are very expensive.

Dr. James Zachary, head of the Home-Dialysis Division, reveals the treatments per patient cost $140 each at the hospital. Patients receive two 8-hour treatments per week on the dialysis machines.

Although the hospital offers low-cost treatments to the patients, Mrs. Saunders, a kidney transplant recipient stated:

"I don't care how much money you have, you couldn't afford to pay for your own treatments. Most people run out of money when they personally pay for the treatments."

Kaminets reveals the hospital is presently operating with five dialysis machines, however it wants to replace one of its oldest machines with a newer model.

Hopefully, with more continued support from city residents who buy the raffle tickets, the group will be able to meet its goal.

local jurisdictions who would enlarge the basis for involvement in developing the national convention and its program."

To achieve black political unity the Caucus declared: "There should be a national Black convention in April for the purpose of: 1) identifying and ratifying the National Black Agenda or 1972 and beyond; and 2) crystallizing startegies for maximum practical unity" in the upcoming Democratic and Republican conventions. officials; community victims and pawns of the the national convention.

Before Christmas, the Caucus with local elected leaders, and the nationalist community "will develop a set of general guidelines addressing the process and framework for developing the national convention.

"For 300 years Black people have been the of general guidelines American political process. For 300 years Black people have been the victims of internal and external divisions fostered, in many cases, and manipulated in all cases by white parties, organizations and individuals," the Caucus remarked.

called for greater community participation in the activities of our schools. The need for such participation has been further echoed today. A 17-year-old youth lies critically injured in one of our hospitals. He is there because someone had access to a lethal weapon.

"The Mayor of our city has already called for legislation to control the availability of guns. In addition, I have made several appeals through newspapers and television for the same controls. Until some legal controls are implemented, parents and citizens must provide temporary control.

"I am asking parents and the general community to search their homes for dangerous weapons, especially guns. Place them under lock and key or turn them over to the proper authorities.

"If there are young people in your homes, advise them of the consequences of being in possession of weapons. Impress upon them that there are grave penalties to be imposed for such a major disregard for the safety of those around them. Talk to your neighbors, your friends and plead with them to do the same. The law enforcement agencies can not do the job without your assistance. Let's link arms and make this community safe for all of its residents."

Mrs. Mackall, who was a guard for 17 years, was later presented with a large silver bowl by the former head of the Schools Crossing Guard Program, retired Lieutenant James B. Mills.

During August 1970, Mrs. Mackall was declared "Policeman of the Month" by Richard G. Sullivan, director of the Criminal Justice Commission.

Mrs. Mackall has said she has no regrets concerning the accident and is interested in finding new ways in which she can help children.

She and her husband, Ray Edward Mackall, reside at 2406 Arunah Ave.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES and movements of his day, City Councilman Marshall is shown here with Civil Rights Leader James Farmer when he visited Baltimore. Henry Parks, president of Parks Sausage Co., and a close friend of Bob Marshall, is in the background.

CITY COUNCILMAN MARSHALL, always on the alert in line of civic duties, opposed the new toy, "Zonkers," and introduced a bill to ban them as dangerous.

Prince Hall Masonic rites will highlight the services at the church and graveside at Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the church from 7 to 8 p.m. Sunday. The body will be on view at the Marshall Jones Funeral Home, 4101 Edmondson Ave. from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday and at the church beginning at 4 p.m.

Reports of Dr. Charles Springate, the medical examiner performing the autopsy, show the cause of death as "still pending and awaiting further study" as of this morning (Friday) AFRO press time.

Dr. Springate reports show the time of death as 6:40 p.m. Nov. 24.

"He collapsed in his office. When they got him to Maryland General Hospital, he was dead." A relative was talking to the AFRO minutes after the death of City Councilman Robert C. Marshall (D.-4th) shortly before 6 p.m. Wednesday.

It is was the second sudden death in his family in recent years. A brother, James Addison, a post office supervisor, died suddenly several years ago.

The 40, year-old city leader and owner of the Northwestern Investigating Service, a chartered detective agency with offices at 1810 Pennsylvania Ave. was completing his term in the Council, as having been defeated in the Sept. 14, 1971, Primary. He was due to end his service on Dec. 6.

Councilman Marshall, a native of Baltimore, resided with his family in the 3200 block of Leighton Ave. He was married to the former Miss Alice Moore.

He was trained in the local schools and finished Carver High in 1950. After graduation he joined the then Baltimore Elite Baseball team.

After playing with the baseball club, the city Councilman served in the Marine Corps and served three years, including . . . months in Korea, where he was wounded in battle.

Before being honorably discharged, he was awarded the Purple Heart and three major battle stars. After leaving the service, Councilman Marshall joined the old Brooklyn Dodgers Baseball Club, playing in its farm system.

His baseball days at end, the well-known Baltimore leader worked briefly for the Western Electric Company, but left their employment to start his own business, a life long dream.

In May 1960, he formed the Northwestern Inc. operating from 576-78 Laurens St., buying the building at the present location, 1810 Pennsylvania Ave. three years later.

Councilman Marshall held the title of president and director of this company.

Starting with 10 men and one detective, his business has now grown to 160 men and five detectives.

The Councilman's short, but distinguished career included: service in the Baltimore City Council as a Reading Clerk from 1963 to 1968; vice-chairman of the Board of Directors of Operation CHAMP.

He was also a board member of Black Art Media and Trustee of the Board of Enon Baptist Church.

