WHAT'S HAPPENING

BY IDA M. PETERS

WELCOME ELKS

A hearty welcome to all Tri-State Elks coming to our town June 16th thru 21st.

Do take a minute to look thru the pages of this issue of the AFRO-AMERICAN . . . you'll find What's Happening to make your visit to our city a pleasant one.

NEW MOVIES

Invitation this week was to attend a screening of "BEN" . . . and to have lunch with Joseph Campanella, one of the stars well-known for his role of "Jaws" on TV's "The Bold Ones."

I sat thru the picture with one daily critic and local radio personalities. The film opened this week at the Mayfair.

Usually, you watch a screening . . . exchange a friendly word . . . get a word or laugh is heard and then everybody hurriedly moves on to the next assignment.

During this picture . . . it was more fun to keep an ear on the professional audience.

• • •

Frankly . . . during the last ten years of Urban Renewal in our town . . . with old sections being torn down and rats leaving the central city and seen as far as the suburbs, . . . rats are really no laughing matter.

• • •

To bring you up to date . . . "Willard" was one of the top grossing films of 1971. The "survivor" of this film is a rat named Ben and in this film they've added 4-000 more.

• • •

For you mothers who send children to the theatre blindly. . . this is not a picture to take lightly.

It's really unbelievable to see the young boy (with a heart condition no less . . .), Lee Harcourt Montgomery (Danny) . . . talk, sing and play with the rat, Ben. He crawls around the sewer with Ben and friends and takes the rats to bed with him.

Hollywood is sick. Rats are dangerous. They do spread disease and they have bitten many a poor child. . . and it's not funny!

• • •

The only thing I liked about the film was the theme song, "Ben's Song" sung by Michael Jackson of the "Jackson 5", Motown group. The record is beautiful . . . it will really take off — as long as you don't remember it's sung to a rat.

• • •

Comment heard . . . This film must have been made for young courting adults . . . who are looking for some place to go. They at least know their dates will spend most of the time grabbing, screaming and holding them tightly.

MOVIES—BEST BETS

You'll enjoy Sidney Poitier and Harry Belafonte in "Buck and The Preacher" at the New Theatre.

Also starring is Ruby Dee. You'll enjoy two Baltimoreans in bit parts; Pamela Jones, daughter of the former Lucy Holt and Clarence Muse, who has been a star in many movies since 1929.

"The Legend of N—Charley" held over for the fourth straight week at the Hippodrome stars Fred Williamson, the former AFL football star. Also in this one, "Urville Martin, Don Pedro Colley, Marcia McGroom and Tom Pemberton.

Forget the name of the picture . . . don't worry about the acting too much . . . just go and have yourself a good time.

• • •

If you look hard enough you'll find a picture you'll enjoy . . . "Skyjacked" with Charlton Heston and co-starring Roosevelt (Rosey) Grier and Leslie Uggams.

Muhammad's Temple No. 6 will hold their Unity Educational Benefit Banquet this Sunday, June 18 at the Embassy Room.

The speaker will be the Maryland Representative of Hon. Elijah Muhammad, Minister Louis 6X.

The film to be shown will be Hon. Elijah Muhammad on Proper Education of the Black Man."

REDD FOX AT PAINTERS MILL

Did you know that the Redd Fox, star of TV's "Sanford and Son" made his very first night club appearance here in Baltimore at the old Gamby's night club on Pennsylvania Avenue?

He did, and he'll be back in style to headline an evening of comedy, music and dance at Painters Mill Music Fair for one week beginning Monday through June 25th.

Featured with the famed comedian will be the actor Demond Wilson, who plays his son on the television program, comedian and veteran song-and-dance man Slappy White, plus songstress Lyn Roman.

The show itself will consist of original comedy sketches written largely by Foxx and Slappy White; some good old-fashioned hoofing by Demond Wilson and Slappy White, both of whom have extensive backgrounds in dancing; Foxx's special brand of "stand-up humor" written exclusively for his summer theatre engagements; and the stylish singing of Lyn Roman backed up by the Stovall Sisters to complete an evening of total entertainment.

HOWARD COUNTY MISS BLACK TEENAGER

Omar Jones, the Howard County Executive, made last Sunday, "Miss Black Teenage Howard County Day" . . . issued a proclamation, and turned up in person to crown the winner at Wilde Lake High School Auditorium in Columbia.

