MRS. QUAY T. RICH was Miss Herlinda Aldridge before her recent marriage in Baltimore, Md.

Miss Aldridge, Quay Rich wed

Miss Herlinda Camilla Aldridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Aldridge, was married to Quay Theophilus Rich, son of Quay Rich, Saturday.

The ceremony, in Perkin Square Baptist Church, was performed by the Rev. M. Ogle, and a reception was held in Forest Manor.

Miss Geraldine Mickle was maid of honor for Miss Aldridge. Bridesmaids were Misses Martha Greene, Amelia Brown, Arnetta Eaton and Pearl Brown and Mona Rich. Kathy Aldridge and Saundra Eaton were flower girls. Marty and Stevie Brown were ring bearers.

Mr. Rich had as best man Ronald Rier. Ushers were Floyd Best, Jerome Lumpkins, Gerald Yorkshire, Richard King and James Eaton.

For their honeymoon trip the couple visited the Poconos Mountains.

MISS CLARITA CLARK and Eugene Lucas, center, married in Baltimore, recently, are shown with their attendants Leon Clark and Mrs. Margaret Beard.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson recently announced plans for a sixfold increase in the number of VA-operated drug addict treatment centers bringing to 32 the number in operation by October, 1971.

Soup as safe

Dr. Virgil O. Wodicka, director of the Food and Drug Administration Bureau of Foods, said Wednesday soup is no more susceptible to deadly botulism poisoning than any other canned food.

"It's completely coincidental," Wodicka said of the successive discoveries of botulism in two brands of soup — Bon Vivant and Campbell's. He said soup requires less sterilization time than many other canned foods.

Household of Ruth holds 27th bi-annual sessions

By JOHN S. SCOTT

BOSTON, Mass. — The 27th Bi-Annual Convention of the New England and Canadian District Grand Lodge and the District Grand Household of Ruth of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows met at the Statler-Hilton Hotel, recently.

Proceedings got under way, Monday with registration. The delegates, members and many friends of Order were welcomed at a gala reception and dance, Friday evening. The convention was officially called to order at 9:00 a.m. Saturday.

• • •

Among the many invited guests and speakers introduced by Mrs. Elizabeth Garvin, mistress of ceremonies at the luncheon, served in the main ballroom of the Statler, were Mrs Susy F. Jones, past worthy grand superior of the National Horsehold of Ruth; Mrs. Leonora Johnson, past district grand most noble governor of the Household of Ruth, who now resides in Denver; Mrs. Inez Tindsley and Mrs. Mainea Cass.

The Grand Lodge and Grand Household held business sessions in the afternoon.

Past District Grand Master A. C. Williams conducted the public installation of the newly elected officers at the opening of the evening program.

Those installed were:

District Grand Master O. N. Daniels, Maple Leaf Lodge, Montreal; Deputy District Grand Master George H. Tynes, Bay State Lodge, Boston; District Grand Secretary George Lord, Maple Leaf Lodge, Montreal; District Grand Treasurer Eric V. Grey, Bay Statle Lodge, Boston.

District Grand Councilor William S. DeCoursey, Conconchet Lodge, Newport, R.I.; District Grand Director John S. Scott, Bay State Hodge, Boston; District Grand Warden Roger Green, Bay State Lodge, Boston; and District Grand Craplain James McNair, Bay State Lodge, Boston.

• • •

The Household of Ruth officers installed by Miss Jones were:

• • •

John Venson was master of ceremonies of the next part of the evening's entertainment which included a fashion show. The festivities concluded with a "This Is Your Life" feature. The spotlight was on Mrs. Lugenia Austin, outgoing district grand most noble governor, who was showered with gifts, etc. Tears came to her eyes when she was surprised by the arrival of her family from Chicago.

Many of the conventioneers accepted the invitation of Peoples' Baptist Church by attending the morning services.

Snack foods not always junk foods

Playtime, bedtime, study-time, and anytime, children are going to eat between meals.

It takes the guidance of aware and interested mothers to see that youngsters get the very best food, even at snack time.

This is especially important during the growing years. These snacks can contribute to the day's total nutrient needs. Snack foods don't always have to be junk foods.

Raisins, peanuts, and other nuts are popular among children. These nutritious items are excellent when served during the day or evening. With the addition of a cereal you offer your family more important vitamins and minerals.

Here is a healthful out-of-hand snack recipe that is easy to make. Just measure and mix. It's a real treat when accompanied by a glass of milk or fruit juice.

• • •

Be aware and selective about your child's between-meal eating practices. Have on hand nutritious foods like this Out-of-Hand Snack bowl for his moments for munching.

Out-Of-Hand Snack is made with one cup crisp rice Post Pebbles — cocoa flavor of fruity flavor, one-fourth cup peanuts or other nuts and one-fourth cup raisins.

Combine cereal, peanuts and raisins in bowl; mix well. Serve as a snack. Makes 1½ cups.

Recipe may be doubled.
