Malcolm Dutterer, Jr., coordinator, Economic Education, Baltimore Schools, discussed developments in the consumer field. Miss Rose T. Kinney was moderator.

Mr. Dutterer pointed out the growing consciousness power of the consumer, mentioning that Balltimore had been in the fore ranks of the boycotts on grapes and lettuce. He also gave a resume of federal legislation in the field and discussed prospective legislation on both state and federal levels.

Members attending the meeting were:

Mesdames John Berry, Marshall Briggit, Avdella Campbell, John Francis, Alonzo Hairston, Mason Hawkins, Paul Henderson, Bradshaw Higgings, Carl Murphy, Saul Purdue, McKinley Reesby, Ralph Smith, Walter Turpin, Wilbur Valentine and J. Clarence Young; and Misses Edna Brown, Rose Kinney, Josephine Lansey and Estelle Lee of the club.

Guests were Miss Lola Howard and Miss Louise Mayse; and Mesdames Thelma Ashe, Lila Barnum, May Fortune, Patricia Page, Mae Peck, Lula Mackay and Olivia Dixon, who assisted the hostess.

Meeting on Thursday night, Alpha Wives set up some exciting plans for the coming months.

First, they are going to decorate the room in Alpha Club House which the Alpha Phi Alphas have designated for their use. Then they they set the date, October 20, for their fall dance. This affair will have Vivian Sydnor as chairman.

They set their next trip to New York for the spring of 1973. Next week many of the wives will accompany their husbands to the regional conference being held in New Haven, Conn. This Saturday night they will be accompaning their men . . . and galaxy of friends to the Fraternity's dance at the Barn.

Other items transacted were the appointment of a committee to compile biographical sketches and photographs of the Baltimore Wives which will become a part of the permanent display for the Wives' Club Room . . . and being civic minded, they presented two camperships to the Y.

The two Catherines (Law and Wilson) of the Baltimore Girl Friends entertained that group at Mrs. Law's Lynchester Road place, Saturday, where the cocktails flowed (but not more freely than the chatter) and where a meaningful business session followed a luscious dinner.

Gaynelle Spaulding brought a report from the national conclave recently held in Williamsburg, Va. Gwendolyn Roper produced correspondence from the Saint Louisennes, who said "they were jubilant and gratified at news of their acceptance as 28th chapter of Girl Friends (an action taken at the conclave) and announced plans for their installation in the Missouri city on Thanksgiving Day. And Agnes Patterson and Irma Roy discussed tentative plans for the national conclave, here, in 1975.

The session was attended by:

Bernice Chatman, Georgeanna Chester, Anne Davis, Ruth Jennifer, Lula Mackay, Olga Parker, Mae Parrott, Mazie Rea, Eliza Robinson, Gwendolyn Roper, Irma Roy, Gaynell Spaulding, Elizabeth Stewart, Frances Vessells, Anita Wheatley, Doris Wheeler, Mae Williams, Catherine Wilson, and Theda Wilson, who presided.

The Baltimore Pivots have scheduled their Premier Ball for May to celebrate this year of membership in the prominent national social organization and they do promise you a Rose Garden which will be symbolized by the Rose and the theme of the dance . . . friendship.

The May celebration will be held at the Fontaine Bleu and promises to be a gala affair with Bobby Felder providing the sounds for which he is nationally famous, along with the superb catering of the Fontaine Bleu.

The Pivots will be "getting it all together" by inviting all members of the Washington chapter and their husbands to join in the anniversary celebration as their special guests. The affair serves as a prelude to the June National Pivot Convention to be held in Pittsburgh where the organization was founded.

The officers and members included: Vera Carrington, president; Helen Gatin, financial secretary; Gerri Desbordes, Helen Whittaker, Jeanne Davis, Gordine Blount, Frances Murphy, Ada Woodland, Lillian Jones, Helen Birt, corresponding secretary; and Janet Wooltridge.

The dance committee includes Mrs. Gattis, chairman; Mrs. Wooldridge, co-chairman; and Mesdames Desbordes, Phillips, and Carrington.

There was no particular celebration, nor any specific reason, except that they wanted to see what folks were finding, so exciting in Atlanta.

Which was the reason some members of the Upper Ten Plus Club gathered friends and flew down to the Georgia metropolis for a week's holiday, recently.

The Ten's couples doing the hosting were the Aaron Ellises, the Charles Hillens, the Errol Taylors, the David Wrights, the Royal Weavers and the Melvin Callamans.

Their guests were the Samuel Balckwells, the Earl Bundaras, the Albert Hawkinses, the Charles Lynches, the Paul Beckhams, the Marsden Rawlingses and their son, Keith; and Royal White.

