Champ Frazier, manager watching same fight?

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Joe Frazier and his manager saw his fourth-round technical knockout victory over game Terry Daniels a little differently from the way most other folks saw it.

The way it looked most observers at Rivergate Auditorium Saturday night champion Joe was overweight and dull but still had an easy time knocking Daniels down five times for his TKO win at 1:45 of the fourth round.

• • •

But Fraizer and manager Yancey "Yank" Durham both insist:

1. Frazier was "in good shape."

2. "It was a tough fight."

"Joe's goin' home to Philadelphia and rest," said Durham after the bout. "What do you mean, rest from what? He spent seven months training and this was a hard fight."

Daniels, one of the biggest underdogs in the history of heavyweight championship fights, never came close to beating the champion. But he proved his toughness and gameness by climbing off the canvas four times and tossing leather back at Frazier.

"He's got the punch and the heart," said Frazier later. "I think he could be the champion some day."

• • •

Danlesl' "heart" also impressed an observer named George Foreman, the 1968 Olympic heavyweight champion whom Frazier rates ahead of Muhammad Ali now as the No. 1 challenger for his title.

But Foreman wasn't impressed by Frazier.

"I think the layoff showed on Frazier," said Foreman. "He couldn't take those body punches too well. Everytime he got hit, you could see him waver."

College coach hints Thomas' problems may not be all his

CANYON, Texse—Neither Duane Thomas nor Gene (Mercury) Morris was problem before they became pros, says their college coach in a veiled hint that the fault for recent controversy involving them may be placed on the game instead of on them.

Thomas has been under fire for his refusal to socialize after being quoted as critical of the Dallas Cowboy management. And Morris spoke out for the first time against his minimal use by Miami Dolphin coach Don Shula.

Joe Kerbel, who was coach at West Texas State when Thomas and Morris were backfield teammates there, offers support for the two against their critics.

• • •

"There was never any indication of lack of cooperation on the part of Thomas with either our coaching staff or the press," Kerbel declares in an interview with United Press International.

"I know it must have been a matter of great concern for (Cowboy coach) Tom Landry this season. Duane can play better football when he's not worrying about something else."

"I personally hope that all the problems will be resolved sometime in the very near future," Kerbel says, "certainly before next football season.

"He had a great season this year but when he plays a whole season, he'll have even a better one."

• • •

Kerbel also said Morris, Thomas' former teammate, would have a better season when he is utilized more by the Dolphins.

"Mercury did well on returns—in fact on one he lacked only a step or two of maybe breaking it all the way," Kerbel, now the president of universal consumer systems, said.

"I think coach (Don) Shula will someday realize that some of those 10 and 15 yard gainers that Klick makes could be turned into 50 and 60 yarders by Eugene."

NAACP seeks equality in punishments

PHILADELPHIA — Punishment of both whites and blacks convicted of violent crimes should be equally severe, a local branch of the NAACP stated.

Such action was urged in a statement issued by Mrs. Juanita Green, president of the North Central Philadelphia Action Branch of the NAACP. The statement was approved by the branch's board of directors.

"We realize that violent crimes, muggings, rapes and gang violence must be stopped," the statement to newspapers said. "Our streets must be safe for all people."

Willie Davenport dream: becoming hometown mayor

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Lanky Reigning Olympic 110-meter hurdles titlist Willie Davenport returns here Feb. 5, to defend his Knights of Columbus 50-yard high hurdles crown in the 22nd running of the track classic.

Davenport, who has his eyes set on the summer Olympics in Munich, will be after his fifth victory here and his third win in as many years. He now works as a youth coordinator for the mayor of Baton Rouge, La.

• • •

"I would like to become the first black mayor of Baton Rouge," Davenport said. "I may run for office while I'm still competing. After my running days are over, I'd like to coach."

Davenport played cornerback and split end for Southern University and was drafted by the San Diego Chargers. He did not sign with the Chargers. He now represents the Southern Striders of Baton Rouge.

Joe is offered $200,000, choice of 3 opponents

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Boxing promoter Chris Dundee says he is offering a guarantee of $200,000 and a choice among three contenders for a challenge against heavyweight champion Joe Frazier.

Dundee declares he was moved to make the offer after Frazier's manager, Yancey "Yank" Durham commented on television following Joe's TKO of Terry Daniels that he could not find any opponents for the champ.

Dundee said the challenger could be former heavyweight champion Jimmy Ellis, Miami Beach heavyweight Jeff Merritt or veteran heavyweight Al Jones.

"I hope we can get this thing signed for March, either here at Miami Beach Convention Hall or over in the Orange Bowl," Dundee said.

• • •

His brother, Angelo Dundee, who has trained Ellis and managers Merritt and Jones, said, "I have three little words for Yank Durham—Jones, Merritt and Ellis. If he can't find anybody, here's his chance."

