Students Give 'Queen' Principal 24 Roses

"It's not what you do so much, but what you get out of doing it."

Mrs. Blanche R. Powell, principal of elementary school No. 217, quoted a statement she often heard from her parents, who were also educators, as she discussed her June retirement from the field of education.

Mrs. Powell, formerly Miss Blanche Redmond, who started her teaching career in Sept., 1934 at School No. 105, has taught at four schools and been principal of five.

And according to her, she has gotten a lot out of what she has been doing.

"I'm very grateful that I've had the chance to work with so many children and gotten to know so many parents and teachers," she said.

Her memory, she says, is full of good relationships with students as well as concerned parents and teachers.

And as testimony of the love of her students, their parents and teachers she has 24 long-stemmed roses.

She says the 24 classes in her school, some of their parents and teachers in the school planned a surprise "Queen For a Day" ceremony for her in the school's auditorium.

Completely surprised, she was escorted into the auditorium amid clapping, and seated on a throne on the stage.

The school's glee club sang, and a child representing each class gave a speech and presented Mrs. Powell with a long-stemmed rose.

At an earlier program in her honor, she was showered with gifts from well wishers.

The invocation and benediction at that program were given by the Rev. William E. Brown and Clarence Govans, respectively.

The Rev. Mr. Brown is presently pastor of St. Johns Methodist, Patapsco, Md., but was formerly pastor of Mt. Winan United Methodist, which Mrs. Powell attends.

The Rev. Mr. Govans is pastor, at Mt. Winan.

Married to Mark A. Powell, manager of the Cherry Dale Apartments in Cherry Hill, Mrs. Powell allowed that she may even follow in her husband's footsteps. He also retired, but then went back to work.

However, this September, she hopes to go to Germany to visit her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Bolling, whose husband is stationed at Ramstein Air Force Base.

Mr. Powell also has a granddaughter, Mrs. Verneta Perez, who lives in Pleasantville, N.J.

Her mother, Mrs. Dora V. Redmond taught for 30 years, and her father John I. Redmond, was principal of Perryman School for 48 years.

The honoree graduated from Frederick Douglass High School and attended the old Coppin Normal School, now Coppin State College.

She received her B.S. in education from Morgan State College, M.A. in education from New York University and a certificate for advanced study in Education from Johns Hopkins University.

Participating in numerous civic, community and educational associations, she is a member of and has held or is presently holding office in:

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Annie S. Banks Chapter No. 42 Order of Eastern Star, Public School Teachers' Association, National Education Association, Maryland State Department Elementary Principals, National Elementary Principals Association and Public School Administrators and Supervisors Association.

When the AFRO visited her Lynchester Rd. home, dozens of cards, not to mention the numerous gifts, were found as testimony to her years of devotion and service.—C. NEWSON

NEW TOASTMASTERS—Mrs. Roberta Moore (l), claims adjuster and Mrs. Anne Mauthe (r), both of the Social Security Administration, accept manuals-of-membership into the Security Toastmasters Club. Greeting the new members is Castomal (Alex) Alexander, president of the club which meets at SSA's Woodlawn complex.

SSA's service is appealing for sitters

The Social Security Administration's Child Care Referral Service is looking for persons in the community who are interested in watching children in their homes.

"Particularly important are people who can keep children in their homes during the summer months when schools are not in session," says William Obrlecht, director.

The Referral Service was established to assist Social Security employees in Baltimore who are trying to locate suitable day care centers and related information.

• • •

"The Service is also identifying problems common to large numbers of the agency's employees and will work toward eliminating such trouble areas," he added, "and it makes no difference whether an employee needs child care on a regular basis or just temporarily. It also doesn't matter what ages the children are because we're here to help employees solve their child care problems in any way that we can."

Interested persons should call 594-3318.

Miss W. L. Queen wins journalism scholarship

MISS WANDA QUEEN is the winner of a $1,500 scholarship from Sigma Dela Chi, professional journalism fraternity. She attends UMBC.

Miss Wanda Lorraine Queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James Queen, is one of the first black students from the Baltimore area to receive a $1,500 scholarship from the Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity.

The award was made last Friday at a black tie banquet at the National Press Club in Washington.

Each year the fraternity awards five $1,500 scholarships to deserving students of high academic achievement who are attending schools in the Maryland-District of Columbia area.

This year five winners were selected from some 85 applicants.

• • •

Miss Queen is a 1969 honor graduate of Forest Park High School. She will use her scholarship to complete her senior year at the University of Maryland, College Park Campus, where she is working towards a B.S. degree in journalism.

She is also a university staff member for the Department of Resident Student Life.

• • •

She has received many other journalism awards, including: Journalist of the Year by the Maryland Scholastic Press Advisors Association where she was a tri-state winner representing Md., D.C. and Del.

In addition, the National Scholastic Press Association awarded her the National Scroll for the Promise of Greatness in Journalism at their Texas convention.

She was also awarded two plaques by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association for outstanding writing achievements.

Miss Queen was inducted in the Hall of Fame at Calverton Junior High School and presented in the 1969 Cotillion by the Girl Friends, Inc.

She is also active in the Sunday School Department of the Christian Memorial Church where she sings on the choir and is a member of the Flower Circle.

ENJOYING DRINKS after elegant dinning at the O.I.C. Dinner-Dance, held Friday, are Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt James and Mr. and Mrs. Edward McQuay. Approximately 350 persons attended the affair.

Miss Billie Wilder Weds Richard Partlow

MISS BILLIE ANN WILDER and Mr. Richard Albert Partlow exchanged wedding vows June 10 in ceremonies held at the bride's Roundview Road home. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billie Wilder. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Thomas of N. Augusta Ave.

In the intimate setting of her parents' Roundview Rd. home in Cherry Hill, Miss Billie Ann Wilder became the bride of Richard Albert Partlow on June 10.

For the ceremony the bride wore a white floor-length gown of lace with seeded pearls. Her shoulder-length veil was also trimmed with lace.

She was given in marriage by her father, Billy Wilder.

Miss Claudette Wilder was maid of honor, and Miss Jennifer Smith, E. Pennsylvania Ave., Towson, was bridesmaid.

George Dunham was the bridegroom's best man, and Anthony Wilder was usher.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Thomas of N. Augusta Ave. and graduated from Carver High School. He also attended the Community College of Baltimore.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wilder, graduated from Southern High School. She attended Coppin State College.

The Rev. Calvin Thomas, the bridegroom's father, officiated. The couple is at home on Loyola Northway.

O. I. C. gala enjoyed by all

The Opportunities Industrialization Center lived up to their motto, "We Help Ourselves" when they hosted a gala charity "Dinner-Dance, Friday at the Le Fontaine Bleu, Erdman Ave.

The affair featured open bar and complete dinner.

The menu consisted of hot roast beef, shrimp creole, oven baked chicken, Swedish meat balls, garden fresh peas, buttered corn, mashed potatoes, light and dark rye bread and buttered rolls.

Music was furnished by the Jimmie Smith band. An extra attraction was "THE OUTCAST."

Three of the members of the "Outcast" are OIC trainees. The trainees started courses at the University of Maryland on June 18 thanks to OIC.

Local and out-of-town guests attended the affair.

The committee for the dance was headed by Mrs. Bernice Bradshaw who was assisted by Leonard Wheeler, Edward Kane, Mrs. Anita Hunter, Rondy Griffin, Mrs. Alzora Childs and Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor.

Rev. Harold L. Dobson is executive director of OIC.

Miss Shockley feted at debutante party

Miss Cynthia Gayle Shockley, a voice student at Hampton Institute, took time from her busy summer schedule at the institute to attend a beautiful debutante party given in her honor by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Little (the former Charlotte Baylor Shockley).

Cynthia is a recent Me-De-So debutante. The party, held in the beautiful, new and spacious home of the Littles on June 10, was catered in dresden blue and white by Mrs. Mary Knutt, beloved mother of the Reverend Marion C. Bascome of the Douglas Memorial Church.

Mrs. Knutt is renowned in Pensecola, Chicago and Baltimore for her talent in the culinary arts. Needless to write, the lovely and delicious hors d' Oeuvres and the pretty centerpiece were the topics of conversation throughout the evening.

• • •

The centerpiece was china bust of a young girls containing blue and white sweetheart roses, statics, and baby breath artistically arranged in her garden hat. It was a gift from one of the family's many friends.

The punch, a may fruited delight, was spiked with champaign and served by Cynthia's aunt, Mrs. Denise Baylor, in a silver punch bowl. And attractive strawberry ice ring mold floated in its center.

Receiving guest for the evening, in addition to Cynthia and her parents, were Dr. and Mrs. John Braxton, her Me-De-So sponsor, and Mrs. Modestine Cox, her god mother.

• • •

Mrs. Ruby Smith, wife of Robert (Bob) Smith, Director of Special Projects at Morgan State College, introduced the guests.

Hostesses, each wearing a blue and white carnation corsage, were Dr. Rosemary Bengal, Mrs. Lois Mitchell-Poole, Mrs. Rober Smith (Bob), Mrs. William Baylor (Denise) and Edweana Robinson.

Other guests were: Mrs. Mignone Coates, Kevin Brown, Mrs. Mary Lipscomb, Mrs. Vivian Cauch, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, William Baylor, Robert Smith, Miss Rosie Greene, Mrs. Mamie J.
