Housing starts adjustments rates

Preliminary reports from the Department of Housing and Urban Development indicate that the seasonally adjusted annual rate for new one-to-four family home units started under HUD Fedral Housing Administration programs in June rose to their highest level in more than 11 years.

Dwelling units started on-a-count above the 20,000 level for the 12th time in 13 months to approach the 30,000 unit level. The annual rate was up more than 7 per cent over May to reach 284,000 units.

Judges visited 80 blocks on tour

By M. BERNADINE MYLES

Last Sunday, seven judges toured over 80 beautiful blocks in Metropolitan Baltimore before making their decisions in the AFRO Clean Block Contest.

The judges were: Mrs. Mildred Forshand, chairman of the Walbrook Council; Lou Votta, Department of Sanitation; Claude Patterson, Rat Eradication Bureau; Miss Paula Brooks, director assistant, and Miss Michelle McRae, AFRO-American representative.

The three blocks receiving the highest scores will be awarded large cash prizes, trophies and certificates. There will also be divisional winners in three categories: projects, suburbs and row houses.

Divisional top prize winners will receive smaller checks than the overall winning blocks. They will also receive a certificate.

All other blocks that worked with the AFRO Clean Block Office will receive checks and certificates.

Every AFRO Clean Block will be a winner, no matter how small.

All AFRO Clean Block Awards will be presented during the Awards Ceremony at Mondawmin Mall, Liberty Heights Ave. and Gwynns Falls Pkwy. Aug. 29 at 2 p.m.

Each block was distinctiyely different and had a story to tell.

Sunshine appeared to radiate from the sidewalks of 2100 W. Vine St. where Clean Blockers used bright yellow paint to decorate. Captains for the block were: Miss Joette Bart and Charles Sparrow. Mrs. Rachael Booker served as advisor of the young people.

The entire block of 800 Harlem Ave. turned out for Clean Block Judgment Day, as the block sparkled with old auto tires painted black and white, each with a flag, that appeared to be small boats placed before each home. Captains are Louis Johnson and Miss Dorothea

MEN ON THE MOVE

They have the only booking agency here

The A and D Booking-Promotional Agency was founded in 1970 by Roderick H. Armstrong and Ernest W. Donaldson Jr.

These two young men, who were previously in the Life Insurance business with the Prudential Insurance Company, started in the entertainment field by promoting dances.

Having unusual success with their promotions, but also being very cautious of the pitfalls and risks involved in promoting, they began to search for a new outlet.

It was at this point that they realized that there was not a full-time, licensed and bonded Black Booking Agency in the Baltimore, Washington, Virginia area.

Thus, in May of 1970 the A and D Booking-Promotions Agency was officially licensed and bonded and became a member of the American Federation of Musicians Union.

Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Donaldson were very pleased with the first year's business and are very optimistic that this year's business should double that of last year's.

The office is located at 28 East 25th St. between Charles and St. Paul Sts. directly across from the Department of Education.

The purpose of the agency is twofold.

First, to render services in securing talent for social organizations, night clubs, high schools, colleges, and universities.

Second, to act as an employment agency for the many musicians, musical groups, and singers by filing out requisitions with their services, thus keeping them gainfully employed.

Some of the more well-known groups that the agency handles are: Franky and The Spindells, The Soft Tones, Changor and Company, Phase IV plus Bernadette, The Young Senators, and The Whatnuts.

The agency also handles quite a bit of national entertainment such as: Gladys Knight and The Pips, Curtis Mayfield, The Delfonics, Chicago, etc.

MEN ON THE MOVE UPWARD are booking agency owners, Ernest Donaldson Jr. and Boberick Armstrong.

Man murdered as he answers knock on door

A 37-year-old man was shot to death Tuesday as he answered his door at about 12:30 a.m.

John D. Cook, of the 1200 block Harford Ave. was pronounced dead ae Johns Hopkins Hospital with a single bullet wound in the right side of his chst.

Witnesses reported hearing three shots, but police so far have only been able to recover two .25 caliber automatic shells.

Police say that although Cook had been sentenced to a four-year term for narcotics violations in 1969, drugs apparently had no connection with the murder.
