4 Loyola educators cited

Four faculty members at Loyola College have been named Outstanding Educators of America for 1972.

They were selected for the honor on the basis of their civic and professional achievements.

Francis P. Fairbank, chairman of the department of education since 1933, has been instrumental in developing a number of programs, notably the graduate special education programs which began this spring on the Columbia campus, and the educational semester and educational center for undergraduates on the Baltimore campus.

The Rev. Michael A. Lorenzo, has been chairman of the department of biology since 1958, and is chairman of the Pre-medical Evaluation Committee. He is pre-medical and pre-dental advisor. From 1943 to 1946, the Rev. Mr. Lorenzo served in the U.S. Naval Reserve/Hospital Corps, attaining the rank of Pharmacist's Mate 2nd Class. He was ordained in 1962, and has taught at Loyola since 1954.

Francis Xavier Spiegel is assistant professor of physics and director of engineering. He initiated a course in laboratory statistics offered jointly by the [illegible] departments and [illegible] a course in [illegible] level [illegible] Spiegel [illegible] of [illegible] scientific journals [illegible] several scientific papers. He [illegible] tourist at Loyola for [illegible] years.

Edward A. Doehler, professor of history and chairman of the Faculty Affairs Committee, has administered at Loyola and Mount St. Agnes since 1931, filling positions from instructor to department chairman. Each year those chosen outstanding educators are featured in a national awards volume, "Outstanding Educators of America."

Nominations for the program are made by officials of colleges and universities including presidents, deans and department chairmen.

MRS. MADIE MITCHELL
delegate to Republic National Convention

Mrs Mitchell to attend convention

"I am thrilled to death. I lead my ticket in my district."

Those were the words of Mrs. Madie Mitchell who was elected as a delegate to the Republic National Convention from the Seventh Congressional District. She will leave on August 21, to attend the convention in Miami, Florida.

Mrs. Mitchell who is a housewife, has taken a six-week course in political education. She is an elected official of the Republic State Central Committee. A member of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women and the assistant treasurer of the organization.

For two years, she was the chairman of the Baltimore City Republican Regional. Mrs. Mitchell is also a board member of the YMCA, president of the mother's group at the YMCA and a life member of Provident Hospital Auxiliary. For 16 years, she has been a foster mother.

A member of Enon Baptist Church, her husband is John Mitchell and she has four sons, Barnard, Isaac, Darlen Davis and Fred Elliott.

2 Carver coeds at seminar

Misses Rochelle Turner and Darlene Moore, two Carver Vocational-Technical High School coeds studying practical nursing, have been selected to participate in the educational outing, "Weekend with Physicians."

Sponsored by the Central Maryland Heart Association, the outing will be held at St. John's College in Annapolis June 23-25.

"Weekend With Physicians" is designed to give students who have decided upon, or are seriously considering a future in the medical field an opportunity to hear medical specialists discuss their professions. "Weekend" will also afford the students a chance to ask any questions they may have.

Miss Turner hopes to enter a pre-med program. Rochelle delights in studying the functioning of the human and views the human organism as the almost flawless living system.

A lover of horseback riding and swimming, Rochelle, like Miss Moore, enjoys watching TV's two most popular doctor shows, "Marcus Welby" and "Medical Center." Though she is admittedly partial toward the latter, favoring it because of the greater medical lore it seems to constantly offer. Residing with a guardian, Mrs. Edith Mosby, Miss Turner lives on Mondawmin Ave.

Miss Moore, a top-flight Carverette who loves working with youngsters, plans to become a pediatrician. When not pursuing her pre-med hobbies — sewing, crocheting and baseball — the 17-year-old coed spends considerable time studying or watching her favorite TV series, which are, not surprisingly, "Marcus Welby" and "Medical Center."

Miss Moore lives on Prestman St., with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Howard.

Sinai makes awards to 'Nurses of Year'

BALTIMORE — Members of the Sinai Hospital nursing staff have elected Mrs. Janice Fuller, R.N., and Mrs. Doris Heath, LPN, as the hospital's "Nurses of the Year."

They were honored with cash, awards and citations at a special luncheon, May 23, in the hospital's Zamoiski Auditorium.

Mrs. Fuller, assistant head nurse in the emergency room, was also cited several years ago for exceptional performance of duty. She is a graduate of Sinai's School of Nursing ('66).

Mrs. Heath is in Sinai's Coronary Care Unit, and came to Sinai in 1970 from Provident Hospital. She is a graduate of the Baltimore City Department of Education.

Dr. Arnold B. Kurlander, executive vice-president of the hospital, presented the awards.

The "Nurse of the Year" awards were established in 1964 by the late Harry [illegible], executive director of the Associated Jewish Charities and Welfare Fund, in recognition of outstanding nursing service. The nurses are selected through secret ballot by the nursing staff.

Hastings elected trustee at Johns Hopkins

Charles E. Hastings, president of a Virginia industrial and electronic instrument firm, has been elected an alumni trustee of the Johns Hopkins University. The Board of Trustees consists of 35 members, 12 of whom are chosen from among the University's alumni to serve [illegible].

A native Baltimorean, Mr. [illegible] graduated from Baltimore Polytechnic Institute in 1939. He received at Johns Hopkins and earned a Bachelor of Engineering [illegible].