Mrs. Pinnie Ross tells us the winner, Deborah Crable daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Crable, Personnel Manager at G.E. in Columbia (she's a teacher at Fort Meade). Deborah is a ninth grader at Wilde Lake High School and wore a white tulle gown handed in green velvet for her winning performance. It was a creative dance, "Slipping In The Darkness."

• • •

First runner-up was Jacqueline Harrington, an honor student at Howard High School, who performed an original dramatic song poem.

Second runner-up was Terri Hill, daughter of the Donald Hills (he's a Branch Chief at Social Security). Terri is 13 and attends Wilde Lake Middle School. She won on a modern dance, "You've Got Me Smiling Again."

• • •

The winner will get a chance to compete in the "Miss Black Teenage Maryland" Contest competing against winners from all of Maryland's counties and Baltimore City.

Other participants were Nancy Sands, Cookville; Felecia Myers, Mt. Airy; Jacqueline Harrington, Terry Hill, Pamela Love, Cynthia Ausby, Roslyn Hall, Columbia; Lesia Hebron, Debbie Mott, Jessup; Kathleen King, Simpsonville; Wanda Randall, Woodbine.

• • •

Judges were Mary Clayburn, Mary Wilson, George Collins, Jean Toomer, Douglass Sands, Donald Hill, Margaret Singletery.

Assisting the Director Sponsor, Pinnie Ross, were Travis Winkey, dance; Hugh Jackson, musical director; Russ Johnson, M.C.; Mel Butler, Consultant; Rosa Johnson, associate coordinator and commentator; Joan Ridgely, special arrangements; and the Pinnie Ross Models were ushers.

Benefits will go to the Balto. County NAACP and the Baltimore Scholarship Fund.

PEPSI CONTEST

Thanks to all you readers who called to find out more about that group of Cappin Students directed by Ruffie London, Coppin Music professor.

The "Theories of Reality" are indeed in the top ten in the Pepsi Cola New Sounds competition. You can vote for them by saving Pepsi caps. See details in this issue.

Thanks Henry Sampson who called to say he has saved 200 caps. Right On! CCB PLAYERS

Neil Simon's hilarious comedy, "The Odd Couple," will be presented by the CCB players in the air-conditioned campus theater on July 7, 8, 14, and 15th, 1972, at 8 p.m.

Fans of television's odd couple, Felix Unger and Oscar Madison, will enjoy seeing the characters created in the flesh by Warren Dorsey and Ed Heath, both of whom have appeared with the Arena Players and Center Stage.

• • •

CORNER THEATRE

"Gnomes" by Gordon Porterfield is now playing at the Corner Theatre on Howard St. The play is made up of a series of 13 short one act plays.

Six of the vignettes are directed by J. Bruce Johnson; three by Michael Makaravich, and four by James T. Henderson.

The combination of three directors, twelve actors, thirteen plays, on only one set creates an exciting evening of true experimental theater. "Gnomes" will run thru June 24 every Thurs. Fri., and Sat.

Cat'S CONCERTS

The Baltimore Actors' Theatre has announced it will inaugurate a series of free Sunday concerts for senior citizens throughout the state.

BAT'S newly formed Resident Orchestra, under the direction of Eugene Anderson, will make its debut with a special concert version of "FIDDLER ON THE ROOF."

The initial concert will be presented Sunday, July 9, in the Holyday Room at the Village of Cross Keys.

All senior citizens and their friends are invited to attend either one of the performances scheduled for 1:00 p.m. and 3:00 p.m.

PROMENADE CONCERTS

The City of Baltimore's Bureau of Music presents the 1972 series of daily "Promenade Concerts" featuring the Park Concert Band under the direction of Gerald Eyth.

The popular "Sing Along" of old and current favorites led by Marvin Clark, and "Polka Time" are nightly features of the Promenade Series.

Guest soloist opening week will be Warren Bowerman, Tenor.

The first concert is scheduled Thursday, June 22nd, Jewish Community Center, 5700 Park Heights Ave., 8:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m., and the program will be repeated Friday, June 23rd at Village of Cross Keys, 5100 Falls Road, 8 to 10 p.m.

INTERNATIONAL THESPIANS

The International Thespian Society has invited Elaine M. Funk Chaiman, Speech and Theatre Department at Bowie State College, to teach a workshop in Acting Techniques at the Society's annual convention at Ball State University, Muncie, Ind. during the week of June 19-24.

For the first time, Bowie Senior High School will be represented, with a contingent of 43 students from the Drama Club, where they will present their prize-winning production of "The Scarecrow."

