Community 'walks in shoes' of students and teachers

The parents and community of Cherry Hill "walked in the shoes" of school personnel at the Carter Godwin Woodson Elementary School, No. 160 for one week.

It was designated as "Parent-Community Involvement Week," recently.

The purpose behind the unique idea was to get more parents and citizens inside the school building; to have the parents and community become involved with the total school in a meaningful way; and to have citizens understand, through first-hand experience, the operations day-to-day of a school.

With regular teachers, aides, administrators and other staff members on-hand, parents — mothers and fathers, acted in a different capacity.

A week before the experiment went into effect, an orientation class was held to familiarize parents with their tasks.

Guidelines for the teachers were discussed and information on classroom control was passed out to parents.

At the end of each day, the parents completed an evaluation form and discussed their diverse experiences with the participating students.

Parents who served as cafeteria workers were:

Sister Helen, Mrs. Louise Brownn, Mrs. Bertha Falcon, Mrs. Dorothy Jones, and Mrs. Margaretta Soden.

Parents serving as office staff were:

George Nicholoson, Mrs. Edith Cheeks, Mrs. Cecile Collins, Mrs. Vannie Mason, Mrs. Vera Boone, Mrs. Louise McFadden, Mrs. Marie Lee, Mrs. Angela Robinson, Mrs. Doris James, Mrs. Rudell Martin, and Mrs. Georgene Petty.

Parents serving as teachers were:

Mrs. Sarah Bundy, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Shirley Gingles, Mrs. Elizabeth Peace, Mrs. Margie Coleman, Mrs. Amy Speight, Mrs. Reginald Smalls, and Mrs. Lucinda Burns.

Parents who served as aides were:

Mrs. Bernice Brogdon, Mrs. Carolyn Washington, Mrs. Catherine Batty, Mrs. Evelyn Jones, Mrs. Morton, Mrs. Beatrice Langford, Mrs. Annie Frazier, Mrs. Shirley Baker, Mrs. Geraldine Conway, and Mrs. Creolia Turnage.

Parents alternated their duties with one another each day of the week.

Don't just take it; scream, fight dirty!

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don't just stand there. Scream. Scream bloody murder. Forget you're a lady. Fight dirty. Be aggressive and violent.

These are some of the suggestions The National Safety Council gives for a woman's protecting herself in event of attack. The subject is not a pleasant one, but could happen to you as it has to thousands of other women mugged, raped, robbed, sometimes killed.

"Women have been told that gouging the eyes with the thumbs and jabbing a knee into the groin are effective," says the council. "They are — if applied with force.

But don't forget the other vital areas — the Adam's apple, bridge of the nose and solar plexus (about the fourth button on a man's shirt). Use your fingernails, teeth and any pins, pencils, keys, nail files or other objects you can get your hand on.

"If attacked from behind, smash your heel on the attacker's instep, kick his shins, jab with your elbows, throw your head back hard into his face."

"A woman is almost never a match for a man in strength," The Council warns. "So squirm, twist, scratch, bite, gouge, kick — and above all scream bloody murder. You can't lick him, but you might scare him off — or get a chance to break loose and run. The more fuss and furor, the more likely you are to attract attention and assistance.

As for carrying weapons (even commercial self-protection items) police say most people — especially women — are better off without them. "For one thing you probably won't have time to get one out and into action and for another, the assailant may take it from you and even use it against you," says The Council. "In most states, it's against the law to carry a concealed pistol, tear gas gun or switchblade knife."

WHAT'S HAPPENING ON THE EASTSIDE

Gurnie Chambers Good Neighbor

By GEORGIANNA MOODY

When fifteen-year-old Gurnie Chambers was asked how he became the owner of a large number of trophies, his answer was "Just playing around." Surely he was just playing around town in all types of sporting games, and he has brought home proof.

Winning is a serious concept with Gurnie. He is an all around sportsman at such a young age. He plays hockey, lifts weights and is a very good skater. Gurnie is also a superb swimmer.

Despite his interest in sports, Gurnie is an A student in School No. 433, Fairmount Hills.

Gurnie also is interested in working in Sunday School at St. Phillips Lutheran Church.

Young Chambers feels many people have influenced his life. In particular, he named his mother Mrs. Wilberta Chambers who has encouraged him to the highest. Also the Rev. Smith of St.Phillips and his teachers have all played an important role. He gives credit to Raymond Jones, Miss Cole, Miss Elaine White and Mr. Johnson, teachers, for helping him to travel the higher roads of life. He says Leon Howard at the Recreation Center has been a great spark to him.

Gurnie has two sisters Tilatha and Wilberta who love and cherish him as an older symbol of life. He provides much joy and fun to his family and home at 1326 E. Fayette Street.
