Auto salesmen host Sickle Cell benefit

"It's your evening in Baltimore," said the Automotive Salesmen's Association, Friday night, but the members also had another notion up their sleeves.

They had invited guests to come and have fun, but they also wanted to gather a few shekels for the Sickle Cell Anemia program at Provident Hospital.

Report: Mission successful.

Hosts provided a lavish buffet. Trim roast beef to shrimp creole, and the liquids were flowing throughout the evening. Ane scores of their friends came to dance to the music of the J and B Five, to hear vocalist Skip Greene, and to listen to the soulful music of the Eltwons.

The Automotive Salesmen's Association was organized a little more than a year ago, not only to operate for the benefit of its members, but to support worthy projects throughout the community. A chief interest, however, is for study and development of ownership and salesmanship in the automotive industry.

Shirley Diggs is president of the club. Officers include Tommy Harris, vice president; Luther Nelson, treasurer; Irving Coafies, secretary; and Wilbur Jones Jr., financial secretary.

The dinner dance, held at the Stick and Ribs was arranged by a committee which included Wilbur Jones, chairman; Irving Charles, Bob Jones, Lester Parker and Carl MacNeil.

Judge Watts to speak at Guild meeting

Invitations have been extended by The Children's Guild, Inc. Board of Trustees to an Annual Meeting Luncheon at the Lord Baltimore Hotel on Friday, May 12th at noon.

The meeting is open to the public.

The speaker will be the Honorable Robert B. Watts, Associate Judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City. In his topic, A Plea for Concern — A Judge Looks at New Directions," Judge Watts will examine new trends in dealing with the social problems of individuals and society as viewed by a city judge.

Besides his judicial duties, Judge Watts, twice elected as Man of the Year by the NAACP, has hadthe broad experience in community work, serving on Boards of a number of civic and welfare organizations related to education, mental health, and youth.

Included in his many areas of endeavor are The Boys Home Society and Boys Town Homes of Maryland, the Baltimore Area Council of Alcoholism, the Prisoners Aid Association, the National Council of Christians and Jews, who have awarded him its Annual Brotherood Award, and The Baltimore Association of Mental Health.

The Children's Guild, Inc., a Community ber agency, offering therapeutic services for preschool emotionally disturbed children and counseling for parents, opened a satelite to serve Towson-area residents last September. Mrs. Frederica Bardwell is executive director of the Guild; David T. Fehsenfeld is president of the Board of Trustees. Mrs. David Gordon, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the Annual Meeting, has been assisted by Mrs. Harris Jones, Mrs. Edward Wignt and Charles Richards.

Hints For Homemakers

It's another Saturday and time for me to get up and get the day started.

I've had a busy, busy week so there's a lot for me to do. Maybe I'll perk up after I take a bath and brush my teeth.

Now which CLOSE-UP toothpaste should I choose this morning? Do I feel like using the regular red CLOSE-UP or the new green mint version?

Of course, they both offer the same great breath-freshening protection. And both contain special whiteners to keep my smile bright and sparkling.

The red contains a real mouthwash, but then again so does the green. Both versions of CLOSE-UP leave my breath fresh and my mouth feeling clean.

This is terrible, to be confronted with such a major decision so early in the morning. Usually I don't have any trouble making up my mind, but this is just one of those days.

Since it feels like this is going to be a real "go" day for me, I think I'll use the new green mint CLOSE-UP to get me in the right frame of mind.

THE IMPERIAL CHOICE

But I'm glad I will not have any problems deciding on what to have for breakfast.

I always know that I'm going to fix myself something tasty with IMPERIAL margarine. My mouth waters just thinking about how flavorful IMPERIAL is.

I keep all three kinds of IMPERIAL in the refrigerator—regular stick, Sof-Spread and Diet.

I like to use the stick form for cooking because it has the measurements marked right on the wrap.

But I like SOF-SPREAD IMPERIAL as a table spread because it's so easy to spread smoothly on bread and biscuits even when it's taken out of the refrigerator. The decorator tubs always add that little extra something to my table setting, too.

For myself, I use DIET IMPERIAL because—like so many people—I have to constantly watch my weight.

But whichever form I use, I know I can always count on IMPERIAL's superb freshness and natural flavor.

Was I ever pleasantly surprised when I found out I could even fry with the diet margarine! Just melt it in a covered frypan until sizzling stops, then add food.

It's also nice to know with DIET IMPERIAL that I can enjoy its good taste with only half the calories of regular margarine.

NO PROBLEM WITH WISK

Another decision! Now that I've had my breakfast, shall I do the dishes first or start the laundry?

Guess I'll start the laundry and then do the dishes while the washer is working.

Just look at those collars! This would be the weekend that my son Rick decided to bring laundry home from school. That's when I'm especially glad to have WISK around.

I just measure out how much WISK is needed for my wash and then pour a little of it directly on the dirty collar rings and rub a bit. No need to presoak or bleach. Then I drop the shirts into the machine with the rest of the measured WISK and wash my clothes as usual.

Rick questioned me recently about WISK and the environment. He was happy to learn when I told him that WISK is not only biodegradable but its phosphorous content is only 3.5%—much lower than any leading laundry detergent.

Of course, I know that's not the only reason I use WISK. I like it because it's a real all-purpose detergent—good for my whole wash and also for other cleaning chores around the house.

DOVE MAKES IT EASY

Now that I've got the first load of wash going, I had better get those dishes washed.

I'm making it sound like I'm putting off doing the dishes, but I really haven't minded it since I began using DOVE FOR DISHES.

DOVE is so mild to my hands that I don't feel as if I wash dishes at all.

One day I had the girls over for brunch and several of them offered to help me with the cleanup.

They couldn't believe me when I told them it wouldn't take me any time to get all the dishes done and that I actually enjoyed doing them.

I explained how quickly DOVE cuts grease, gets the dishes clean and sparkling, and leaves my hands feeling soft and lovely.

Even my husband Richard has a hard time understanding how I can keep my hands so nice, with all the dishes I have to do. I keep telling him that the more you do dishes the more you need DOVE—and I really believe he's convinced.

Anyway, I'm so glad that no one is around to hear me walking around talking to myself all day. I'm not sure they'd understand.