Mrs. Funk will demonstrate and teach the same techniques she used at the national convention of the American Theatre Association.

These techniques, in her classes at Bowie State College, helped one of her students there, Eileen Menefee, to win the Irene Ryan Regional Acting award during this year's American Theatre Association College Festival.

Miss Menefee was voted the Best Actor in the region, which includes Delaware, Maryland and District of Columbia, and went on to compete at the Festival's finals at the Kennedy Center.

Participants included the Trinidad, Tobago Baltimore Steel Orchestra, Harry Maraj, Christine Joseph Dancers, and Phyllis Hunt Dance Troupe.

Musical director's mail almost heavy as Flip's

It isn't news when the star of a top-rated television program gets a lot of fan mail, but it is unusual for the musical director of the show to get nearly as much.

This is the case with George Wyle, musical director of "The Flip Wilson Show."

Some of the letters are about his frequent on-camera appearances in arguments with Flip about the comedian's "non-singing," but most of the mail is from fans asking about songs on the show.

"We have had hundreds of requests," says Wyle, "for recordings of the theme song, which incidentally, is titled 'Geraldine Honey!' We plan to record the theme and some of the other tunes, perhaps this season."

Two of Wyle's compositions are included in Wilson's latest album of Geraldine sketches and monologues. They are "Don't Fight the Feeling" and "Killer."

"Many of the tunes are named for Flip's catch phrases," says Wyle, "like 'Truly Wonderful,' name for a frequent saying of Flip's Rev. Leroy character and used in sketches at the Church of What's Happening Now.

"Then there's 'Don't Touch Me,' from you-know-who, and some obvious titles like 'Charley's Theme,' used in a sketch at Charley's Diner, and 'Leroy's Tune,' also used in the church. In the silent movie sketches, we use a turn called 'Flip Goes to the Movies.'"

Spartanburg, Clemson get federal funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal funds totaling over $2 million have been approved for two South Carolina projects.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development approved a $2.2 million grant to the Housing Authority of Spartanburg. The funds will be used in the construction of 100 family housing units for low-income residents.

The Department of Agriculture's Cooperative State Research Service approved a $75,000 grant to Clemson University for a three-year study of short-season cotton production.

Baltimore Symphony opens summer concert series

By ADAH K. JENKINS

With vacation days come the mid-week and weekend visitors. Maryland hosts and hostesses are busying themselves with barbecues and fishing plans.

Help is at hand! Wednesday-Thursday concerts by the Baltimore Symphony's extended summer season opened this week and will continue through July 11-12.

The Pops Series begin Friday and Saturday, June 23-24, continuing, June 3 and July 1; July 7 and 8 conducted by Arthur Fiedler.

Both series of concerts begin at 8 p.m. in the air-conditioned Morris Mechanic Theatre. On June 21 Walter Hautzig, pianist is the guest; on June 28 Christopher Parkening, guitarist; July 5, black pianist, Leon Bates, pianist and Felicia Weathers, black soprano guest artists. Sergui Comission, conductor.

• • •

At the Pops Series Rony Rogoff, violinist is performing and Odetta, folk singer is booked for July 7 and 8.

Baltimore artist, Betty Wells, is mounting a one-man show in the foyer of the Mechanic Theatre during the Baltimore Symphony's summer season.

Greeting new subscribers and the regulars was the newly appointed general manager of the Symphony, Stuart Knussen. British born, in Manchester, England, he was first desk bass player with the Halle Orchestra, the B.B.C and London Symphonies.

• • •

The delightful breezes of the Mansion House Road, in famous Druid Hill Park, are attracting summertime listeners to the Baltimore Municipal Band, conducted by Charles A. Begley, assistant conductor, in the absence of conductor Weldon J. Irving Sr. who is ill.

A native Baltimorean, Bagley is an alumnus of Douglass High School and of the Music-Education Department of Morgan State College.

In addition to extensive teaching experience in the music department of the schools, Bagley directed the Young Peoples' Choir. As first chair clarinetist he has been a member of the Baltimore Municipal Band for a number of years.

• • •

Ether Dutton, soprano, will be the soloist for the outdoor summer band concerts and Matthew Fraling will lead the Sing-a-Long feature. Audience seating is available and the concerts are entirely free under the auspices of the Bureau of Music, Department of Recreation and Music; Miss Stephanie Sodaro is the music and administrative supervisor.

The Sunday outdoor concerts will continue through Aug. 13.

