Dunbar Coed Mysteriously Disappears From Home

MOST OF 2,000 BARS IGNORE THE LAW
(BACK PAGE)

Baltimore Afro-American

MORE ON FIRE BOARD AND HAIR QUESTION
(BACK, EDITORIAL)

80th Year, No. 10
Copyright 1971 by the AFRO-AMERICAN Co., for all material previously printed in the current National Edition.
BALTIMORE, MD., OCTOBER 23, 1971 44 PAGES LATE CITY EDITION 20 Cents

Texas Minister Makes Estimated $70,000 Cash In One Night Here

EXCLUSIVE

McCallum family donates $10.407 to Provident

The McCallum family, coordinated by Delano R. McCallum, presented, Oct. 9, the first check of their $10.-407.85 pledge to Provident Hospital lum Family Memorial on the hospi- which promises to inscribe a McCal- tal's memorial wall.

The McCallums are a tightly knit middle-income family which includes ten families all related either by blood or marriage. Seven families live in Baltimore and one each in Upper Marlboro, Md., Mt. Vernon, N.Y., and Detroit, Mich.

Attending the presentation were Mrs. Cynthia Graham, James W. Graham, Mrs. Dorothy Pollock, Rolyn McCallum, and Theodore McCallum, Mrs. Mary McCallum and Mrs. Mahalie Highsmith.

Mrs. Alice Guillaume and Serge Guillaume, from Mt. Vernon, N.Y., Mrs. Zetta R. McCullough, Mrs. Evelyn McCallum, and ptheodore McCallum also came to see Delano hand Charles Tildon, associate director for Development and Public Relations, the first check.

After the presentation, Tildon escorted the McCallum family on a tour of the hospital.

The bulk of the donation will be used to augment the hospital's Inteisive Coronary Care Unit and the Cardio-Pulmonary Laboratory.

Dr. Elijah B. Saunders, chairman of the Department of Cardiology, met with the McCallum clan during their annual July 4 cookout, which, said McCallum, took "months of contacting, planning and meeting" to arrange.

Within a month, Dr. Saunders was sent a letter announcing that the McCallum family had "unequivocally and unanimously" decided to make a donation.

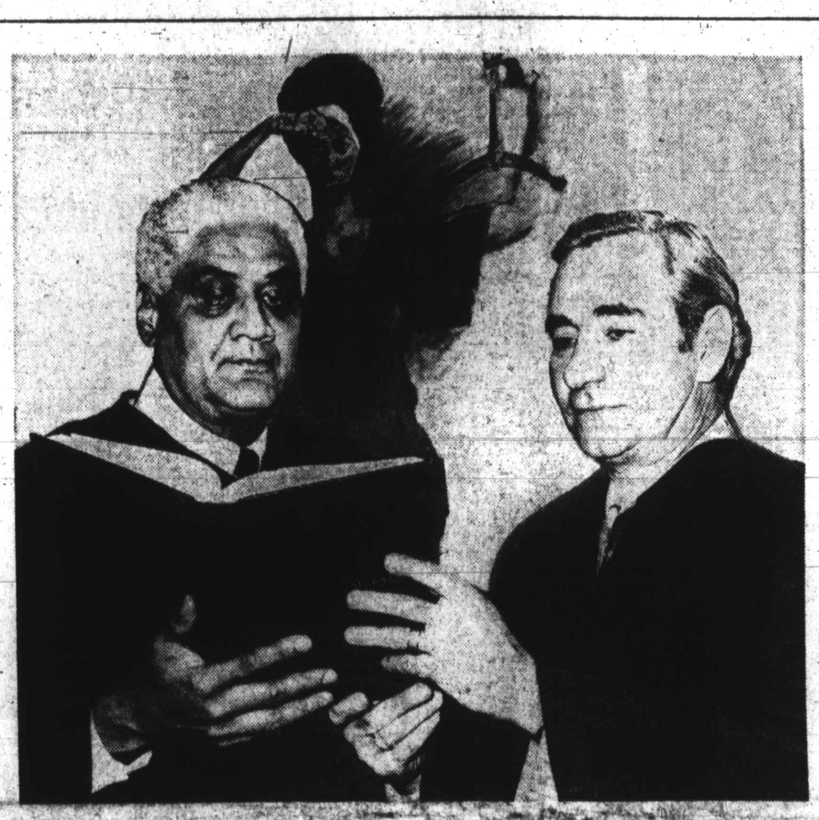
"If Provident is to be successful, the community must support its goal more than ever before," McCallum remarked. "With a physical plant second to none, the services should be the best in the area."

