violating a March, 1970 court ruling which strictly forbade public pronouncements on the case of Rap Brown who has disappeared.

The state's attorney is accused of saying arson charges against H. Rap Brown, heard last year, were fabricated by Dorchester County states attorney William B. Yates.

Brown has not shown up for hearings since his trial for arson in Cambridge in 1967 was moved from Dorchester County to Howard County.

Judge MacGill, who has presided at hearings on the Brown case thus far, has disqualified himself on the Kinlein contempt charges.

A 33-year-old Ellicott City lawyer has been ordered to prosecute the case against Mr. Kinlein. A two-judge panel has been named to preside at the hearing.

Mr. Kinlein is reported to have said the arson charges against Brown were "deporable . . . and complete perversion of the system."

2 Jewish teachers lose vacation pay appeal

Two Jewish teachers in the Baltimore city public schools lost an appeal for pay for their religious holiday on Wednesday.

The Board of Estimates, voted, on motion of Hyman Comptroller Hyman Pressman, himself a Jew, that the city has no funds to pay for special Jewish holidays.

Teachers, Mrs. Marylyn Graham and Mrs. Janice Fink, filed a compalint with the city's Human Relations Commission charging racial discrimination.

David Glenn, executive director of the Commission agreed with the complainants the issue smacked of racial discrimination and appealed to the city fathers.

However, the Board of Estimates which includes Mr. Pressman, City Solicitor George L. Russell Jr., William D. Schaefer, D'Alesandro and F. them down based on the grounds that

The teachers had complained that Christian teachers are paid for their religious holidays but that the Jewish ones are docked if they stay away.

ADAMS — In memory of my beloved husband and our father, SIDNEY P. ADAMS SR., who passed away August 6, 1967:

God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb;

Has found sweet rest at last.
