Six graduates inducted into Douglass Hall of Fame

The Student Government Association of Douglass High School inducted six graduates, outstanding in community life, into the school's Hall of Fame during Alumni Day Thursday morning.

In a morning ceremony, the late Associate Superintendent of Schools, William Pinderhughes, Class of 1936; State Senator Clarence W. Blount, Class of 1942; Mrs. Pauline Brooks, Class of 1933; Ernest Brown, Class of 1923; Mrs. Enolia P. McMillan, Class of 1922; and Mrs. Mary West Jones Miller, Class of 1927 were presented certificates of recognition by student officers.

Mr. Pinderhughes, whose award was accepted by his widow, was cited for his role in Education. The presentation was by Charlie Jones.

Arthur McCoy lauded Sen. Blount for his role in Government. Miss Deborah Jackson hailed Mrs. Brooks for her place in the business and professions.

Herbert Jenkins honored Mr. Brown for his skill as a coach and teacher at Douglass for 18 years; Miss Adrienne Jenkins congratulated Mrs. McMillan for thirty years of work with the NAACP and Miss Patricia Drummwright, to a standing ovation, presented Mrs. Miller a plaque for her work as the first and only Douglass teacher of dramatics.

In response to tributes Mrs. Pinderhughes, an elementary supervisor in city schools, said, "My husband considered Douglass High School to be the shining example of what a high school has been, is and will continue to be. I thank you very much."

Sen. Blount, co-ordinator for the new Dunbar High Community Center, and former Dunbar principal, observed, "I very humbly and proudly accept this honor. Whatever I am, whatever people say I am and whatever I am to be, I only received one high school education, and that was at Douglass High at Calhoun and Baker Sts. I accept this on my behalf of my wife and sons (who were present)."

He challenged the student body "to seek admission to this Hall of Fame. I throw a challenge to you to blaze a trail, to exceed those of us who stand before you today."

Mrs. Brooks, owner of Mondawmin Mall's Pauline Brooks Boutique Inc. assured the audience, "This is the highest honor I have ever received in my life. This pops me up—it makes me feel I have to do even more. I think everybody needs this kind of stimulation. I needed this today."

Mr. Brown urged students 'to engage yourself in one or more activities of your school. I am very grateful for this honor."

Presently head of the Physical Education Department at Booker T. Washington Junior High, he taught at Douglass for 18 years and has been in his present building for 22 years.

Mrs. McMillan said, "You know when I graduated in 1922 it wasn't called the Douglass High School, it was called the Colored High School. It was located at Pennsylvania Ave. and Dolphin St.

"In those days there were so many things we couldn't do. This city has come a long way. Please take advantage of the opportunities you have now—the scholarships and the grants.

"Jobs were limited in those days. The only thing you could really do was teach school. And if you were in the commercial field, the AFRO was the only place you could work, besides one or two other places.

"We have seen changes come about through the system. Somebody has told our youth that they must curse and carry on and be violent, and that they will be respected only because they are black. But I say no.

"We must continue to insist this city, state and nation treat us as first class citizens—but we must act like first class citizens. We must stand up strong and be counted as Americans."

After a standing ovation, Mrs. Mary West Jones Miller replied, "To be accepted by the family you live and work with everyday is wonderful. I thank you because I believe you stood because you meant it."

She recounted her participation in the Negro Little Theatre Group, the Greenwich Theatre Group and the Arena Players. She has been highly praised for her coaching such plays as "A Raisin in the Sun," and "The Glass Menagerie."

Mrs. Miller is still actively engaged in the teaching of dramatics and English.

Mrs. Edna O. Campbell, principal, in her remarks told her students, 'You will notice there are several threads which run through the lives of each. They are all interested in youth, the community and churches. They are all graduates of Douglass High School!"

The audience stood to sing "Hail Douglass," the Alma Mater.

DOUGLASS HIGH GREATS—Shown as they waited last week to be inducted into the Hall of Fame at Douglass High School on Alumni Day were: Mrs. Enolia P. McMillan, president of the Baltimore NAACP; Mrs. Pauline Brooks, owner of Pauline Brooks Boutique; Ernest Brown, physical education teacher at Booker T. Washington Junior High School; State Senator Clarence W. Blount; Mrs. William Pinderhughes, accepting the honor for her late husband; and Mrs. Mary West Jones Miller, first and only Douglass dramatics teacher.

AAU gymnasts vie Saturday

The Region 2 Amateur Athletic Union Junior Olympic gymnastic and trampoline championships will be held tomorrow (Saturday), at the Harlem Park Community School, Harlem Avenue and Gilmor Street.