The idea for a major contribution, McCallum commented, arose after he heard in 1970 an appeal for building fund contributions by Provident's President of the Board of Trustees, George Russell Jr.

Then this February McCallum visited his sister, Alice Guillaume, a registered nurse active in medical affairs at Montefiore Hospital, Mt. Vernon, N.Y.

"Alice and I discussed our interest in making a meaningful contribution to Provident," McCallum recalled. "Our decision was to contact other

(Continued on Page B-1)



PONDERING A POINT OF LAW is newest associate judge of the Supreme Bench, Marshall A. Levin and Criminal Court Judge Joseph C. Howard. The distinguished jurists are appropriately pictured in Judge Howard's chambers, standing before a scales of justice painting, done by Morgan State College professor of art, Patrick Scott.

Judge Levin recalls 1953 NAACP victory with Justice Marshall

M. BERNADINE MYLES

Fond memories of earlier years when he and the now Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall were young NAACP lawyers, are part of the heritage, Marshall A. Levin, 21st associate judge of the Supreme Bench brings to his new post.

These memories highlighted the induction ceremonies for the 50-year-old jurst on Tuesday at the Court House, as he was sworn to succeed Judge James K. Cullen, who retired because of age more than a year ago.

According to Judge Levin, it was a proud moment when best wishes and greetings sent from Supreme Court Justice Marshall were read during the induction ceremony.

Judge Levin recalled in 1953, as young lawyers, he and Supreme Court Justice as co-counsel and won a legal battle for the Urban League and NAACP.

According to Judge Levin, this courtroom victory opened admisson to Polytechnic Institute for blacks, who had previously been denied admission because of the "separate but equal" doctrine of a city ordinance.

The ceremonies were also marked with more memories when Chief Judge Dulany Foster called to mind the aspirations of Judge Levin's father, the late Harry O. Levin.

The chief judge noted, Mr. Levin, who held many

(Continued on Page A-2)

Black Catholics may bolt

A gathering in Rochester, N.Y. today (Friday) and this weekend of the leaders and representatives of the nation's more than 1 million black Catholics may well become one of the most momentous in all in the near 2,000-year history of the Catholic Church.

The meeting may result in a decision of the black U.S. members to separate from the church.

Black Catholics claim they have no say at all in the affairs of the church in this country.

* * *

All decisions are made by the all-white bishops conference.. The only black bishop, Auxiliary Bishop Harold Perry of New Orleans, has no voting power because he is an auxiliary

(Continued on Page B-7)

Rap Brown arraigned in hospital

NEW YORK (UPI) — H. Rap Brown, who eluded an FBI search for nearly two years, was arraigned in a hospital room Wednesday on charges of attempted murder, robbery and illegal weapons possession and ordered held in $250,000 bail.

Brown was recovering at Roosevelt Hospital from two adominal bullet wounds received in a shootout with police last Saturday following the holdup of a West Side bar.

(Continued On Page A-3)

JANICE WALKER
"if she could, she would return home"

Family fears for girl, 16

Miss Janice Watkins, 16, a 10th grader at Dunbar High School has been reported missing from her home at 1528 N. Caroline St., by her brother, Jerry Watkins.

She has been absent from her home for six days, since she left the house Sunday at about 6 p.m. and her family is fearful of her safety.

The coed's mother is quoted as saying that if her daughter could get home on her own free will she would have been home, indicating that something unusual may have happened to stop her daughter from returning home.

The Dunbar High coed is 5 feet 10 inches tall, of slender build, has an extremely short bush, medium brown complexion, black eyes and black hair.

At the time of her disap-

(Continued On Page A-3)

14,000 put money in envelopes

After his two-hour sermon which bagged him an estimated $70,000 Monday evening at the Civic Center, the genuinness of Rev. Ewing of Cathedral of Compassion, Texas, is being questioned by some of the thousands of persons who heard him.

