Judge places ex-tenant on probation

by the court; in August, 1971 the Liquor Board declared the place unfit and was closed down for 60 days and on May 31, 1971, the manager of the club, Chester Zeeler, was shot and seriously wounded by one Micheal Brown.

Until Aug. 19, 1971, Mr. Sugarman was the owner of the club but was declared unfit licensee.

Evidence before the commission indicated Mr. Sugarman had retained the ownership interest and that the transfer to Floyd J. Majette, a black man, effected in October, 1971, was a fraud.

At the commission's hearing yesterday during which five witnesses were called Mr. Majette, resolutely refused to admit he was a frontman.

Heavyset, medium brown, with a well-trimmed mustache and wearing light yellow jacket over a pink singlet, Mr. Majette refused to answer to the question, "Are you guilty or not guilty?" after the charges have been read to him by Joe Van Collom Jr., secretary to the commission.

Mr. Van Collom: "Are you guilty or not guilty?"

Mr. Majette: "On what charges."

Mr. Collom: "On misrepresentation."

At this point Mr. McCulley asked Mr. Majette if he knew the charges against him. Mr. Collom read it again to him.

Mr. Majette: "I'm the licence."

Mr. McCulley: "We know that. Your name is on it.

Mr. Majette: 'Can I bring in my attorney?"

At this time Joseph Murphy, assistant attorney for Baltimore City, stated he knew the former attorney for Mr. Majette but the attorney had withdrawn and was appearing for someone else. The attorney was present in court.

In the end Mr. Majette, who did not cross-examine any of the five witnesses, admitted the license was only bearing his name and that the real owner of the club was Mr. Sugarman.

He also declined to testify on his own behalf saying: "I have nothing to say."

Mr. Zeeler told the board as far as he was concerned the owner of the club during his period of employment was Mr. Sugarman who controlled everything and paid him his salary.

He told the board Mr. Majette exercised no control in the club whatsoever even though he found the licence was in Mr. Majette's name.

This statement was collaborated by Tyrone L. Watt, 17, who said he worked for his father who in turn was employed by Mr. Sugarman; and William R. Engle, a roofing businessman who stated he worked for the club and was paid by Mr. Sugarman.

In the reports Officers Knight and Lins who investigated the ownership testified information they gathered showed the real owner of the club was Mr. Sugarman. They stated Mr. Majette was only a frontman.

Mrs. Sandra Harris, 5100 block Pimlico Rd., was placed on probation without verdict for housing violations by Judge Solomon Baylor Tuesday afternoon.

She was before the Housing Court accused by a housewomer of leaving greasy walls and stoves, broken windows and doors, furniture in the bathroom and large quantity of trash while vacating the house she rented in the 1500 block Madison Ave.

She pleaded not guilty to all the charges.

Before pronouncing sentence Judge Baylor stated; "I don't believe there was a large amount of trash left, but I don't like the state in which the house was left."

Mrs. Arlene Freeman of Surrey Drive, prosecution witness, stated the house was left in a mess when she visited it after the tenant had left March 10.

Melvin Freeman, manager, collaborated her statement and also denied Mrs. Harris notified him when she was leaving.

Mrs. Harris stated the house was rented by her friend, James Brown, 700 block Edgewood St.

She stated when leaving she left the key with the next door neighbors in order to allow the gas and electric company and the telephone company to remove their properties which were in her name.

Led in evidence by her attorney, Fred London, Mrs. Harris stated she notified Mr. Freeman when she was about to leave the house.

James Brown told the court he rented the house from Mr. Freeman and paid a deposit of $75.

Inmates charge use of 'cruel punishment' claws

The Legal Aid Bureau is presently representing inmates of Maryland Prisons concerning the use of claw handguards.

The claw is described by Attorney Michael Millemann of the Legal Aid Bureau as "cruel and unusual punishment" as stated in the 8th Amendment of the Constitution.

It has been reported by inmates in the prison system that the handguards "can break a man's wrist."

The complaint against the "claw" is before the Inmate Grievance Commission.

If it is not favorably acted upon by the commission, Mr. Millemann said, "court action will be taken to outlaw the use of the handguard."

J. Brown Hardy, director of operations for the Division of Correction said, "The claws are not in general use. They are used as a restraining device, usually to control unruly inmates.

"Three guards were recently suspended from duty for the misuse of the claws on prisoners.

The suspension was later revoked for the technical basis of the charges against the guards."

Mr. Hardy also stated, "We are not the only institution that use the claws. The Maryland Correctional Training Center has five claws among its equipment."

Mr. Hardy stressed that the claws were only used in extreme cases. "We feel that there are times when they must be used."

In addition, Mr. Hardy, said, "no guard is armed as he generally patrols an area, only when it is needed is the officer armed."

Cadilac, purse theft nets 10 years

Two youths each received 10-year prison sentences Wednesday evening after they pleaded guilty to robbing a woman of her Cadillac car and purse at gunpoint.

The sentences were imposed upon Milton Moore, 16, 1800 block W. Fayette St. and Nelson Finney, 16, 4800 block Carmine Ave.

Criminal Court Judge Robert B. Watts withheld sentencing pending further reports on a third defendant, Rodney Lewis, 17, 1600 block Balmour Ct., who also pleaded guilty to armed robbery.

The court was told the three youths used a .22 caliber revolver to rob Mrs. Minnie Matthews, 3300 block Leighton Ave., of her automobile on Dec. 30.

According to Assistant State's Attorney David Saltzman, one youth told the victim to "give me the keys" as Mrs. Matthews was getting into the 1970 car parked in front of her home.

The victim's handbag, containing an unknown amount of money, was also taken from her, evidence revealed.

Police spotted the stolen vehicle a few minutes later and chased the youths, Mr. Saltzman stated.

All three defendants were seen jumping out of the car after it crashed into several automobiles parked in the 900 block of McKean Ave., testimony disclosed.

The Finney and Lewis youths were apprehended a few blocks away and led police officers to the Moore youth's home where he was also arrested and charged, evidence showed.

WICOMICO COUNTY

Segregated schools to lose federal aid

Federal funds for the Wicomico school district may be cut off after a special federal hearing found that the school system is in violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

The action involves some $750,000 in federal funds. It is expected that the decision will be appealed by school board officials. The appeal must be submitted by July 3.

Thomas Pope, the hearing examiner, in his statement said, they are "operating two racially identifiable schools, which they admit," is against the law.

The school board's contention is that black children in the Salisbury school need intensive teaching to prepare them to compete with white children in the fourth and fifth grades, thus the need for the all black school.

In 1970 the Wicomico school district had 19 schools with about 15,000 students, about 30 per cent were black.

D'Alesandro heads college fund drive

Thomas D'Alesandro III, former mayor, is serving as General Chairman of the 1972 Maryland Campaign of the United Negro College Fund.

The purpose of this campaign is to raise $65,000 in the Maryland area to help finance the Fund's 40 member colleges and to allow 44,000 deserving students, including more than 1,000 from this area, to continue their education.

A cocktail party was held at the D'Alesandro residence, 4308 Freeway, Thursday so that citizens could give suggestions on how to reach the goal.