Rebecca Sydnor, soprano, starred in the title role of "Tosca" presented by the Opera Workshop of Norfolk State College, under the direction of Gloria Amos. Guest conductor was Wayne Sullap, chairman of the music department of Grand Valley State College. A 45-piece orchestra accompanied the opera.

The male lead of the Baron was sung by Arthur Thompson, guest artist, who was heard in Baltimore recently in the role of Peter in the operetta "The Fisherman Called Peter". He is a member of the Metropolitan Opera Studio and the Chatauqua and Newport Festivals.

• • •

Robert Gerge, internationally acclaimed violinist will join the music faculty of the University of Maryland-Baltimore County in September.

He will lay the foundation of NMBC Community Orchestra as well as a student chamber orchestra. Of Hungarian parentage, Grele has appeared as soloist with many of the great European symphonies.

Persons interested in this orchestra program at NMBC should contact Dr. Tolofson 455-2525.

Dr. Tinka Knopf, director of undergraduate studies at Peabody Conservatory, and Leonard Pearlman, a member of the Conservatory faculty and conductor of the Peabody Chamber Orchestra and Contemporary Music Ensemble, have been named Outstanding Educators of America for 1972.

Dr. Knopf is also a faculty member at Villa Julie College. At Peabody Pearlman teaches conducting as well as music history and literature.

Harlem Park first-graders choose breakfast menu

Bacon and eggs or pancakes and syrup? Juice or milk? Rolls or buns?

Those were the choices 24 Harlem Park Elementary School first-graders had to make recently when they were provided a balanced breakfast at school.

The breakfast was prepared by Mrs. Joan Smith, the class aide, and Mrs. Lawrence Hunter, one of the students' parents.

Mrs. Viola Colley, is the first-grade teacher.

And, Pontheola Pendergrass, Natalie Smith, Jacqueline Smith, Underwood, Nina Waters, Joyce Whittington, Carolyn Williams, and Linda Wilson.

• • •

At Harlem Park's first official Parents Teachers Association meeting, Mrs. Dorothy Senior, the area's vice-president, presented the school's charter.

After opening the program, Mrs. Bannister, PTA president, introduced the executive board. They are: Mrs. Anna Wilkins, Mrs. Dorothy Vass; Mrs. Joan Smith, vice-president, Mrs. Joyce Carter, secretary, and Mrs. Margaret Dunlap, treasurer.

Mrs. Felicia Powell, the School-Home Liason worker for Harlem Park, introduced the School-Advisory Committee for Title I and explained the film, "A Measure of Success."

Many parents attended the meeting and showed their support for the activities funded by Title I. Musical entertainment was provided by the school choir.

Rosemont poster awards given at fete

Forty-five youngsters who like their West Baltimore neighborhood of Rosemont, and said so on posters, were honored last Saturday.

They were winners selected from more than 1,000 entries of a Rosemont poster contest conducted in seven elementary schools.

The theme of most of the posters was that Rosemont was a good neighborhood, and that it should be kept a good neighborhood.

The contest was sponsored by a neighborhood committee with the backing of the Department of Housing and Community Development and the Department of Education.

HCD proposed holding the contest in an effort to build community identity and to obtain an awareness among the children of the $5 million code enforcement the City is conducting in the area.

• • •

First prizes were given to Angelina Jordan, on the grade 1-3 level from Belmont Elementary School 217, and Mark Sanders, competing in the grades 4-6 level from Bentalou School 150.

Second prizes went to Antonio Allen of Rosedale School 148 and Eric Ball of Belmont School 217. Judges' prizes were awarded to Nathaniel Gourdine of Lafayette School 202 and Angela McGuire of Abraham Lincoln School 141.

Contest judges were State Senator Clarence Blount, George Brown, development director of Coppin College; Everett L. Dudley of Station WEBB; Mrs. Leah Hasty of the Baltimore Public Schools; and Bernard Joseph, representing the community.

Wayne Gregory, chairman of the Rosemont Poster Committee, presided at the award ceremonies at Bentalou Elementary School. Mrs. Helena J. Johnson is vice-chairman of the committee.

Children test meningitis drug

DANBURY, Conn. (UPI) — A team of doctors began the nation's first large-scale test last week to determine whether a meningitis vaccine can immunize children shortly after birth.

Meningitis is responsible for the deaths of more children each year than any other infectious disease.

The study is being carried out by a team from the University of Connecticut medical center under a $32,805 grant from the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases.

About 80 per cent of the 4,000 annual cases of meningitis in America strike young children, with a fatality rate of between 25 and 30 per cent.
