10,000 attend services for slain NewYork police

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two young policemen who fought together in Vietnam and were shot down together on a street in New York were buried early this week. Ten thousand fellow officers, their shields partly hidden by black bands, paid last respects.

The policemen, some from as far away as Boston and Washington, lined Fifth Avenue and crowded into St. Patrick's Cathedral in Manhattan for the funeral of Patrolman Gregory Foster, 22.

Three hours later, their sirens wailing as they drove through the Brooklyn-Battery tunnel, the policemen went to the funeral of Patrolman Rocco Laurie, 23, at the Church the Blessed Sacrament on Staten Island.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy and Marine Corps. Maj. John V. Brennan, representing President Nixon, were among the dignitaries attending the funerals.

Foster, who was black, and Laurie, who was white, were shot last week outside a lower East Side restaurant by persons believed to be members of the Black Liberation Army, which police describe as a loosely knit organization devoted to urban guerrilla warfare.

The two policemen, Marine Corps buddies in Vietnam, both joined the force in 1970 and were members of a neighborhood police team—designed to improve relations between police and the neighborhood and to enable patrolmen to become better acquainted with the neighborhood.

At St. Patrick's Foster's widow Jacqueline, 19, slumped to the floor when she took communion and had to be helped back to her pew.

During the mass, as she sat near the flag-draped coffin, a nurse administered smelling salts and Mrs. Foster had to be carried from the church after the 90-minute ceremony.

Msgr. Joseph A. Dunne, the Roman Catholic chaplain of the Police Department, said in his eulogy, "The shock waves of this latest tragedy, taking the life of a black and a white police officer, have reached across the country. . .

"Gregory Foster and Rocco Laurie evidently loved New York and its people. . . working with the people who needed them most, in the ghetto, the East Village, and to work together, black and white, in the neighborhood police team.

"Policemen may die and widows will weep for their fatherless childrenand the city decays, unless and until God's laws are seen as the basis of civil laws, and the officer enforcing the law regains the dignity and respect which his authority deserves."

Foster was buried at a military ceremony in the National Cemetery at Farmingdale, N.Y.

At Laurie's funeral on Staten Island, a few scattered boos and some shouts of, "Go home Lindsay," greeted the mayor when he arrived.

Lindsay remained impassive. He had said at St. Patrick's, "This is the 10th service of this kind I've been to in a year. Two more policemen gunned down. There's nothing I can say except to express our horror and offer sympathy to the widows."

The Rev. Alvaro Argüel said in his eulogy, "There should be no bitterness in our souls. Through his death Rocco has reached the glory of Christ."

The widow, Mrs. Adelaide Laurie, 20, looked during the service at the flag-draped coffin which had Laurie's police cap on top, sometimes she wept, sometimes she brought her hand to her forehead, sometimes she sat upright.

"My poor Rocco," she said. "Why did they do the terrible thing to him?"

ARETHA FRANKLIN, left, sings at Mahalia Jackson's funeral Tuesday. Her stirring rendition of "Take My Hand, Precious Lord," caused many to be overcome with emotion, (UPI Telephoto).

Jennings among 138 new CPAs

Some 138 candidates passed the Nov. 1971 examination for certificates of certified public accountants, it was announced today (Friday), by the Md. State Board of Public Accountancy.

Two black persons were among the successful candidates. Robert W. White of Silver Spring, and Linwood Jennings of Baltimore.

2 officers slain

Laurie joined the force July 1, 1970. The neighborhood team to which they were assigned is part of a special program designed to give policemen a chance to get to know the people on their beat. They patrol the same area daily.

"These guys were well-liked by everybody," said Sgt. Fred Reddy who was in charge of the team. "They got along very well with everyone in the neighborhood."

Police said dozens of off-duty officers went to the stationhouse, volunteering to help in the investigation.

"There's a good deal that we can't talk about," Deputy Police Commissioner Robert Daley said.

But he told reporters police had received "good cooperation from neighborhood residents."