Competition in the meet will be among the three top qualifiers in each of the three age groups, 10 to 12 years, 13 to 14 years and 15 to 18 years from the five districts comprising Region 2.

The first event will begin at 11 a.m., according to Douglass J. Camper, Jr., the meet director.

The AAU Junior Olympics is sponsored nationally by the Quaker Oats Company and this meet is being hosted by Citizens for Operation Champ, Inc. of the Model Cities Agency.

The winners from this meet will participate in the national Gymnastics Championships which will be held in August in Spokane, Washington.

Make it easy on yourself.

Chevrolet's Impala makes the going nice and easy on you. With lots of standard equipment that makes driving more like fun and less like work.

Like: a standard Turbo Hydra-matic transmission. Standard power steering and power front disc brakes. A Turbo-Fire 350 V8 comes standard, too. Even a forced-air ventilation system that keeps the air moving. Even when you're not.

We want your Impala to be the best car you ever owned. Both when it's new and when it's used. That's why we'd like to say a couple words about Impala's resale value: traditionally high. After all, Impala's been America's best selling car for the past 12 years.

Easy-ride a new Impala at your Chevy dealer's. Then, check out the price. You'll see that's not hard to take, either.

ABOUT US TEENS

BY ANGIE THORNTON

By ANGIE THORNTON

The holiday is over and most of us still in school are coming into the home stretch. There are only a few days left for the sophomores and juniors of most schools.

Many high schools held Farewell Day Assemblies last week. They were Forest Park, Eastern, City College, Mervo Tech., and Douglass.

Awards to outstanding seniors were given out during the various ceremonies.

Six persons were inducted into the Douglass High School Hall of Fame on May 25. They were the late William Pinderhughes, Councilman Clarence Blount, Mrs. Pauline Brooks, Eugene Brown, Mrs. Enolia McMillian, and Mrs. Mary West Miller.

All of those named above were either nominated by a student or someone in the faculty. Each had to have been graduated 10 years ago and had made a vital contibution to the community.

On May 26, at the Baltimore Civic Center, one of the best in showing business did his Farewell Performance to the stage.

William "Smokey" Robinson and his mighty Miracles said goodbye to their Baltimore Fans with songs like, "The Tracks of My Tears," "Going to A Go-Go," "Mickey the Monkey," "Bad Girl," last Friday at the Civic Center.

Starting the show off were the Sound of Experience, group out of Baltimore, consisting of Melvin Leroy Fraling, vocal Matthew Linwood Fraling, piano; Melvin Miles, trumpet; Reginald Wright, trumpet; Albert Holmes, tenor sax; Gregory Holmes, alto sax; Johnny Foreman, trombone Anton Scott, lead guitar; Everett Harris, bass guitar; and Rodney Parks, drummer.

Look out for the Jackson 5 and Isaac Hayes coming to the Civic Center soon.

The Miss Black Teenage Baltimore Pageant will be held on June 16, at the Embassy Room.

The Madison Ave. YWCA is sponsoring a bus trip to Hershey Park, Pa. on June 10. The $12 fare includes admission to the park, round trip fare, and admission to all rides for the entire day.

The bus will leave at 10 a.m. from 128 W. Franklin St. and return at 7.30 p.m. For further information call 685-1460.

Also the Madison Ave. YWCA has already started setting up its Summer Program. Included are drama, African Dance, Charm Classes and Creative Writing.

The 4 Plus One, a singing group, needs a three piece band and a good manager. They have performed at Various places and are very good. Contact Mingo L. Robinson or Larry Jordan.

The Carmelettes Inc. Phase II will sponsor a School Alumni Night Bare Essentials Cabaret on July 15 at the Pondorosa West, 2015 W. North Ave.

Don't forget about the Penny Scholettes and their Gala Fashion Show to be held on June 25, at the North Point Gardens.

Congratulations to all graduating seniors in junior high through college. Also belated Happy Birthday to Deidra Wills, Peter Gainbrey, and to a special person in my life, Mr. Elmer Jordan. Ray May Colts' nominee for humanitarian award

Baltimore Colt linebacker Ray May has been nominated for the Byron R. White humanitarian award, the most prestigious honor presented by the National Football League Players Association.

NFLPA President John Mackey explains that the annual award will go to the player who "best serves his team, community and country in the spirit of Byron (Whizzer) White, former college and professional football star who is now a U.S. Supreme Court Justice."

The list of 23 nominees will be trimmed to five finalists this weekend, and the winner will be announced at the NFLPA's Better Boys Foundation Charity Banquet, Sunday, in Chicago.

More than 2,200 persons are expected for the $135 a plate dinner at which the top offensive and defensive stars of the NFL are also honored.

A panel of distinguished citizens and sportsmen will make the selection of the Byron White winner.

They are Bill Guthrie, New Haven Courier-Journal; Carle Wunderlich, president, Alden's, Inc., Chicago, and William Winpisinger, General Vice President, International Association of Machinists and Aero-space Workers.

Previous winners were Bart Starr and Willie Davis, Green Bay; Ed Meader and Kermit Alexander, Los Angeles; and Gayle Sayers, Chicago.

All-Star Game ballots ready for July 25 show

Balloting for the July 25th All-Star Game at Atlanta, is under way in major league baseball stadia throughout the country.

Fans began voting Sunday in Baltimore Memorial Stadium and elsewhere to determine the starting lineups for the American and National leagues.

The computerized ballot lists eight players at each infield position and catcher plus 24 outfield candidates for each league.

The starting pitchers as well as the other non-starters on the star squads will be selected by the managers — Earl Weaver for the AL, and Danny Murtaugh for the NL.

The ballot also provides for write-ins at each position in the event that a fan's first choice is not listed on the pre-printed ballot.

Ballots are being distributed at every Orioles home game through the end of the voting period which will end on July 9.

In addition, ballots may be secured at most retail stores that sell shaving products, at the Orioles advance sale window near gate W2 at Memorial Stadium and at all Orioles agencies in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

A total of eight Orioles players are among the 64 players listed on the American League portion of the ballot.

The Orioles candidates include four infielders Boog Powell, Dave Johnson, Mark Belanger and Brooks Robinson; three outfielders — Don Buford, Paul Blair and Merv Rettenmund; and catcher Elrod Hendricks.

Md. exhibits at Transpo '72

Secretary of Transportation Harry R. Hughes today announced that the Md. Department of Transportation will be exhibiting at Transpo '72, and invites visitors to see the Department's display booth.

Located in Building D, the display visually depicts consolidated transportation in Md. Photographs of Maryland's transportation facilities symbolize those aspects of Maryland's Department of Transportation which make it unique in the United States.

Entitled "The Maryland Department of Transportation Has It All Together," the Department's display highlights both the integrated planning concept of the Department and the Transportation Trust Fund, which is a fiscal tool permitting flexible financing based on priority as opposed to ear-marking by mode.

Transpo '72, now held at Dulles International Airport, Virginia, through June 4th, is the first international transportation exposition, and will include foreign and domestic exhibitors.

CORRECTION REQUESTED—Mrs. Pauline Colbert of 1103 E. 43rd St., says the photo which appeared in the AFRO Preakness picture page of May 26, was not "Mr. and Mrs. Donald Colbert" as the caption said. According to Mrs. Colbert, she has been married to Mr. Colbert since 1959, and has no plans for divorce. She told the AFRO Tuesday that the young woman shown with her husband is a Miss Jackie Johnson. The real Mrs. Colbert is shown in the accompanying photo taken in the AFRO office where she came to clarify the matter.

Ex-Ram named Driesell aide

COLLEGE PARK — Lefty Driesell, who led the University of Maryland to the National Invitation Tournament (NIT) basketball title, evidently likes the success attained with a black assistant.

b on Wednesday, Driesell revealed that Tim Autry, a teams had a 46-16 record former basketball-football star at Winston-Salem (NC) State University, has been signed as assistant coach.

Last year, Lefty's chief aide was George Raveling, a Washington (DC) native who was a cage star at Villanovam Raveling left in March to become head coach at Washington State University.

Autry has spent the last three years coaching at Wilmington (Del) High School.

During that period his and last year captured the Delaware State scholastic title.

Tim was the Delaware high school coach of the year in 1970-71 and 1971-72.

Bob Foster signs for London bout

LONDON — Boxing promoter Mike Barrett has announced that Bob Foster, American holder of the world light-heavy weight title, had agreed to meet Britain's Chris Finnegan for the championship in London Oct. 10.

Finnegan, 28, who defends his European crown against Jan Lubbers of Holland here Tuesday, is also British and Commonwealth champion.

Army ROTC pays. When you're in, and when you're out.

Army ROTC pays you $100 a month during your last two years of college. But the money, handy as it is, isn't the real reason you should enroll in ROTC.

There is a bigger payoff. The one that comes after you've earned your degree and commission. After you've served your country as an officer. That's the time you'll know the real value of Army ROTC.

When you begin your civilian career. You'll find you have the combination that just about guarantees success—a good education, fine tuned with military management and experience. Let us tell you about the options.

Army ROTC. The more you look at it, the better it looks.