They toured Atlanta's fabulous underground, they did the restaurants and theatres, and on Wendesday night the hosts gave a party for their guests. The group was housed at the American Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Young entertained at their Bellmore Road home, Friday evening, following the Me-De-So Spring ball, at which their niece, Janice Flood, was presented.

Guests at the Youngs' party were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Peter Flood, Howard Patterson, Sr., Clyde Rucker, Waller Stockes, Sr., David Echols, Cornelius Patterson, Simpson Fantt, Walker Stokes, Jr., Howard Patterson, Jr.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Cooke, Dr. and Mrs. Tehodore Patterson, Mrs. Mildred Stiffer, Misses Janice Flood, Shirl Rucker, Rita Muan, Michele Fantt, Gail Oliver, Stephanie Flood, Tina and Gina Patterson.

Misses Barbara Stokes and Sybil Cooke of Washington; Leslie Webb, Jr., Chavis Patterson and Daryl and Dwayne Ellis.

The Firesiders held their annual vacation outing with Irma Dancy and Helen Cothorn as hostesses.

The group met at Irma's for cocktails and then to Hecht's Rooftop, Northwood for dinner. Later to Helen Cothorn's for fun and games . . . prizes for those geniuses able to get the most words about Easter out of club members names.

Guests about were Dot Wood, Pinchie Denkins, Eddie Murray Amy Weaver. Club members Iris Mapp, Ida Peters, Bea Nixon, Frances Ashby, Florence Ringgold, Milburn Brown, Eula Watkins and Ada Weaver.

Roberta Keets entertained the We Wives Tuesday night. The group voted to contribute $80. to the Anna Mae Hunter Home and $90 to the Robert W. Coleman Eyeglass Fund.

Ivy Grinage, president and the chairman of their dance committee Iris Mapp and Agnes Reaves reported on final plas for the affair, May 27th at Martin's West.

The Quettes (Pi Omega Auxiliary of Pi Omega Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity) enjoyed a Coffee Hour on Sunday at the Granada Ave. home of the president, Mrs. James Priest.

Many Baltimore Quettes attended and experienced a relaxing afternoon of fellowship. The Membership Committee, headed by Mrs. Leroy Barber, provided the affair as an opportunity for the members to renew friendships and to greet new Quettes in the area.

The annual fund-raising function of the organization, a Spring Luncheon and Card Party, will be held Saturday noon, April 22, at the Sheraton-Baltimore Inn at noon.

The group has already contributed $6,500 to Provident Hospital through previous efforts. This affair will furnish funds toward their current pledge of $1,200 to Provident.

Reservations for the luncheon are available through the chairman, Mrs. James Grant.

Milford Mill to hold art show

The Parent-Teachers Association of Milford Mill High School will sponsor the school's second annual Art Show and Sale on Sunday, April 23 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the school, 3800 Washington Ave.

All proceeds from the show go to the school's scholarship program for needy students.

Seventy-five of Maryland's leading professional artists and artisans will exhibit in one of the newer and larger art shows in the state.

orchid-graced a beige dress of wool knit; and J and J Dad Paul Johnson, financial secretary, sported a boutonniere.

"Now" sounds punctuated the atmosphere, the tapes being "engineered" by J and J Dad William Griggs. Guests helped themselves to a bountiful table decorated with a picturesque center-piece of fresh fruits heaped on a lighted mound of graduated levels. Punch flowed from an automated fountain.

The highlight of the evening was a tour of the lower gallery. Morgan State faculty members Pat Scott and Randall Craig led the club members to the real treat of the evening, Mr. Craig's sculpture.

Members who registered in the pink booklet which lay on a table near a huge bowl of pink and blue carnations mixed with greenery and gladioli were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Wilbur Alston, Richard Brown, Vallen Emery, William Griggs, David Scott, Talmadge Hill, Jr., Wendell Neal, Hollice Baynes, Alonzo T. Kelly;

Messrs. and Mesdames Roy Cragway, Clarence Abrams, Paul Johnson; Col. and Mrs. Merle Smith, Messrs. and Mesdames Leon Young, L. E. Fuller, Ralph Roberts, James A. Brown, Charles E. Brown, Charles W. Wale, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Tatter, Howard Neale Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boston.

Messrs. Charles Fleming, Gaynelle Spaulding, Catherine F. Howard, Dr. and Therefore C. . . , Mrs. Alfreda H. Hightower, Randall Craig, Oliver Patrick Scott, Mrs. Helen Quarles, and Mrs. Ruth Brown.