Police artists made composite portraits of the suspects based on descriptions supplied by witnesses.

In Miami, where he is campaigning, Mayor John V. Lindsay said the "profound sorrow that I feel is shared by all New Yorkers. And for all of us I extend my deepest sympathy and prayers to the wives and families of these valiant officers."

Catonsville set for Spring term

More than 4,000 students are expected to enroll in classes offered by Harford Community College during its coming spring semester.

According to Ralph Jordan, director of Admissions and Registrations at Harford Community College, projections are calling for some 1800 full-and part-time students to enroll in credit courses and 2,250 register for non-credit classes.

Late registration for credit courses will be conducted on Monday, January 31, and Tuesday, February 1, from 7:00-9:00 p.m. in the College's Gymnasium. Late registration is subject to a $5 fee, Mr. Jordan said.

All credit classes will begin the week of January 31. Most 12-and 15-week non-credit courses are scheduled to start the week of February 7 with registration usually taking place during the meeting of the first class.

Brochures listing the credit and non-credit offerings of Harford Community College for the spring semester are available.

These and further information regarding registration dates and procedures may be obtained by phoning the College at 734-7171 (local) or 879-8920 (Baltimore area).

REGULATION 38

Proposed regulation would bar Appalachia, Indians, blacks

More than 300 members turned out Tuesday night — the overwhelming majority of them in favor of the controversial Regulation 28 — at the State Office Building.

The regulation, under consideration by the Real Estate Commission of the State of Maryland, was requested for implementation last June by the Northeast Community Organization (NECO), and is vehemently opposed by small black realtors and the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers.

"We want Regulation 28 because we are getting a large influx from Appalachia, Lumbee Indians and black families," said Mrs. Delores Atkins, white, representing the Southeast Baltimore Housing Council.

* * *

The legal counsel for the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers William H. Murphy Jr., speaking to the commission urged.

"The proposed regulation is vague. The black workers have not been involved in the practices which the whites have been accused of. Regulation 28 does not run the risk of its intended to correct. It punishes both wrongful conduct and legally sound conduct. It doesn't sufficiently warn or give notice to misconduct."

The attorney said the regulation was "overbroad" and requested the commission to "set forth specific acts for regulation" by the body.

He said the regulation would put under white control the flow of blacks into neighborhoods. Black folk are tired of being regulated out of existence.

The regulation reads in part: "No licensee shall solicit the purchase, sale or lease of residential property by any means, including, but without limitation, door to door solicitation in person or by telephone, or distribution of circulars, or advertisements; in any area where the Commission shall determine that the said solicitation could damaging to the public or to the dignity and integrity of the real estate profession or Code of Ethics."

Among the first to speak was Daniel Spaulding of the Real Estate Brokers of Baltimore, who said, "I am opposed to Regulation 28. We have enough laws on the books if properly executed, would take care of Regulation 28."

Mr. Spaulding noted that realtors in Maryland do not have to be licensed. He asked that all those persons who deal in real property in the state be required to hold a license."

He argued that implementation would work to the detriment of "the small, black realtor" who in no way is guilty of the practices which the regulation alleges to protect blacks and whites against."

Spaulding requested a permanent injunction be placed against the commission on the issuing of a proposal as Regulation 28.

* * *

Donald Abrams, an associate broker with S. Lee Martin Realtor Co.'s and president of Baltimore Realtists, Inc. testified, "I urge the Real Estate Commission to strike out Regulation 28 because it discriminates against the whole Real Estate industry.

"The rule would violate the 14th amendment. The black real estate broker will be disadvantaged by economic means. It would defraud the black real estate salesmen from making a living and it would present a black man from negotiating with a black real estate broker.

* * *

He continued, "It is one of the worst forms of discrimination in the United States. It does not save the neighborhood. And, it would isolate a black man from buying a house in a chosen area."

Asking rhetorically he said, "Are we to be governed by a group of people who state to the Real Estate Commission that they do not want anymore blacks in their area? Or, are we entitled to make a living as well as the white broker?"