Many are asking the kind of questions the answers to which are not even available to the Maryland Attorney General.

To check his background, the Attorney General's office has sent a telegram to Texas to find out whether he has registered there as a religious organization, charitable organization or any other organization.

The Attorney General's office says it proposes to find out whether he is an ordained religious minister and if he is affiliated with any recognzed religious institution.

So far as Maryland records show, the "Rev. Ewing" has not registered here in any of the categories cited above.

An official of the State Registrar's Department

(Continued on Page B-1)

Federal check on evangelist

Delegate Troy Brailey said yesterday he has asked the U.S. Attorney to look into some of the letters written by Rev. Ewing of Cathedral Compassion, Texas, prior to his last Monday visit to Baltimore.

In his opinion there was little difference between those letters and the ones received from a self-styled prophet who was recently

(Continued on Page B-1)

State's NAACP meets this weekend in Waldorf

The 31st annual convention of the Maryland NAACP is scheduled for Oct. 22 and 23 in Walford, Md.

Over 400 delegates from Maryland's 22 branches along with national officials from Virginia, Delaware, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Washington, D.C., are meeting in the southern Maryland county.

The delegates are participating in a series of business and committee meetings, seminars, workshops and other activities.

Johnnie Stubbs of Annapolis, state president, formally opened the convention at a session at the Martha Washington Restaurant in Waldorf, Oct. 22.

Committee meetings and a cocktail party followed.

A youth-sponsored variety show and dance was also held the same evening.

Seminars and workshops were held at the Thomas Stone High School, Walford, Saturday morning.

Congressman Parren J. Mitchell will deliver the keynote address a the Freedom Banquet at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, at the Martha Washington Restaurant.

The final business and the election of 1972 State NAACP officers will be held at the Caravan Restaurant, White Plains, Md., at 8 p.m., Saturday.

Further information may be obtained by calling 301 645-5033 of 301-645-2658.

Dr. Ray's $200 gives Mrs. Santa a boost

Like we've been saying for the past three editions, it is the early bird who catches the worm.

The AFRO's Mrs. Santa feels that way too. She reports, this week that to date generous AFRO readers have contributed a total of $1,133.19 to her annual fund-raising drive, and there are still 62 days until Christmas!

Among contributors since Tuesday are Dr. Uthman Ray, prominent physician and civic worker who annually supports the AFRO's charity drive.

"His $200 has really cheered me up,' Mrs. Santa reported Thursday.

* * *

Mrs. Santa (in real life Marie Murphy Phillips Cooke), last year raised $10,231.80 enabling her to aid 1,000 deserving families.

Because she herself is ill at home with a throat ailment and can not come to her desk at the AFRO, she has a special phone at her bedside where she is soliciting gifts to her annual project. Her phone number is 383-1400.

Call her between the hours of 10 a.m. to noon and 4 to 6 p.m. daily and let her know you plan to give or you may send your contribution direct to her at

(Continued on Page A-2)

MRS. SANTA'S HELPER COLLECTS $200 CHECK

INSIDE

Your AFRO today is printed in 4 features and photos. Here is where sections. here are 44 pages of news, to find:-

- CLASSIFIED—Section ..... B
- CHURCH NEWS ..... B
- SPORTS—Section ..... D
- TV—Section ..... D
- ENTERTAINMENT—Section ..... D
- EDITORIALS—Section ..... D
- FOOD BARGAINS—Section C
- SOCIAL NEWS—Section C

You KNOW because you read the AFRO. Call Circulation, 728-8200 for prompt Home Delivery every Tuesday and Friday. Call 728-8200

To see how your favorite paper is prompt Home Delivery every ththhh put together, call FIRST for appointment.

70,228

Last week the AFRO went into 70,228 homes in Baltimore. Don't miss regular delivery every Tues. and Friday. Call 728-8200 for prompt Home Delivery..

YOU KNOW BECAUSE YOU READ THE AFRO

Announcement

DEATH NOTICES

AFRO readers, you may now call Death Notices in direct to the AFRO Classified Section. These notices will be accepted up until 10 a.m., two hours in advance of our publication. Tuesday and Friday.

Call 728-8200 Classified Department

AFRO-AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS