GROUND BREAKING SOON—Above is an artist's conception of the new Madison Park project to be built on the long-vacant lot at North Ave. between Park and Linden Aves. Ground breaking will be held June 29.

Madison Park North of high interest to over 100,000 area residents

Mayor Schaefer has announced that groundbreaking will be broken June 29 for construction of homes for moderate-income families, shopping facilities including a food market, and community facilities which will hold twenty classrooms on a long-vacant lot at North Ave. between Park and Linden Aves.

The 8.3 acre $5 million development will contain a total of 202 homes. However, over 100,000 area residents will benefit the markets, shops and facilities.

Housing rents will generally be between $120 and $170, and priority for the apartments will be given to families displaced from housing in Madison-Park North.

Names of persons who wish to rent in the development will be taken at the Neighborhood Action Group office at 2202 Brookfield Ave.

Mayor Schaefer hailed the forthcoming start of contruction as a triumph of patience by the community, the Department of Housing and Community Development and the developer in riding out problems facing the entire project.

He said that the result will be, in the words of the architect, "A place that transcends the commonplace and establishes a focus of importance which will lift the entire surrounding neighborhood."

The Mayor congratulated the Neighborhood Action Group, a community Organization in the Reservoir Hill area, for its work with HCD, with the architect, RTKL, Inc., and with the developer, Mid-City Developers, Inc.

The Madison-Park North renewal plans, adopted in 1963 called for a shopping center on the site. The land was acquired and substantially cleared by 1965. Between the 1964 and 1968 the City worked with a group of merchants who had been displaced from the area. By 1969 it became clear that the merchants could not obtain the financing necessary to build a new shopping center.

HCD then contracted with RTKL, Inc., to work with the neighborhood on providing a design for the development of the 3.6 acre site which more adequately responded to the needs of the surrounding community.

The Neighborhood Action Group, headed by Rose Herring and with other leadership provided notably by Sherry Olsen and Mary Beth Banks, was concerned about the crowding of the Reservoir Hill area, and provided neighborhood advice to the architect.

The lot is situated between two neighborhoods, Bolton Hill where renewal is nearly complete, and Reservoir Hill, where it is about to begin.

It was agreed that the development should form a neighborhood focal point, have commercial and community facilities compatible with the adjacent housing, maximum open space, economical building design, a number of private entrances at street level, and adequate parking.

As the housing required a federal subsidy, an application for a letter of feasibility was filed in July of 1969

Model Cities contract likely to go to CEBO

The Council For Equal Business Opportunity (CEBO) may soon extend its influence over minority businessmen in general and Model Cities programs in particular.

Model Cities officials say CEBO is a likely candidate to get a large federally funded program to be taken out of the hands of the Businessmen's League of Baltimore on June 30.

The Model Cities' $355,000 contract with the Businessmen's League for the operation of the Model Cities Economic Development Program was cancelled last week.

Mrs. Elva Edwards, acting director of Model Cities, told the AFRO the League's handling of the program to arrange loans with minority businessmen has had "limited impact" in Model Cities neighborhoods.

"The 14 loans made through the program, she remarked, have not led to many new jobs and beneficial services to the neighborhoods.

The program director for the League, Karl T. Wilson, found that reasoning "ridiculous."

He explained the program provides for the making of $750,000 worth of loans each year and asked the question:

"Do you think using all this money would have much an impact in Model Cities areas? Giving $750,

Rep. Mitchell asks Mayor to remove Schoonfield

Congressman Parren J. Mitchell has asked Mayor Schaefer to "fire" City Jail Warden Schoonfield go, dismiss him.

In a letter written Thursday, Rep. Mitchell states,

"I have followed the situation at City Jail very closely and I share your concern.

"I concur fully with the position taken by City Councilman Emerson H. Juliani, whose knowledge of the situation at the jail is quite comprehensive.

Neighborhood Youth Corps workers start jobs Monday

Over 7,700 young people in Baltimore will start their summer jobs as members of the Neighborhood Youth Corps In-School Summer Program on Monday.

Employment is made possible through use of federal funds provided by the Department of Labor.

The federal grant will be used to provide work experience to young people who will receive $1.60 an hour for 30 hours a week or approximately 234 hours during the entire summer.

The purpose of the program is to provide needy youth with a chance to earn the money they need to provide the necessities for their return to school in the fall and for some recreational experience during the summer that they might otherwise be unable to afford.

According to Dr. Joseph A. Valle, director of the In-School Neighborhood Youth Corps, the 7,700 enrollees will be assigned jobs in city, state, federal and other non-profit community agencies.

Assistance will be given by N.Y.C. aides at approximately 800 work stations throughout the city and at the Social Security Administration in Woodlawn.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps offices are presently located in Dunbar Community High School.

There were more than 20,000 applications for the job opportunities have been reviewed by Dr. Valle, Mrs. Helen F. Chamberlain, coordinator; Mr. Lenwood Johnson, assistant coordinator; Mrs. Viola Shaw, field supervisor, and the small clerical staff consisting of Miss Lillian A. Campbell, Mrs. Diane W. Jenkins, Miss Marilyn O. Mayo, Mrs. Margaret L. Allen and Miss Mary Q. Johnson.

This group had been augmented in May by 5 additional assistants made available through the Mayor's Office of Manpower Resources, consisting of two technical aides and three clerical assistants from the Public Employment Program.

Douglass grad chosen for world band tour

Lloyd Barry Jr., 17, has been chosen for the 1972 United States Collegiate World Band Tour.

LLOYD BARRY JR. going on world tour

A June graduate of Douglass High School, Mr. Barry was screened and selected from some 2,000 highly qualified high school and college musicians.

This band is a fully symphonic concert organization numbering between 90 and 120 performers that travel each summer to various parts of the world to present concerts to foreign audiences.

Membership in the group is limited to juniors and seniors in high school and college.

The selection process involved an evaluation of each student's solo performances, his position in his school, his private instruction record and an audition tape.

Mr. Barry played the trumpet in the Douglass band and can also play the piano. He will leave on July 28 for a 21-day tour with the band.

The group will tour Europe, Scandanavia and Russia. They will also visit Belgium, Denmark, Switzerland, France and England.

Concerts will be presented in Antwerp, Copenhagen, Moscow, Lucerne, Zurich, Brunnen, Paris and London. The band concerts are selected with care and includes band compositions from the classical, romantic, baroque and contemporary areas.

Mr. Barry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Barry Sr. and lives on Beaumont Ave. He has one sister, Miss Sophonie Berry, and is a member of Waters AME Church. At his graduation he received the Modern Music Masters Award and Distinguished Musician Certificate.

LOOK AROUND YOU

Fire Department seeks end of all-white doctor staff

"Look Around You" last week on a complaint from an AFRO reader, investigated the city police medical team and found only one of the department's nine doctors is a black physician.

Besides being on emergency call for police injuries, these physicians have the do-or-die power to accept or reject young men, who wish to join the police force, on grounds of their meeting police physical health standards.

This week, "Look Around You" extends the look at doctors in city departments to include the Fire Department and the Civil Service Commission.

Presently, according to acting Deputy Chief Martin McMahon, the Fire Department has four full-time doctors at its infirmary on the second floor of 22 Engine House, 14 S. Gay St.

Chief McMahon stated he $11,000 chief surgeon job and the three $8,710 doctor jobs are filled by white physicians as are the three, non-paid, auxiliary (or emergency) doctors.

But at Tuesday's Fire Board at the suggestion of the black Vulcan Blazers union, the commissioners moved towards alleviating their all-white doctor picture.

The Fire Board is requesting the Board of Estimates to approve hiring a

Fireman faces firing

The head of the Fire Department's repair shop, 1407 Key Hwy., may be fired if the Fire Board at a special public hearing Tuesday finds him guilty of one or more of the seven charges placed against him at this Tuesday's board meeting.

Fire Board President Howard Owens announced Capt. Charles R. Warfield, 3200 block Evergreen Way, was charged with violating department rules 'as a result of facts uncovered in a special report prepared by the City Auditor, dated June 9, 1972, and certain statements made by you to your superiors."

Charges include allegedly having "allowed the repairing of privately owned vehicles on or about department quarters," having

Moore-Brock wedding a beautiful event

with Lula Mackay

By CANDY LANE
(Substituting for Mrs. Mackay on Vacation)

From the time the lovely bride entered the church until she and her handsome new husband boarded a jet at Friendship for a Bahamas honeymoon, there was beauty everywhere.

It was one of the prettiest weddings this town has seen in many a day on Saturday at 1 in Bethel AME Church when Miss Jacqueline Brooks Moore and Odell Brock Jr., exchanged vows. The Rev. Frank M. Reid Jr., of Washington presided at the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stephen Moore of Loyola Southway, was given in marriage by her father.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Brock Sr. of Leewood Ave., Catonsville.

For her wedding, the bride was perfectly beautiful in a princess-lined skimmer of white English net, brocaded with Venice lace. The gown was sleeveless with a low, scalloped, portrait neck. Her sweep train was attached.

Her long matilda headpiece and veil were of white silk illusion, brocaded with white matching lace.

Her bridesmaids, including her sister, Mrs. Jean Peterson, who was matron of honor, wore princess-lined gowns of nylon organza in a colorful poppy print. The dresses had high necks and soft capelets over the shoulders.

The attendants wore matching wide-brimmed hats, and carried spring flowers.

They were Misses Blaudette Allor, France Ladmirault, and Barbara Bennett.

Irving Bett was the best man. Ushers were Manson Brock, the bridegroom's brother; and Marcus Towns and William Moore.

Miss Gina House, the bride's godchild, was flower-girl. She wore a floor-length white eyelet gown trimmed in blue. She carried a basket of red rose petals.

The bride's mother was lovely in a street-length, mint green ensemble of silk and wool, with matching accessories.

The mother of the bridegroom wore an eye-catching blue dress with matching jacket and accessories.

Some 300 guests heard the couple's vows and were then hosted at an elegant sit-down reception at the Fountaine Bleu on Erdman Ave.

The five-tier wedding cake was centered on a lace-skirted table with blue lights glowing from underneath.

A carousel of lilies-of-the valley was centered on the buffet table which was also lace skirted with blue lights.

Following the reception, the couple winged their way to Paradise Island in the Bahamas.

For the honeymoon trip, both wore white pants suits with red shirts that had white collars, white hats and white boots.

The bride is a graduate of Western High School and the St. Agnes School of Nursing. She is head nurse on the medical and surgical floor of St. Agnes Hospital.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Catonsville Sr. High School and attended Morgan State College. He is co-partner, with his father, in the Brock Fuel Oil Co.

Among out-of-town guests were, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Hodge of Winston-Salem, N.C.; Mrs. Hodge is the bride's aunt, and Mrs. Bertha Hodge of Vicksburg, Miss.

Also present were Maj. and Mrs. Ronald J. Pozzi, of Hurlburnfield, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Bethune, Cliffwood, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Scurry, Seat Pleasant, Md., and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Peace, Oakland, N.J.

Also Mrs. James Schanck, Cliffwood, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Powells, Tampa, Fla.; Mr. Voyce Hebbner, New Castle, Del., and Miss Kathy Bradsher, Hurdle Mills, N.C.

Mrs. Howard H. Murphy, (Louise), coordinated the wedding.

Sigma Gamma Rho's closing meeting for the season was filled with genuine enthusiasm for the approaching "Golden Boule" which will be held in Indianapolis, Ind.

The meeting included a report made by Mrs. Sharon Jones concerning undergraduates who will soon be initiated into the graduate chapter. This was followed by the election of officers.

Special recognition was given Mrs. Mary West Miller for her accomplishments in the field of fine art.

The order of business was climaxed with wrapping up plans for the group's Hawaiian Luau Dance, set for October at the Le Fontaine Bleu.

Their card party which will be held in September at Levenson and Klein West was also discussed.

By the way, that was a successful "Day at the Races" Sigma Gamma Rho sponsored while Pimlico Race Track was open. The proceeds went to the group's scholarship fund.

The seventh race was named the "Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority Race" and Mrs. Patelle G. Harris, basileus, presented a plaque to the jockey, Carlos Jiminez, and the trainer, Herbert Jones, of the winning horse.

Mrs. Gladys Brown, chairman of the activity, assisted in the presentation which was made in the "Winner's Circle."

Mesdames Jeannette Shamwell and Theresa Cooper recently returned from a gala week on the University of Chicago campus.

They were taking part in the festivities of the 50th reunion of Mrs. Shamwell's 1922 graduating class.

Activities planned by the university alumni association and visiting friends in the "Windy City" kept them busy, busy, busy.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. Ulysses Petty of Swale Road has announced the engagement of her daughter, Janet Maria, to Bernard Cromes, son of Mrs. Eugene Cromes Tillman and Grover Cromes, of Fort Pierce, Fla.

Miss Petty holds a master's degree from Morgan State College.

Mr. Cromes, also a graduate of Morgan, is attending law school at Georgetown University in Washington.

No August wedding is planned.

The engagement of Miss Anita L. Ruffin to George C. Hendricks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Hendricks of Hendondon Ave., has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Elaine Bowen of Edmondson Ave., and her father, Robert Ruffin of N. Castle St.

Miss Ruffin, a graduate of Douglass High School, is employed with the Community Action Agency as a community organizer.

Mr. Hendricks, a graduate of Henderson N.C. High, is employed by Pritcher and King Company.

Wedding date is July 1, 2 p.m., at Providence Baptist Church.

The loveliest of announcements received this week was that of Mrs. Almeta V. Dobyns and Mr. Griffin L. Dobyns, telling of the July 1 wedding of their daughter,

Pivots install new officers

Senator Clarence Blount presided over the Pivots' spiring installation ceremony for the 1972-73 officers last Saturday at the lovely Norfolk Ave. home of pivot Gerri Desbordes.

Each candidate was presented a rose, the clubs' symbol to be held in the right hand and copy of the Pivots' prayer in the left upon which they took their oath of offices.

Senator Blount, also a pivoteer, began the ceremony with a short history of Installation Services from their origin to present day.

The newly elected officers were then toasted with pink champagne, and the group swung into other activities of the closing affair.

The new officers include: Mesdames Vera Carrington, president; Helen Gatlin, first vice president; Frances Murphy, second vice president; Gordine Blount, recording secretary; Helen Birt, corresponding secretary; Joan Phillips, financial secretary, and Minnie Smoot, treasurer.

The next phase of the program was an outdoor crab feast, then back in doors because of showers, adult games under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Fox; which included square dancing, the Polka, etc.

The Pivots were colorfully dressed in long bright-bold prints, skirts, and pants.

Mrs. Vera Carrington wore a long blue and white floral cotton with long sleeves. Mrs. Helen Gattis was in bright red and yellow flowing pants with the "V" slit up the front of each leg.

Mrs. Frances Murphy wore a long bold red skirt with a solid black body shirt and Mrs. Gordine Blount was in a smart red, white, blue, linen skirt with solid blue top.

Mrs. Helen Birt was in beige linen pants with mint green mod top; Mrs. Joan Phillips in bright red, yellow and black squares giving the ultra bold-mod effect while Mrs. Minnie Smoot wore a demure orange and yellow cotton with puffed sleeves and nipped waistline.

Mrs. Jeanne Davis wore bright daises on dark blue skirt with all white body shirt; Mrs. Lillian Jones was in a long lovely soft gold, and orange polished cotton with matching orange shoes and Mrs. Helen Whittaker was in a deep rose and gold skirt "V" slit up the front with a matching deep rose jersey top.

Mrs. Gerri Desbordes wore a demure soft brown and yellow cotton with capped sleeves and snug waistline of wide matching band, Mrs. Pat Seldon wore a long soft brown and yellow blocks button down the front with the new braless look and Mrs. Janet Wooldridge was in a bright green orchid, yellow print pants set.

Following the buffet, the high point of the evening came when each Pivot presented her husband with a Father's Day Gift.

The group elected Mrs. Janet C. Wooldridge to run for the national office of journalist at the June conclave in Pittsburgh.

JUNE 26

The Symphony's Music Director, Sergiu Commissiona, will lead the Orchestra in Berlioz's "Corsaire Overture," the Brahm "Double Concerto" and Tachaikowsky's "Fifth Symphony."

Camp Puh 'Tok opens its gates this Sunday

Camp Puh'Tok operated by The Salvation Army Boys' Clubs of Baltimore will open its gates to boys between the ages of 7 years to 18 on Sunday.

Traditionally operating in two-week periods, a few boys will be accepted for one-week periods this summer at $34 per week.

Special horsemanship courses will also be in operation for boys 14 years and over. Horsemanship merit badge skills will be taught to this age group at the Top Bar Ranch section of camp.

Information may be secured about Puh'Tok at 889-4025 or any of the three Salvation Army Boys' Clubs.

Art Museum planning auctions

The women's committee of The Baltimore Museum of Art will sponsor an auction next October to raise funds for its many educational projects at the museum.

An Action Auction will be held Oct. 26, preceded by cocktails and buffet supper.

Items available at the Action Auction will include one week at the Grand Hotel in Rome, two weeks at Villa a Vigia in Algarve, Portugal, two weeks' use of the 60-foot yacht Charnice, in either the Bahamas or the Chesapeake Bay area.

A "Silent Auction," open to the general public, will be held at the museum the week beginning Oct. 17. Items for the silent auction have been donated by local businesses.