He noted, "The law should apply to insurance people or any type of salesmanship. This proposal is definitely made to keep blacks out of an area and the black broker would be at disadvantaged.

"The rule does not affect the larger white businesses who do not have to advertise as much. Any group of whites can say we have enough blacks, we don't want any more. It would be left to the neighborhood to decide how many blacks may live in the area. We now have on the books various laws against all areas mentioned tonight."

He concluded, "Regulation 28 is a violation of every law conceivable on the books. I urge everyone to vote against it."

* * *

NECO requested the implementation of Regulation 28, to deter efforts at mass solicitation and "scare methods."

The organization brought a large representation to Tuesday meeting and repeatedly expressed the need "for people concerned and not the concerns of the real estate industry."

However, Section 230A and 230B of the Maryland Real Estate Code entitled "Blockbusting" many say, if properly executed would neutralize the need for Regulation 28.

Section 230 A and B say:

"It is unlawful for any person, firm or corporation or association, whether or not acting for monetary gain, knowingly to induce or attempt to induce another person to transfer an interest in real property, or to discourage another person from purchasing real property, by representations regarding the existing or potential proximity of real property owned, used, or occupied by persons of any particular race, color, religion or national origin . .

". . . Or to represent that such existing or potential proximity will result or may result in: 1. The lowering of property values; 2. A change in the racial, religious, or ethnic character of the block neighborhood or area in which the property is located; 3. An increase in criminal or antisocial behavior in the area or 4. A decline in quality of the schools serving the area.

(b). A violation of this section is a misdemeanor, punishable upon conviction by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) or imprisonment for one year, or both; and a conviction of any real estate broker or real estate salesman for a violation of this section shall be referred to the Maryland Real Estate Commission for action."

The next meeting of the board is scheduled for Feb. 16, when the commission is expected to render a decision on the NECO request

Senators change vote, oppose Mandel bill

Governor Marvin Mandell's controversial gun control bill survived a committee vote last night in Annapolis but lost the support of black leaders in the Senate.

The Governor's aides had predicted a ten to three vote in the Judicial Proceedings Committee after the Governor had thrown a special press conference last week to announce the support of Senator Clarence Mitchell, III.

At the last moment, Senator Mitchell said he must change his mind and vote against the measure because of conversations and concerns from a cross section of the people in his community and judges in Baltimore.

"The other black senator on the committee, Clarence Blount of the 5th District, had also told reporters he would vote for the bill, but when it came down to the final vote, he said, "I have wrestled with this. . if judges are not doing their job this bill will not help them.

"I think my vote should be representative of the many people of my district who fear the search and seizure provision of this bill. These people have a voice. They must have a voice. I will vote no." Senator Blount told the committee.

Senator Mitchell said the matter "has now become a completely emotional issue." He added that his feelings were changed because of the refusal of the committee to require a policeman to have "probable cause" before frisking a suspect instead of the reasonable belief in the bill.

The senator said he feared that the measure would allow the police to stop and frisk every person at a demonstration if he had been told someone there was carrying a gun.

"Eighty per cent of the black community is opposed to the search provision, so it is with mixed emotions that I vote no."

Two other Baltimore County senators, who voted for the measure said they reserved the right to change their vote on the senate floor.

* * *

Senator John Bishop of Baltimore County, one of them, added that the Senate has never passed a bill with mandatory sentences, as the Governor's bill requires.

The spokesman for the gun lobby, Robert Zeber, told the AFRO-AMERICAN correspondent Val Hymes that he will attack the bill on the Senatr floor with amendments, saying, "I have just begun to fight."

A few blocks away, the House Judiciary Committee worked for more than nine hours, hearing testimony on the same bill.

More than 500 persons attended the meeting at St. John's College and 150 witnesses signed up to testify.

Among them were: The Rev. Vernon Dobson and Del. Joseph Chester, The committee chairman, Del. Martin Kircher, closed the meeting after the 44th witness, and after he was forced to evict a disruptive spectator.

