House of Ra-Akbar shows fashion ware

The House of Ra-Akbar, a designing and tayloring clothier for any personality, presented a fashion show last Sunday at the New Shiloh Baptist church, showing clothes from evening to loungewear.

Dressed in a three-piece polyester brown knit suit trimmed in deep brown suede, Miss Khadija Ra-Akbar, coordinator, narrated the show, with fashions designed exclusively for and by the House of Ra-Akbar.

"The House," the coordinator explained, "is something for black people, profit is not our only motive. With the fashions and clothes we make and design, we plan to establish a drug program which we already call the "Recycling Center, "this will become a part of the House."

Men's and women's clothes which can be made exclusively for a particular person at the House were modeled by Misses Tyi, Rose, Yolanda, Cheryl, Osha, Ishtar and Yvette Ra-Akbar; Rodney, Menelik and Akin Ra-akbar.

Th designers can make and sew with various materials and innovative ideas. For example, Osha modeled a white maxi dress with fringes made out of crepe and broad loom knit.

• • •

Miss Rose Ra-Akbar wore an African print midi with hot pants underneath. The blouse was a black bolero tied at the bodice with the midriff and breast-bone exposed. The chiffon black sleeves were tied at the wrist to give a slight puffed effect.

Miss Yolanda Ra-Akbar modeled a red and white pring "after five outfit. The overlay was a midi with bell-bottomed pants worn underneath. To accent the outfit which hall one shoulder exposed and the other hidden, a vest of white rope was worn. A most exquiste idea for a summer evening out on the town.

For the men, Rodney Ra-Akbar modeled a double knit singlebreasted suit with matching tie, accented with a brown shirt. The suit, a beige background, was an eye-catcher with deep brown swirls and patterns.

The highlight of the fashion show was a demonstration of how to wrap a gali and the wrapping of a sari.

The design and tailoring shop has only been established since Jan., 1970.

"Try this special recipe, mom, please!"

More Parks' Sausages, Mom!
PARKS famous flavor
VERY Hot 'n' Sagey FULL FLAVORED SAUSAGE

Famous Flavor Savory Stuffing
(FOR 10 TO 12 LB. BIRD)

8 cups bread crumbs (4 soft-white—4 corn bread)
1 lb. Parks Hot n' Sagey Sausage
1 cup Onion, chopped
1 cup Celery, chopped
½ cup Green Pepper, chopped
2 tbsp. Salt (about)
2 Eggs, well-beaten
Liquid from Giblets or Warm Water to moisten

METHOD—
1. Crumble sausage in large skillet and brown lightly, pouring off drippings as it collects, but leaving about 4 tablespoons.
2. Add vegetables and saute slowly until they are clear, but not brown.
3. Toss bread with salt—add eggs and mixture of sausage and vegetables.
4. Toss lightly—sprinkle with liquid and mix. You want the stuffing just moist enough to hold a loose ball when you form it with your hand.

For best results, use unsweetened corn bread, no crusts. If corn bread is not available, use soft white bread crumbs entirely.

NOTE: The same recipe, using Parks' Famous-Flavor Sausage, will provide a mild-seasoned dressing.

Anything you make in the slow, careful (and delicious) old-fashioned way is bound to be more expensive than a bland mass-produced product. And that's just why Parks' Famous-Flavor Sausage is a premium-priced sausage.

It's made from a generations-old secret country recipe, carefully prepared in modern kitchens from pure, lean pork and expensive savory spices.

Try some soon. You'll buy More Parks' Sausages, Mom.

Corduroy the 'in' thing for the man in your life

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Corduroy has been around forever, it seems, but now the fashion designers have rediscovered it and it has suddenly become a status fabric.

That's the way it got its start, of course, for it used to be worn only by kings.

The main look of fall and winter is a Levi-styled or other casual short jacket teamed up with fitted jeans. But there are classics, western, workman, military influences and country gentleman styling.

There are even a few suits you could wear to the office.

• • •

The western look is by far the most dominant and the jackets are often lined with shearling, with shoulder yokes and snap closings cowboy style.

The newest have quilted suede cloth shoulder yokes or gun and elbow patches.

Others use two colors of ribless corduroy, such as chamois and brown, to emphasize jacket detail and the matching split leg flared pants.

• • •

Designer John Paul Goebel focused on a masculine ranch look with a new approach.

The difference lies in the use of a new denim-blue corduroy in a short jacket with studs on the shoulder, on the waistband and cuffs and on large breast pockets.

The cords in the pockets run horizontally for contrast.

A new expression in the workman's look is a brakeman's suit in workman blue polyester and cotton corduroy. It has a boxy jacket and there are red pinwale pocket flaps and epaulets.

It closes down the front with snaps. The matching slacks are simply cut and have buckle waist closures.

• • •

Peter Haspel does a more refined workman's look in a denim-blue corduroy suit which is distinctive in its loose casual cut.

The jacket is [illegible] has big patch pockets and a deep [illegible] ing. It is won over jeancut trousers which repeat the white stitching.

There is a lot of military, including many variations of Air Force jackets, many CPO jackets and fatigue pants and army style pockets on the thighs.

A lot of olive drab jeans have military insignia appliques.

The military look also turns up in camouflage prints on a ribless corduroy in a suit that has four ample bellows pockets on the longish jacket which is double-zipped and snapped closed.

The matching slacks also have fatigue style thigh pockets.

• • •

The hunting look is very big and Franklin Rober designed a suit of Gunclub check midwale corduroy which he calls the Hunter.

He cuts the jacket like a riding coat and adds a glove leather collar, elbow patches and leather backing flap pockets.

Another is a walking suit of dark brown wide wale with an oversized quilted suede cloth gun patch and generous sized elbow patches. It has big curved button flap pockets and matching fast back jeans.

• • •

The layered look is very important for winter and Dimitri of Italy designs a handsome coat in a beige and brown houndstooth check corduroy which he closes at the side and on which he uses a belt over a third and jeans in a green and beige birdseye printed midwale.

Bill Blass designed a great coat in camel color deep pile corduroy, and updated classic in its simple double-breasted body, button flap pockets and deep back vent.

Designer Mannie Mandel showed a western suit with a contrasting quilted yoke of suede cloth, closed with metal studs and worn over jeans with wide belt loops.

• • •

Levi's, in a recent showing at the Corduroy Council of America, combined turf brown and chamois ribless corduroy in a western suit of contrasts:

The jacket has insets of turf brown against chamois and the chamois pants are brown from the knee down to emphasize the flare.

A new design is by Tom Fallon who used green and white birdseye printed midweight corduroy for a coat designed in a new vein of soft tailoring with envelope flap pockets and a shirred waistband.

Household Hints

Completely redecorating a room and you want to know: Should I buy my carpet first or my furniture first? The answer: neither. Shop for the carpet, furniture, draperies and wall covering at the same time.

Plan your color scheme on a 60-30-10 ratio and avoid buying until you're completely satisfied with the choices.

• • •

Most heavy duty holiday cleaning can be done right now. Work through the house room by room and leave the most-used room for last.

The Cleaninass Bureau suggests you follow this routine; Wash curtains, spreads, slip-covers. Shampoo upholstery and do a major, even-the-legs furniture washing and polishing. Clean rugs and wall areas, wash windows, mirrors and picture frame and glass.