He was a member in good standing of the Prince Hall Masonic Lodge, Frontiers International, Baltimore Cossacks, Inc., Merritocrats, Inc., Y.M.C.A. and the Baltimore Urban League.

He was also a member of the NAACP, the Baltimore Association of Commerce, the Small Businessmen League, Magnificent Men Democratic Organization, Inc. a member of the Mayor's Task Force and the Boy Scouts of America.

To further himself in his business, Councilman Marshall studied at the Community College of Baltimore and the University of Maryland specializing in law enforcement and business administration.

In addition to his wife, the former Alice Moore, he is survived by three daughters, Tonya, 11, Pamela, 7, and Allison, 4.

He is also survived by three brothers, Howard, a Forest Park High counselor; Charles, a computer programer at Western Electric; Bernard, a Baltimore County businessman.

He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Susie Johnson, and Mrs. Anne Nichols, both of Baltimore.

best interest. Even after he lost in the last race for City Council, he told me that he was going to keep right on working to the best of his ability for jobs for the little people. This is really a personal tragedy for me. The community has lost a staunched ally and a man.

Dr. Emerson Julian — "I was quite shocked to learn of his passing. He had a personality second to none. He had a touch which made all of them around him live him. The community has suffered quite a loss in the passing of this young man."

Henry Parks, president of Parks Sausage Company, described the death of Councilman Marshall as a "great blow."

"He was my great great personal friend who replaced me at the City Council. He was a good councilman. He death is tragic."

Mrs. Juanita Mitchell, attorney and leading citizen: "Bob Marshall was one of the most outstanding city councilmen ouc city has ever known. He was never too busy to respond for a call for help from his constituents. Early or late, in stormy weather or in sunshine, he could be depended upon to meet human needs. "Baltimore will miss him."

State Senator Clarence Mitchell II: "I saw in Councilman Marshall the kind of responsive leadership that our city needs more of today. He related to the masses of the people. He understood their aspirations and needs and was never too busy to do everything in his power to get the corrections they sought. He worked tirelessly to improve our city, "His passing is a great loss."

Dr. Lile M. Jackson, president emeritus NAACP and Freedom House founder : "I am shocked. He was too young to die. He had many tlanets. Best of all he used them in service to the people. May God sustain and comfort his dear wife and children."

Senator Verda Welcome: "The death of Councilman Robert Marshall is a shock which cannot be easily thrown off."

"It is sad for the community to lose its young men. He was vivacious and interesting person who is his own way fought for his people.

"He was the kind of person who could have gone far. The people could not help but admire him for what he put into anything he was interested in."

Mrs. Enolia McMillian, president of the NAACP, felt his death is a loss to the community.

"He played a strategic role in a number of civic affairs. He was a unique citizen and his death is to be regretted."

Mrs. Catherine Mueller, president of the Democratic Ladies Guild: "The death of Councilman Robert Marshll has stunned both his friends and the community. There was no one as universally known and liked as Bob Marshall.

"He wore his city upon his heart and that great heart just gave out.

"The Democratic Ladies Guild with whom he worked for so many years in community endeavors is shocked beyond belief."

Larry Young, a 1970 AFRO Honor Roll recipient, now with the D.C. Isaac Walton League as an environmental intern: "Mr. Marshall was the king of the street, a part of the street people, one in a million. When my father died in 1967, he gave me a job in his investigating firm so that I could help support my mother and family. He took me to City Council sessions, this led to my interest is civic life and eventually led to my receiving the AFRO's highest award for Civic accomplishments. He proudly stood in the audience as I received this honor and he told me, "This is the first of many steps you will take." I am grieved beyond what any words can tell. I have lost my friend."

Corp. Bernard Smith, on Mr. Marshall's special police force three years: "I walked the floor. I cried like a baby. I loved him so. He was the most wonderful man I have ever known. He was kind and friendly to everyone. I was sitting in my living room, waiting to reach him to get my orders for work. I heard it on the radio, I cried 'Oh God, no. Don't let it be him."

Young West was reported as in serious condition at Lutheran Hospital and is confined to Room 102 on the first floor of the new building in intensive care.

Police state that witnesses reported the young assailant they are seeking as a suspect wore a trench coat. Homicide investigators report it is believed he is an Edmondson High student.

They state that young West went to Edmondson High in his own car and accompanied by several companions, parked to wait for a girl friend until the 2:40 p.m. time for final recess.

They transported his bleeding body to Lutheran hospital in his car, according to investigating officers.

Young West is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay West of Edmondson Village. His six sisters are Wanda, 11, Wendy, 7; Jacqueline, 6; Rhonda, 2, Yolanda, 4, Sandra, 10 and two brothers, Melvin, 15 and Ernest, 14.

Police report James Gregory, 100 block Denison St., has been ordered held without bail for Criminal Court action in the attempted criminal assault of a 14-year-old Southwestern High School girl Wednesday.

Police state that the teenaged girl said she was attacked by a teenaged boy in the school's ladies' rest room.

She is quoted by police as saying the youth fled when another female student came into the lavatory.

Young Gregory was bound over for Criminal Court action after a waiver hearing in Juvenile Court.

Also Wednesday public school incident was what police report as a fist beating five youths gave a Carver Vocational High School security guard in the cafeteria.

According to investigating police officers, Michael Murray, 28, the security guard, said he knew of no reason for the attack which took him by surprise.