In Memoriam

BROCKINGTON — In loving memory of my brother, WILLIE BROCKINGTON, who passed away February 2, 1966:
We walked together, you and I,
In sorrow and in joy,
We shared our pains and happiness
With love without alloy,
And death shall never end our love
For thru the mist I see
Our glad reunion in the sky —
For all eternity!
HATTIE BROCKINGTON

BOURNE — In loving memory of my dear son, THEODORE HOWARD BOURNE, who passed away February 5, 1969.
In each letter from over there he'd say:
"Don't worry, Mom, I'm O.K.
Then into battle he went,
My son so dear to me.
There his heart was ever stilled
To make this country free.
Never again will I adoringly trace
The little smile wrinkles in his face;
But always, always, I'll hear him say:
"Don't worry, Mom, I'm O.K.
MOTHER and FAMILY

BERRY — In loving memory of our father, JACKSON BERRY, who passed away February 2, 1971:
God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb;
He gently closed his loving eyes
And whispered: "Peace be thine."
His weary hours, his days of pain,
His weary nights are past;
His ever-patient, worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
THE BERRY FAMILY

BLANDON — In memory of PFC GILBERT BLANDON, who passed away in Vietnam on February 3, 1970:
GILBERT, my boy, you are always in my thoughts;
No matter where I go, you are always in my heart, dear son.
Because I loved you so.

FORD — In loving memory of our dear beloved sister, HELENA INEZ FORD, who passed away February 7, 1942:
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But no that is not true.
Since you have been gone, dear sister,
Our hearts still ache for you.
Even though it has been thirty years
Since you went away.
But we remember you as though it was yesterday.
God blessed us with a ruby rare,
He blessed us with you, sister, dear.
You were so sweet, loving and kind.
A sweeter, dearer sister, no one could ever find.
You were so good in all your ways,
Helping and doing for others throughout your days.
Even though you are gone,
In our hearts you will always live on.

GASKINS — In loving memory of our mother, MATILDA, who passed away February 1, 1971:
Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile
A loving heart that knew no guile,
Deep trust in God, that all was right
Her joy to make some other bright;
If sick or suffering one she knew,
Some gentle act of love she'd do;
No thought of self, but of the other
I know he said, "Well done, Dear Mother."
Son, PURNELL WHITING and FAMILY

KITCHEN — In loving memory of my dear husband and my uncle, FRED SAMUEL KITCHEN, who passed away February 5, 1965.
I'll hear your voice, I'll see your smile,
Tho blindly I may grope
The memory of your helping hand will buoy me up with hope.
Should you go first and I remain,
One thing I'll have you do,
Walk slowly down that long lone path, for soon I'll follow you.
I want to know each step you take,
So I may take the same
Or second behind down that lonely road
You'll hear me call your name.
Loving Wife, LORETTA — Niece, DOROTHY L. KITCHEN

LEWIS — In loving memory of my wife and our mother and grandmother LUCILLE H. LEWIS, who departed this life February 3rd, 1967:
Mother is not dead,
She is just asleep
In Jesus' tender care.

LOFTON — In memory of my wife and our mother DOROTHY LOFTON, who passed away February 4th, 1971:
Sad and sudden was the call,
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief, and shock severe,
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died,
To think you could not say good-bye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all of us you did your best
Oh, God, grant you eternal rest.
Beloved Husband — JAMES LOFTON and DAUGETERS

NEWMAN — In Loving memory of my husband and our father who departed this life February 2, 1971:

Do not ask us if we miss her;
There's such a vacant place,
Oft we think we hear her footsteps
And see her smiling face.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow;
Memory keeps her ever near us,
Though she left us seven years ago.
Sadly missed by MOTHER, FATHER SISTERS, BROTHERS.

PENDLETON — In loving memory of our father, JAMES, who passed away February 4, 1971:
Gone, dear father, gone for ever.
How we miss your smiling face
But you left us to remember,
Love so much can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still.
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill.
