Stills will direct SWOP at Friends

Dr. W. Byron Forbush, headmaster at Friends School, has announced that Gordon H. Stills will direct the summer writing opportunity program (SWOP) on campus at Friends School this summer.

This will be the fourth consecutive summer that Mr. Stills has directed the program.

A language development program, SWOP provides six weeks of intensive reading and writing experiences for junior high school students who regularly attend Baltimore City public schools.

Mr. Stills, head of the English department at Douglass High School, states,that there is only one requirement for students applying to attend the summer program. That requirement is that the youngster wants to attend summer school.

"We place no great emphasis on test scores for this program," he explained. What we want is a youngster who wants a meaningful learning experience during the summer. We can guarantee that."

In addition to taking the regular class work, students in the program also attend theatrical performances and participate in a full range of recreational programs.

The volunteers group, during the past three summers, has journeyed once a week to Rosewood State Hospital to provide love and cheer to the spastics confined there.

month at the Madison Avenue Y.W.C.A.

Reflecting upon their accomplishments over the past year with underprivileged children, the Baltimore Continentals "can't believe they did the whole thing."

The program, financed by funds garnered from their annual parties, was so chock full of activities they wondered how they would fit them into their already busy schedule.

They added a Clothes Commissary to provide clothing for needy children and parents to their active Shoe Fund which supplies shoes to needy school youngsters.

They took a movie party to the Institute for Children (a facility for the emotionally disturbed child located on the grounds of Rosewood State Hospital) in October;

Plus, they held a story hour and song feast for the children in November;

They danced with them in December at a record hop;

Hosted a post-Christmas dinner party in early November — brought the children in town to the Harvey Johnson Center of Union Baptist Church, prepared the meal and served it themselves; and

They presented a puppet show to the youngsters in March; and in May took them to a theatre party at the College of Notre Dame.

All of this, in addition to providing campersships to Camp King's Landing (formerly Mohawk), Camp Glyndon Diabetic camp and contributing to Direct Search for Talent.

This summer, they will participate in the Television Workshop for Children project, "Sesame Street," by providing a television set for one of the centers and volunteering their services at the various centers.

The Continentals have chosen Friday, Dec. 29 for their fund-raising affair this year, going back to the Christmas season they found so successful some years ago.

Current attention is focused on the annual conclave of all of the Continental Societies, set this year for Newport News, Va. June 30 to July 2.

Sue Miles and Priscilla Marshall are delegates. LaFrance Muldrow is president.

Other members are: Mesdames Margaret Beaman, Frances Branch, Lillie Branch, Sevilla Carroll, Helen Chamberlain, CORINE Coleman, Odessa Dyson, Helen Gattis, Kath-Dyson, Helen Gitis, Katherine Gross, Serena Holmes, Ellen Howard, Daisy King, Mattie Mumby, Helen Quarles, Vivian Rigby, Audrey Harden, Doris Smith, Phyllis Thompson, Emily Peck, Delores Sykes, and Delores Young.

Wedding bells: Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, Druid Hill Ave and Lanvale St., will be the setting this Saturday when Miss Jacqueline Brooks Moore exchanges marriage vows with Mr. Odell Brock Jr., at 1 p.m.

Miss Brooks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stephen Moore.

Cheer, please to Richard F. Bennett, who suffered a heart attack last week. Many know him and his wife, the former Dorothy Washington, the principal, as one of our town's happiest newlyweds. Cards should be addressed to 2320 Allendale Rd.

Sunshine to Dr. Irene Diggs, the noted anthropologist and world traveller, who is on Morgan State faculty. She suffered a sprained ankle.

Best wishes also to Richard Peed, whom many know as a longtime Catholic lay leader, (Corpus Christi), and retired postal worker, is in University Hospital.

Birthday party for Mrs. Donald Millard

By GEORGIANNA MOODY

Donald Millard honored his wife, Thelma, with a delightful birthday party last Saturday evening at their Essex Rd. home.

Friends came from as far as Chicago. It was a party given for a beautiful person, who seems to draw friends to her.

The guests were gracious, drinks and food delicious. The Millards' daughter, Wanda, was a lovely hostess.

Mr. Millard in praising his wife, told their friends his qualities, "I chose my wife as she chose her wedding gown, for qualities that will wear well."

Guests included: — Messrs. and Mesdames Harvey Richeson, David Richeson, Edward Neal, Clifton Bennett, Linwood Gordon, Irvin Council, Joseph Jackson, Ernest Moody, Charles Parker; Albert Richeson, of Washington, D.C., Wesley Queen of Chicago,

Also, Homer Richeson, Mrs. Ethel Johnson, Marion Linton, Joseph Coe and Mrs. Phyllis Savage.

Congratulations to Miss Johnetta Withers who will be married to James Carr on June 18th and Miss Gwendolyn Franklin who will soon tie the knot.

Happy birthday wishes this month to Hyman Lucas Jr., on the 14th; Christine Butler, 21st; Christine Simpson, 19th; William Jackson, 26th; Kim Stinson, 11th;

Also, Beverly Burrell, 31st; Anthony Harris, 30th; Francine Harris, 17th; Edward Matthews, 17th.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Irma Faulcon, Rosamond Holder, Sarah Vaughn, Mrs. Alice Jennings, Mrs. Mary Tillery, Miss Ernestine Jones, Mrs. Angelene Perkins.