Angelo said he feels Jimmy Ellis is better now than when he lost to Frazier and would give Frazier a better fight than Daniels did Saturday.

Coppin coach Hardnett sees this 'year of Eagle'

The head basketball coach at Coppin State College believes his team has the spirit and ability to win the Potomac Inter-Collegiate Conference this year.

Coach Charles Hardnett and the Coppin Eagles have compiled a conference record of 4 wins and no defeats putting the Eagles in a two-way tie for first place with St. Mary's College.

On January 25, the two will meet at Coppin to determine the number one basketball team.

• • •

With two victories over top ranking D.C. Teachers College, Hardnett believes this could be Coppin's year.

In the first half of the season the Eagles played eight games in eleven days. "It was rough but necessary," stated Hardnett.

"Now I think the team has a genuine winning attitude and the necessary to keep on top.

"St. Mary's is a must game for the team and the advantages are all in our favor," Hardnett added. "We have the team spirit; it's a home game; and the school's momentum is that extra touch that will push us over the top."

Ali lauds Frazier foe, vows to 'whup' champ

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y.—Former heavyweight king Muhammad Ali engaged in a pair of 3-round exhibitions here Monday night after having previously celebrated his 30th birthday at a party in New York.

He spent most of the day, however, tossing barbs at Joe Frazier, the man who handed him the only defeat of his career.

• • •

Ali claimed he was listening in London last Saturday night as Frazier demolished Terry Daniels in four rounds in the champion's first official ring appearance since the fight.

Ali said he called his wife back in the States and had her raise the volume on the TV set and place the receiver of the phone right next to it.

"Pretty smart, huh?" asked the former Cassius Clay, admiring his own ingenuity. "I just wanted a quick knockout so the phone bill wouldn't be too high."

• • •

When the bout was mercifully halted after Daniels had been decked five times, Ali had nothing but praise for the challenger's gameness and nothing but derision for the champ's left-hooking performance.

"Whew, that kid musta been in some kind of shape, getting up four times. When Frazier hits you, you don't usually get up. Look what happened to Jimmy Ellis (stopped in five) and Buster Mathis (counted out in the 11th). They didn't get up. When he hit me, I knew what to do. I was gone."

• • •

As for Frazier: "That announcer was saying, 'Frazier misses with another left, and another.'" I counted him saying that 16 times. He was rusty, with something taken out of him from when he fought me. He wasn't too heavy even at 215 pounds, so he must have been a different fighter because he fought me.

"You don't have to be sharp to beat Frazier," confended Ali, "You just have to be in condition to take those punches."

Ali promised it would be different at the rematch, whenever that may be. He admitted that he "hadn't trained like I should've" for their encounter and added, "I go to bed thinking about Frazier. I wake up thinking about Frazier. Next time will be no contest. I'm gonna whup him. I've got to whup him."

Keino vs. Ryun Olympic rematch

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Kip Keino, champion miler from Kenya, has accepted an invitation to oppose world record holder Jim Ryun in the Sunkist Invitational indoor track meet Saturday night.

Their mile race will be a match of the 1500-meter race in the 1968 Mexico City Olympics in which Keino defeated Ryun.

Keino has raced twice on his current invasion of the United States, winning the mile at College Park, Md., in 3:59.4 and then running Saturday at Albuquerque where he won in 4:04.2, fastest mile ever recorded in that mile-high city.

Last year Keino ran a 3:54.24 mile, fastest in the world during 1971. Ryun holds the world record of 3:51.1.

Discoloration in a glass or glass-ceramic coffeemaker can most easily be removed by heating a liquid chlorine bleach solution (1 part bleach to eight parts water) in the coffeemaker and letting it stand overnight. Wash as usual in detergent. Caution: don't add anything else to the chlorine solution.

Two Guest horses first Preakness entries

The Badger and Ladiga, both owned by Raymond R. Guest's Powhatan Plantation, were the first two nominations for the 97th running of the $150,000-added Preakness Stakes at Pimlico Race Course May 20. Racing Secretary Lawrence J. Abbundi has announced.

The Badger won his only start when he scored in an allowance race at Laurel December 16. Ladiga, a bay colt and offspring of Graustark-Celia, is unraced. The Badger, a gray gelding, is by Tudor Way, out of the mare, Cortesia.

Thorobred star tops NCAA list

NEW YORK — Travis Grant, a 6-9 senior from Kentucky State, and Dana Wilson of Husson are in a close battle for the individual scoring lead among college division basketball players.

Statistics released last weekend by the National Collegiate Sports Services show that Grant has scored 276 points and Wilson 258. Both in seven games. Grant's average is 39.4 points per game while Wilson's is 36.9.

Don Manly of Otterbein leads in field goal percentage with 57-for-77 and a .740 percentage and Steven Gaspar of Boston State is the No. 1 free-throw shooter with 46 of 54 for .902.

