Lambda Kappa Mu cites three, honors contributing sorors

MEMBERS OF Iota Chapter of Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority who received certificates for exceptional service to the organization at Founder's Day celebration were, seated front (l-r): Sorors Imogene Douglas, Elizabeth Day and Camilla Williams, who was chairman for the celebration program; and standing, Sorors Ovella Queen, Janet Addison, Sandra Dingle, Louise Turks, Ida Wrotten and Fannie Mathias.

Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority cited three women for service to the Baltimore community, and presented certificates to nine sorors who have rendered exceptional service to the chapter, Saturday.

The awards were made at a luncheon meeting in the Sheraton-Baltimore Inn, attended by 350 guests, who shared the celebration of their 35th Founder's Day with the sorors.

Cited for community service were Mrs. Edna DeCoursey Johnson of the Baltimore Urban League; Mrs. Enolia McMillan of the Baltimore Chapter NAACP, and Mrs. Lula Mackay of the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers. The three received corsages and plaques.

Certificates went to Sorors Fannie Mathias, Ida Wrotten, Louise Turks, Sandra Dingle, Janet Addison, Ovella Queen, Imogene Douglas, Elizabeth Day and Camilla Williams. Mrs. Thelma Addison, basileus, made the awards and the certificates were presented by Soror Alma Redden.

Dr. King V. Cheek, president of Morgan State College, who addressed the group, told the audience, chiefly women, that there is need to reappraise the reaction of the youth of today and to insist that they and we have a confrontations with thoughts in life.

He said that the elders must provide models of conduct, that the youth are wiser than in former generations and cannot be fooled. Adults must provide examples that youth can respect.

So many are so concerned about their own lives that they seldom stop to reflect on present conditions, Dr. Cheek said.

He warned that in this age "where there are computers to select a mate; where test tube babies have become a reality and where sex may be on the way out; the world in which we live is too small for men to live as strangers."

Dr. Cheek was introduced by Dr. Haywood Harrison.

Soror Margaret Yates presided. Other participants on the program included Soror Patti Holloway, who gave the invocation; Soror Camilla Williams, Founder's Day Chairman, who brought greetings; the Hitchcock Ensemble and closing remarks by Basileus Thelma D. Addison.

The Founder's Day committee included Soror Camilla Williams, chairman; Soror Louise G. Turks, co-chairman; and Sorors Olivia Bates, Imogene Douglas, Fannie Ewell, Jacqueline Fleming, Pattie Holloway, Naomi Johnson, Myrtle Jones.

The Baltimore Chapter of Link inducted two members at a beautifully planned dinner party and installation service in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Adams, recently.

New Links are Mrs. King V. Cheek (he's the president of Morgan State College) and Mrs. Earlie H. Francis Jr. (he's the pediatric specialist).

Mrs. Lydia Mussenden, president of the chapter, presided at the candlelight induction ceremony, which followed an orientation activity. Assisting Mrs. Mussenden were Mesdames Louis Weaver, Theodore Phifer and Lester Norris, charter members of the chapter.

The new Links each received a white rose (the Link flower) and the Link charm.

The dinner table was also centered with white roses.

In addition to Mrs. Mussenden, officers attending included Mesdames Emma Michaels, vice president; Helen Burwell, recording secretary; Mae Adams, corresponding secretary; Audrey Norris, financial secretary; Pauline Watts, treasurer;

Mesdames Frances Hill, secretary of the Eastern Area; and Mrs. Beatrice Butler, treasurer of National Links;

Also Mesdames Catherine Adams, Lillian Berry, Kay Carter, Cardrienne Griffin, Mary Harris, Marie Hicks, Lillian Jones, James DeForest, Yvette Murphy, Louise Perrin, Etta Phifer, Theresa Weaver.

And, of course, this Sunday evening the Baltimore Club of the National Association of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will be dining and dancing at Martin's West.

Dot Brown started the Firesider's Club year off with exquisite service, Saturday.

Her sister, Betty Edwards, she's with the State Department, was over from Washington for the party. Her guests also included Linchie Denkins, Ivy Grinage and Dot Wood.

Members about were Irma Dancy, Milburn Brown, Frances Ashby, Iris Major, Lil Ross, Bea Nixon, Eula Watkins, and Florence Ringgold.

The Firesiders during the past holiday season revived their custom of the round robin party. They used a red and green color scheme for the foods. They started at Iris' where the caravan was formed and members joined in cocktails with guests Edith Fowkles, Amy Weaver.

Dot Wood, Pinchie Dinkins and Ada Weaver. Then to Irma's for an Avacado (green) soup and Tomato bisque. Then to Lil's for the salad course ending up at Bea's for a crab dish, green noodles, dessert and exchange of gifts.

The We Wives met with Verniece Reynolds to firm up plans for their Spring dinner-dance. The group was treated to wines and cheeses from around the world.

Pot-Pourri: List among treats, sharing a long letter from Major and Mrs. Lawrence (Dale) Buffalo, stationed with SHAPE in Belgium, with her mother, Mrs. Ethel Covington.

Also hearing the John Glosters, who holidayed in Alaska, talk of the beauties of that wonderland in winter, and of travelling over 20-inch snow banks in a snowmobile.

List, too, among travelers, L. Olivia Bates, who is just back from Turkey, Greece, Israel, and the Holy Lands; and Dr. and Mrs. Lonnie Greene who cruised off to the Islands for a winter respite.

Spoke above of the S. Leroy Taylors' enthusiasm for the trek to the Holy Land and the Mediterranean. Also along on the same air jet-ship cruise jaunt were Mrs. Viola Jackson, Mrs. Ethel Payne and Bea and Alonzo Lancaster.
