Split peas carry thrifty price tag

Though the holiday season may be past, food shoppers will still have cause to rejoice when January rolls around, because a varied and attractive list of plentifuls will be on hand, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

In feature place on the January plentiful foods list will be split peas, an old-time staple with a rich quota of nutrients and a thrifty price tag. Production in 1971 has been up 32 per cent from a year earlier and current grower prices are the lowest in some 30 years except for brief periods in the early 1940's and early 1950's.

Other plentifuls for the start of the new year include apples, fresh winter pears, potatoes and potato products and broiler-fryers.

This year's apple crop is nearly as large as last year's bumper harvest, with eastern orchards remarkably beautiful. Enjoy all the varieties available at your local food stores and use them in cooking, baking, fruit salads, and for eating out of hand.

An almost record large fresh winter pear crop — estimated at 5.6 million boxes — continues to bring abundant supplies. Add pears to fruitbowls and use them to highlight main dishes, appetizers and desserts, for consumer prices are expected to be favorable.

Potatoes also continue plentiful, the result of last fall's near record 25-billion pound crop. Both fresh potatoes and potato convenience foods such as frozen French fries and instant mashed will be readily available and prices are expected to remain low.

In a main dish food, broiler-fryers will be a good attraction. Production of the young chickens in January is expected to be greater than a year ago, and reasonable prices are in prospect, good news for the crackers, toast, or assorted breads. Makes six servings (one-and one-half cups per serving).

budget-wary homemaker after the heavy spending in December.

And turkey is still plentiful. Try this satisfying and economical main dish, Turkey Brunswick Stew.

You will need two cups turkey broth, one cup canned tomatoes or chopped fresh tomato, two and one-half cups fresh or canned whole kernel corn, two and one-half cups fresh or frozen lima beans, one medium onion, chopped, two cups coarsely chopped cooked turkey, one-fourth teaspoon ginger, and salt and pepper.

Combine all ingredients in a large saucepan: Heat to boiling. Reduce heat to simmering and cook until stew is quite thick, about one hour. Stir occasionally. Season to taste. Serve with Sunday school, captain of the church band and chairman of trustee board.

Mrs. Dot White good neighbor

By GEORGIANNA MOODY

Many of us have a tendency to overlook kindness and good deeds received from others until it's too late to give recognition. These kind people pass away or get tired of being overlooked.

Mrs. Dorothy White who lives with her family at 140 N. Central Avenue is a very kind, faithful soul willing and ready to help anyone in need.

She is an active leader in the East Baltimore Community. Some of her greatest community work has been in trying to keep the community clean from debris. For years, Mrs. White has worked with the AFRO Clean Block Campaign. She advises residents on how to seed lawns and plant flowers to keep them growing.

As an adult advisor at Lafayette Courts, she helps to plan and prepare luncheons and many other activities for the elderly.

During the Christmas season, Mrs. White faithfully gathered foods, packing and delivering food baskets to the needy.

Asked how she finds time to give volunteer service said, "It is one of the most beautiful compensations of life that no man can sincerely try to help another, without helping himself."

The Souxettes Social and Savings Club is practically a new club around the Lafayette and Flag House Courts, but very active and sympathetic to their needs along with the need of the community.

During the summer months the group of young women sponsors trips and many other activities for fun to help their financial needs.

Members are residents from the two housing projects who work and play together very well. The group culminated their yearly activities by providing Christmas baskets for needy families in the housing projects.

The recipients of these baskets wish to let the club know how much the baskets were appreciated and just how the Christmas season was enjoyed.

Happy Birthday wishes to: Mrs. Pearl Brown, of Pentwood Road; to Deborah Fountaine, 2536 Edgecombe Circle; to Alma Dortch, 1122 East Fayette;

Also to Harry Chappell, 1134 East Fayette; to Roslyn Distance, 130 East Fayette; and Myra Bond, 1323 East Fayette.

Mt. Royal PTA

The parent-teachers' association of Mount Royal Elementary School, McMechen and John Sts., will hold a panel discussion on "Discipline and the elementary school child," in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. on Thursday, January 20.

The public is invited. Ample parking is available on the school grounds.

Members of the discussion panel will include Doctor Annie M. Bestebreurtje (best-uh-BRUR-chee), a pediatrician who has helped raise thousands of Baltimore youngsters including six or her own; Mrs. Classie Hoyle, School No. 66 parent and professor of biology at Morgan State College;

Also, Mrs. Patricia Roberts, former elementary school teacher and, currently, teachers' representative and consultant on discipline for the Baltimore Teachers' Union; and Jack Williams, headmaster and formerly president, board of trustees, Boys' Latin School. Gerard Ancel, PTA president, will moderate.

Customhouse set to become shrine

U.S. Commissioner of Customs Myles J. Ambrose will be in Baltimore Tuesday, January 18, to dedicate the Customhouse at Gay and Water Sts as an Historic Customhouse.

The ceremony, to be held at 11 a.m. in the rotunda of the Customhouse, will be preceded by a musical interlude by the B and O Glee Club.

At 11:30 a.m., following the dedication, a tour of the Customhouse will be conducted.

The Baltimore Customhouse building was created by an act of Congress in 1786 and the building was erected in 1820 and was known as the Exchange Building.

In 1865 it was the resting place for Lincoln's bier, and thousands of Baltimoreans viewed it there.

In 1900 the Exchange Building was demolished and the present Customhouse begun.

It was only partly finished when the Baltimore fire of 1904 swept over the area, and much of the building had to be redone afterward.

IT'S WISE TO BUY PLENTIFUL FOODS!

Why?
Because Foods in plentiful supply are usually higher in quality and lower in price. Often lower-priced than the previous year.

That's great. If someone tells you which are the plentiful foods . . . what ones are priced lower than a year ago.

Now, as a service to our customers, periodically in our ads we will print the U.S.D.A. Plentiful Foods list. And when we feel an advertised item is an especially good buy because it is plentiful, we'll use the U.S.D.A. symbol (printed above) to highlight the product for you.

One more thing, when a plentiful food or any other item is priced lower than a year ago, we'll make a special effort to tell you about it.

Choose plentiful foods . . . for plenty of value.