Louisiana Tech leads in scoring with a 107.8 average followed by the CIAA's Norfolk State (Va.) with 106.4.

Bullets end road trip with TV tilt, return home for 2 weekend battles

Following stops in Portland, Oakland, Seattle, and Phoenix, the Baltimore Bullets terminate a five-game road swing with a televised contest against the Detoit in Detroit tonight (Friday).

The game, which will be carried over WDCA-TV, Channel 20, marks the second meeting between the Pistons in Detroit tonight January.

Detroit, led by All-Pro guard Dave Bing and '72 All-Stars guard Jimmy Walker and center Bob Lanier, was routed by the Baltimore club, 111-89, on January 5 at the Civic Center.

After Friday's engagement with the Pistons, the Bullets return to College Park on Saturday to meet the Portland Trail Blazers in an 8:15 p.m. battle.

Winning 114-106, the Trail Blazers snapped a six-game Bullets' winning streak, on January 11 in Portland.

A 25-point effort by last year's NBA "co-rookie of the year" Geoff Petrie, and a 22-point performance by Sidney Wicks, the Trail Blazers' only representative to the All-Star game in Los Angeles, helped stop the Bullets.

On Sunday, the Bullets will return to the Civic Center for a 7:15 p.m. tip-off with the Cincinnati Royals.

The Royals, whose attack is paced by All-Star forward Tom Van Arsdale and little Nate Archibald, trail the Bullets in the season's play thus far.

Holding a 2-1 advantage over the Royals, Baltimore, with All-Stars Wes Unseld, Jack Marin, and Archie Clark showing the way, will be hosting the first of two 7:15 p.m. Sunday night basketball games at the Civic Center this season.

New Horizon to salute 10 with "Unsung Hero" award

The New Horizon Community Coalition in coordination with the Provident Community Mental Health Center Advisory Board, Inc. is making plans to salute ten dedicated community people with the "Unsung Hero Community Award."

Those selected will be honored on Sunday, March 25 at the Howard Room of the Baltimore Civic Center. The day's schedule will include a performance of "Three Poets, a Song, and a Dance" which will be produced and directed by Shahid Bey, a well-known Baltimorean noted for his work in the Black Arts field and for the public relations job done for the play "No Place to be Somebody."

Mr. Bey's productions have been performed at the Johns Hopkins University, Coppin State College, Peabody Conservatory and many theaters of art throughout the state.

A famous black entertainer is also expected to appear.

A buffet dinner will be served, contributions of $10 will go towards the renovation of the Majestic Hotel which will be utilized as the new Provident Community Mental Health Center.

Persons interested in making nominations for deserving community heroes should contact Mrs. Roberta A. Gaines, chairman at 523-0104 or 523-5226.

Morgan 'M' Club sets Saturday meeting

The first meeting of the year for the Morgan State College Varsity M Club will be held tomorrow (Saturday) at the Mondawmin meeting room in Mondawmin Mall.

According to Bertram Harrington, Varsity M Club president, the meeting will convene at 8 p.m. He is urging that all members, former Morgan athletes and interested Morgan alumni who are concerned about the development of the Northeast Baltimore Institution's athletic program and its athletes, be present for this year's initial meeting.

Harrington revealed that number of projects being explored by the club will be discussed.

Morgan swimmers rout Delaware in 3rd MEAC win

Morgan State College's swimmers splashed to an 83-24 victory over Delaware State College in the Morgan pool.

Paced by double winners Paul Sweet and Leroy Cox, James Mack's Bear tankmen scored their third Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference triumph of the season against one setback.

Sweet, a sophomore from Baltimore, swept to first-place finishes in the 200 and 500-yard freestyle events. He captured the 200 in 2:20 and the 500 in 6:42.5.

Cox, the frosh sprinter also from Baltimore, took the 50 and 100-yard freestyle races. He zipped off a :25.5 in the 50-yard sprint, and came back with a :58.3 in the 100-yard event.

Mack's swimmers next meet will be on February 5, following mid-year exams, when they travel to Orangeburg for a re-match with South Carolina State.

Neighborhood group plans Metro tours

The Committee for Communications with the Black Community of the Baltimore Neighborhoods, Inc., has initiated a program designed to encourage greater understanding about housing in the Baltimore-Metro area.

Called "Project Outreach," the program involves a number of affirmative action activities aimed at educating a large segment of the community about living together in a more comfortable and secured environment.

Metro Community Tours are part of the initial moves being planned. The tours will begin April 8, and will acquaint people with housing opportunities in Catonsville, Westview, Towson, Timonium, Lutherville, Hunting Ridge, Loch Raven

Fair Housing Councils, the Social Security Administration's housing service and other organizations are being urged to support the project.

To promote the project, the committee has arranged a meeting for Tuesday, Jan. 25, at 2 p.m. at Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, Madison Avenue at Bloom St.
