Dr. Patterson sees gap in school-community relations

The Baltimore School System is suffering from a communication gap, Dr. Roland N. Patterson told Baltimoreans, here, Tuesday evening.

Speaking at the closing meeting of the Du Bois Circle, a civic and cultural club, the Superintendent of Education added the system also has pangs which result from a lack of community confidence.

Basically, Baltimore's system is a good one, the speaker said, but too often the administration is considered (quite wrongly) as those "double talking people on Twenty-Fifth Street" who always put things over on the community. This lack of community confidence, this negativish, he said is aided and abetted sometimes by ill-considered remarks by news media, politicians, students, parents and even teachers and administrators, he said.

It is important to keep in mind, said Dr. Patterson, that the school is only one institution and it cannot handle alone the vast socio-economic problems which exist in our society. These concerns, said he, must be dealt with through the concerted efforts of many agencies and institutions.

The meeting, which was held in the Statler Hilton Hotel, was presided over by Miss Edna Brown, president. Miss Rose T. Kinney introduced Dr. Patterson.

Music for the occasion was by Mrs. Raymond Kelly and Mrs. Roland Hardy.

Mrs. Waters Turpin gave a resume of the year's program of the club.

The hostesses were:

Mesdames I. Bradshaw Higgins, Inez Key, Estelle Lee, Saul Purdue, Waters Turpin, Howard Hucles, McKinley Reesby, Kelly Jackson, Carl Murphy, Ralph Smith, John Berry, Abdella Campbell.

Mesdames John Francis, Paul Henderson, Marshall Bright, J. Arnett Frisby, Mason Hawkins, Alonzo Hairston; and Misses Rose T. Kinney and Edna Brown.
