Wendell Wright seeks Retirement Board seat

Wendell Wright, one of the three candidates — and the only black — for the vacant seat on the City Retirement Board, charged that he got the run-around, but very little information, about election procedures of the status of retirement system funds when he visited the office recently

Delegate Kenneth Webster (D-5th District) who accompanied Wright, expressed grave concern over the fact that election procedures were not available prior to the announcement of the election, which is scheduled for Dec. 6-10.

They were both also very disturbed about the fact that figures were not available to indicate the amount of money in the Retirement System for the fiscal year 1971.

It was learned that the figures for the fiscal year 1971 could not be made available because they had not been certified and that he and Mr. Wright had been refused this information by the City Comptroller, Hyman Pressman.

Delegate Webster also stated that it seemed 'mighty peculiar' to him that the figures for the fiscal year ending June 1970, approximately18 months ago, had not been certified by the City Comptroler's office.

Max Leslie, administrator of the Employees Retirement System, indicated to Mr. Wright and Del. Webster that this was one of the problems that he had been wrestling with since he took office recnly.

Wright stated that he found it dificult to provide information to prospective voters when the inormation was not forthcoming from the Retirement Office.

He took exception to the fact that the election is obviously designed to exclude participation by blacks and poor people.

Md. Christmas Seal chairmen named

Dr. Aaron H. Traum, president of the Maryland Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, announced the appointment of four honorary Christmas Seal chairmen who will serve Baltimore city, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll and Howard counties.

The foursome include Miss Janice Piccinini, a teacher at Rogers Forge Elementary School, Phalon C. Hyche, counselor, Community Action Agency, Mark Phillips, a student at Dumbarton Junior High School, and Mrs. Lillian B. Davis, a retired health education executive.

The chairmen will serve in various public relations capacities during the current campaign.

As spokesman for the group, Mr. Hyche said, "We are very pleased to be involved in the work of our local TB-RD Associations.

The incidence of respiratory diseases is continually rising, but with the liberal use of Christmas Seals, the associations will be able to fund education and research projects to fight these health hazards."

Specifically, Christmas Seal contributions support local TB-RD Association programs which help combat emphysema, tuberculosis, air pollution, cigarette smoking, and problems affecting the health and well-being of the citizens of metropolitan Baltimore.

Democrats to study city voting process

After a meeting of the Election Reform Committee of the Baltimore City Democratic Central Committee on Nov. 10, Chairman Henry G. Parks announced that the Committee resolved to study 10 proposals to improve the voting process in Baltimore City.

They are as follows:

1. Complete re-registration of Baltimore 2. Study on relocation of polling places convenient to voters; 3. Report of returns to one central location; 4. Simplification of process of reporting election returns; and 5. Elimination of wards in the City. Designation of precincts only by district.

The other proposals are: 6. Selection of better qualified judges of election; 7. Clarification of existing laws on financial reporting of campaign funds; 8. Purchase of new and up-to-date voting machines; 9. Elections held on Saturday or Sunday, and 10. More convenient and accessible voter registration; e.g. mobileunitsl, roving boards and evening hours.

To implement these proposals the committee is inviting both the state and city election officials along with the Deputy Attorney General to meet with them at their next meeting.

The Republican State Central Committee will also be invited to participate in the meeting along with the League of Women Voters and other civic organizations.

The final recommendations of the committee will be forwarded to the Board of Election Supervisors, City Council and State Legislature for appropriate action.

Hubert McCormick and Joseph Murphy were appointed to a subcommittee to study the feasibility of new voting machines. Joseph G. Robinson and Anthony De Angelo were appointed to the Public Relations Committee.

The public is urged to send suggestions concerning election problems to Democratic Party Headquarters, 514 St. Paul Street, Baltimore.
