

not to alter or amend the charter of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company;

Memorial of H. L. Carlton and other citizens of Maryland, praying the General Assembly not to alter or amend the charter of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company;

Memorial of Stephen Beard and one hundred and fifty-two other citizens of Anne Arundel county, praying the General Assembly not to alter or amend the charter of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company;

Memorial and proceedings of a county meeting of the citizens of Prince George's county, held in Upper Marlboro', January 19, 1867, against any interference with the charter of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company;

Memorial of Richard Wootton and thirty-three other citizens of Southern Maryland, praying the General Assembly not to alter or amend the charter of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company;

Memorial of Rev. Harvey Stanley, Dr. W. Seton Belt and sixty other citizens of Maryland, praying the General Assembly, that "governed by a sense of justice to the people of Southern Maryland, and a consideration for the deep interests which are involved," no modification or amendment may be made in the charter of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company;

Memorial of James M. Parker, Samuel C. Robey, Francis H. Kirby and others, asking that no amendment may be made in the charter of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company;

Memorial of Alfred Mace, John W. Randolph, Augustus M. Price, W. Thompson, Samuel Maccubbin and forty citizens of Baltimore city, praying the General Assembly to reject the memorial of the President and Directors of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, and all amendments to the charter of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company;

Memorial of J. Berry and twenty-five other citizens of Maryland, praying the General Assembly, that "governed by a sense of justice to Southern Maryland, and a consideration for the deep interests which are involved," no modification or amendment may be made in the the charter of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company;

Memorial of ninety, five citizens and mercantile firms of Washington city, D. C., praying the General Assembly not to modify, amend or repeal the charter of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company;

Memorial of Henry Addison, Mayor of Georgetown, and twenty-eight business firms of that city, praying the General