Lindsay kicked

NEW YORK (UPI)U — Mayor John V. Lindsay, the only candidate for the 1972 Democratic Presidential nomination to put himself out on a limb this week, out on a limb this week suffered a defeat when voters rejected a $2.5 billion transportation bond issue.

Lindsay, along with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, had campaigned hard for passage of the bond issue, saying it was necessary to maintain a 30 cent bus and subway fare in New York City.

Lively weekend activity in MSA

Maryland Scholastic Association football interest reaches its peak this weekend, with the area's two top-ranked high school teams clashing on one front and a heated rivalry being contested on another.

Although nothing can take the place of the annual Thanksgiving Day rivalry with City College, tonight's (Friday) battle at Bel Air has created an atmosphere of high excitement at Poly.

The Engineers, unbeaten and ranked No. 1 among school-boy aggregations, will journey to Hartford County to tangle with the second-ranked Bel Air High eleven, also undefeated on year.

* * *

Meanwhile, Edmondson continues the chase of elusive Poly meeting Northern at Northern. A victory would move Edmondson to within a half game of Poly's 5-0 mark, at 5-1, and keep hopes alive that something can happen to the Engineers against City later. Something usually does happen in the annual Poly-City clash.

* * *

Edmondson, which lost only to Poly, has beaten Douglass, Calvert Hall, Loyola and Dunbar. Northern which also lost to Poly (but by a larger score, 32-0 as opposed to 28-6) dished Carver defeat at a time when the Cubs were 3-0 and themselves were visualizing title. However, Northern dropped a 29-12 verdict to Calvert Hall, a team which Edmondson routed, 20-0.

Meanwhile, Douglass, with her high-powered attack, has again drawn bead on Forest Park, currently leading their division.

* * *

With Dan Ludd continuing as the dual leader in rushing and scoring, the Ducks meet Gilman today (Friday) and finish off next Friday at Carver.

Forest Park, at the same time this afternoon, will be engaging McDonogh at Kirk Field, and will return there next Friday to close out her season against Patterson.

* * *

Ludd, perhaps, has become the most exciting player in the MSA at the moment.

Aside from leading the loop with an average of 14.7 yards per carry, the Duck junior tops all his rivals in scoring on the strength of 12 touchdowns for 72 points.

His teammate, Rick Jackson, shows the way in punting with a 37.4 average, undoubtedly helped by the fact his mates have not been turning over the ball as often as those of his rivals. . LACY.

Cy Young Award money in bank for Jenkins

NEW YORK — Rolling up a 36-point margin over his nearest competitor, Ferguson Jenkins has won the Cy Young Award for the National League — an accomplishment that can be translated into money in the bank for the Chicago Cubs righthander.

The award is voted annually by the Baseball Writers Association to the man adjudged the best pitcher in his league.

Jenkins polled 97 points to 61 for the New York Mets' Tom Seaver, being left off only one of the 24 ballots filed. He was picked 17 times for first place votes to six first place votes for Seaver.

Three colored pitchers were third, fouth and fifth in the balloting. They were the Dodgers' Al Downing, the Pirates' Dock Ellis, and the Cardinals' Bob Gibson, himself a two-time winner of the award.

Jenkins, who has won 20 or more games in each of the last five seasons, has been openly disappointed by the lack of attention given him.

"I think maybe the publicity will start coming my way now," Jenkins said from his home in Chatham, Ont. "I said before that I rank just as high as those other pitchers like Juan Marichal and Gibson, but the promotional end of it hasn't come my way yet.

"I get maybe 15 or 20 speaking engagements a year but everyone looks for the one or two big commercials which could put me will over the $100,000 mark. I think the last three or four years in the big leagues I've proven that I'm here to stay and that it wasn't a fluke."

Edgewood congratulates 327th Army Band leader

Mr. Wells and his band have always been ready to do that little bit extra for the Army, Munitions Command, and Edgewood Arsenal. Well done."

These were some of the compliments paid Chief Warrant Officer Louis C. Wells Sr. on behalf of the 327th Army band's 28 enlisted members by Major General Erwin M. Graham Jr., commanding general of the Army Munitions Command at the Edgewood Arsenal.

During the review, members of the 327th Army Band occupied the place of honor at the reviewing stand while their fellow musicians from Aberdeen Proving Ground's 324th Army Band provided the musical accompaniment.

The citation lauded the Arsenal's 327th Army Band for outstanding achievement and performance while provding support to the Arsenal from July 1968 to October 1971.

The citation read: "Throughout this period, the 327th displayed remarkable professionalism and received awards and recognitions from military and civilian agencies throughout the Chesapeake Bay area.

"The only band authorized to carry the Chemical Corps crest and battle streamers, the 327th traveled throughout the Delaware-Maryland-New Jersey-Virginia and Pennsylvania area, enhancing the image of the Army wherever it went."

The professional pride, esprit de corps and enthusiasm of the band was reflected in many awards and citations, including a Four Star Rating in the 1970 National Parade of American Music Competition.

The 327th Army Band had its beginning in January, 1944 when it was organized and went into operation at the then Camp Lee (now Ft. Lee), Va. remaining there until it was transferred to Edgewood Arsenal in May, 1947.

Troop units participating in the review included the Arsenal's Women's Army Corps Detachment, Mission Support Company and Technical Escort Center.

Also, the Environmental Hygiene Agency, Personnel Data Support Center, Department of Bio-Sensor Research and 4th Battalion, 1st Artillery, all tenant activities of Aberdeen Proving Ground.
