Herbert Beckenheimer cited for community concern

For his interest in the community and his support of their program, more than 500 guests joined the officials and board members of Project Survival in paying tribute to Herbert Beckenheimer, president of Brown's Supermarkets chain, Wednesday evening.

The testimonial dinner was in North Points Gardens and was attended by a cross-section of Baltimore citizens. Mr. Beckenheimer was recipient of a plaque from Project Survival inscribed "For outstanding community service," and presented by Senator Clarence Blount.

* * *

Project Survival, organized in 1967, was initiated by the people of East Baltimore to get into action against rat problems, poor sanitation and bad housing. The organization served 50,000 people living between North Avenue and Orleans Street, the Falls way and Patterson Park Avenue.

Currently Project Survival has three new programs: S.A.G.A., a security and action project, a day care and job training program for the elderly; St. James and St. John Child Care Center, sponsored jointly by St. James and St. John Church and Project Survival; and a Youth Development program which services 500 youths at four locations.

* * *

Mr. Beckenheimer is a member of the board of Project Survival, and has been an enthusiastic supporter of the projects. In May, 1968, Mr. Beckenheimer sponsored 25 children for Camp Farthest Out, a P.S. project. In September of the same year he was host to the cocktail and dinner meeting of the group. In May, 1961 he organized the Inner City Little League of eight teams.

By June, 1969, the number of youths sent to camp by Mr. Beckenheimer had increased to 50, and the Little League Teams had increased to 12. This year he sponsored an Inner City Basket Ball League composed of 12 teams. He also sent 100 children to the camp this summer.

Vernon Wolst presided at the testimonial. Mrs. Beatrice Reese substituted for the Rev. Marion Bascomb, who was scheduled to give the invocation. Rev. Mr. Bascomb arrived later.

Jim Parker and John Murdock awarded the Little League Basketball trophys. Other brief speeches were made by Mrs. Josephine Smith, Mrs. Jesse Webster, Lenwood M. Ivey.

The plaque was presented to Mr. Beckenheimer by State Senator Clarence Blount.

Following tre acceptance of the plaque by Mr. Beckenheimer, the entertainment period offered the Baltimore Partytime musicians and the Baltimore Actor's Theatre in "The Best of Broadway."

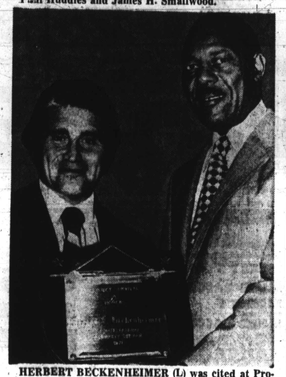
In addition to Mr. Wolst the testimonial committee included Mrs. Gordine Blount, Frank A. Gunther, Bernard Meizlisch, Michael Pastore, Mrs. Mary Robinson, Jack Solomon, Berkley Thompson, and Miss Ann White.

Officers of Project Survival are Mrs. Josephine Smith, president; Robert Sanders, vice president; Mrs. Bernice Waker, recording secretary; Miss Delphine Tolbert, assistant secretary; Mrs. Sarah Brown, financial secretary; Vernon Wolst, treasurer; Mrs. Beatrice Reid, chaplain; and George B. Tunstall, sergeant-at-arms.

AMONG GUESTS at Project Survival testimonial, Wednesday evening, were (L-R) Mrs. Mildred Ailor, Paul Huddles and James H. Smallwood.



HERBERT BECKENHEIMER (L) was cited at Project Survival testimonial in North Point Gardens, Wednesday evening. Above he receives plaque, token of "outstanding community service" from Senator Clarence Blount.
