BEAUTIES FROM THE STATE participated in the Miss Black Teenage Maryland Pageant held Sunday at the Civic Center. The winner, Dierdre Watters, left, 16, from Harford Co. will fly to New York to compete in the national Miss Black America pageant on July 28. In second panel is Pamela Garnett, 14, first runnerup from Baltimore City. Second runnerup was Deborah J. Crable third, from left, 14, from Howard c. Other contestants were Tanya E. Holmes, fourth from left, 14, Prince Georges Co; Evonne L. Skinner, center,14, Talbot Co: Ursula J. Chambers, 15, Anne Arundel Co.; Denise Diggs, 14, Baltimore Co.; and Tiera Slaughter, 13, Carroll Co. (See more photos on the pageant by Benjamin M. Phillips IV in next week's AFRO).

Maryland girls compete for crown from area counties, city

MRS. LULA MACKAY, the AFRO's gracious woman's editor, underwent emergency surgery Sunday. Hospital officials say her condition is "satisfactory", and close friends who have visited say she is much improved and doing "beautifully." She is in North Arundel Hospital, 301 Hospital Dr., Glen Burnie, Md. Presently she is accepting no phone calls and visitors are limited.

Some eight lovely young ladies representing Baltimore City and seven surrounding counties competed for the title of Miss Black Teenage Maryland at the Civic Center on Sunday.

All the girls, ranging from 14-16-years-old, held titles of Miss Black Teenage from the area they represented, but only one teenage will represent this state at the national Miss Black Teenage America Beauy Pageant to be held July 28 on Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum in New York City.

The winnejr was charming Dierdre Watters, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Watters of 321 Williams St. in Harford Co.

Miss Minna Whittaker, the 1971 winner, crowned Dierdre Miss Black Teenage Maryland.

Among the many prizes she will receive will be at $1,500 Self Achievement Award; an expense-paid trip to Hollywood to appear on the Courtship of Eddie's Father, a sewing machine, a 12-inch TV, radio $250 in gift certificates," record albums, jewelry and original gown to wear in the national pageant designed and donated by James Hopkins.

Also, her trilip to New York will be paid for by WWIN.

All of the contestants were given long-stem roses, beauty kits, record albums and a carton of Pepsi Cola.

Dierdre is a 10th grader at Bel Air High and is secretary of the NAACP Youth Council, Harford Co. branch.

She ranked highest in most categories which were judged on appearance, personality and achievement and performing talent.

Frocked in formal evening gowns, the girls were introduced by Mrs. Johnson as they were being judged on appearance. In the next segment of the program they wore casualware at which time they personally introduced themselves and told the 400 guests what their ambitions were and what they most enjoyed doing in their spare time.

Finally, the contestants were judged on their performing talents. Misses Crable, Garnett, Chambers and Watters danced; Miss Skinner sang an original song entitled "Let's Make American the Beautiful, and Miss Diggs and Holmes recited from the works of Paul L Dunbarbar and Langston Hughes.

Temperature soaring? Cool it, with cool and juicy, sweet and flavorful watermelon. Now in seasonally plentiful supply, the inimitable thirsa quencher is one of the best values at the produce counter, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service. If you're buying a cut melon, pick a firm, fresh, bright-colored beauty to enjoy it at its best. Dry mealy flesh or watery stringy flesh usually are signs of an over-ripe or old melon. Stay away from melons with a hard white streak running lengthwise through the flesh, it's a conditon known as "white heart." Look at the seeds for another clue to ripeness, dark brown or black seeds usually mean the melon is fully mature. And a thin rind is preferable, a thick rind is wasteful.

Ofter you may get an especially good buy on a whole melon. Then it's harder to tell what it will be like when you cut it open.

For some indication as to ripeness, look for a symmetrical shape and a velvety bloom, a dull rather than shiny surface.

Notice the underside of the melon, if ripe, it's apt to be turning from white or pale green to a light-yellowish color.

* * *

Now what to do with that wonderful watermelon?

Most people prefer it just as is, cut in a thick slice across or in a wedge to be eaten by biting deep into the dripping juicy flesh or more daintily with knife and fork.

Another good way to serve it is diced for a fruit salad. Or scoop out the flesh, dice or ball it and combine with other fruits and melons, then replace in the boat-like shell, a sumptuous creation for a party.

* * *

For a refreshing dessert or snack on a real hot day, by all means try this easy yet elegant WATERMELON CUP, a fine dish for a festive meal.

Take three cups watermelon balls, two cups sliced peaches, one cup strawberries and two cups white wine. Combine fruits. Add wine. Refrigerate for two hours. Turn into a serving dish.

Beauty Bit — In the summertime, are you fit-to-be-tied with your hair?

If you are, maybe it's time you did something to tie your hair to look fit. If it sounds complicated, it's not.

When your hair's all wet it usually looks unkempt and scraggly, but what if there was a way to have a pretty "do" when wet that looks just as pretty as it does when it's dry?

The magic word is braids. Braids for short hair, braids for long hair, either way the resulting look is fetching and eye-catching.

After a dip in the pool or ocean, spray your hair with a spray-on creme rinse. It will leave your hair with no more tangles and help you create a shiny, silky, super hairdo when it's dry without any ugly ridges.

Next, prepare a few small rubber bands and a couple of ribbons.

* * *

If your hair is short, make small topsy-like braids sticking out from your scalp, or try two pigtail braids right behind your ears.

For longer hair, leave a few loose sections of hair in the front to frame your face. Make one big braid in the back and loop it up to the crown of your head. Fasten it with a bobby pin or clip.

Next make small tendril braids out of the hair around your face and leave them hanging loose. The effect is mystical and feminine, and oh so pretty for a relaxing day at the beach.

Dollars and Sense — If every year in the spring cleaning time you toss "junk" you may be throwing out a tax deduction or two.

If you give the things to a recognized charity you're entitled to a charitable deduction, the size depending on the fair market value of the property at the time it is donated.

Ask for a written appraisal from the charity to be on firm ground, suggests Prentice Hall, publisher of tax information.

Day Care center in Park Heights opens in fall

The Lower Park Heights Coordinating Council announce the opening of the Day Care Center in the Park Heights Area in October.

A meeting of the Day Care Committee will be held on Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Council House, 3001 Park Heights Ave. For further information contact Mrs. A. Byrd, 466-1000.

Information concerning child applications, job opportunities for community aide and facilities will be discussed.

Best wishes for a lovely person, Mrs. Ethel Mae Washington, who has retired from Charles Edward Herget, Inc., after 21 years of service with the insurance consultants.

The firm honored Mrs. Washington last Friday, at a luncheon at which she was presented gifts, including a gold watch, in recognition of her many years of loyal service.

At the time of her retirement, Mrs. Washington had the longest period of employment other than the founder of the organization, Charles E. Herget Sr. She is the first to benefit from the organization's retirement.

Pretty, pretty indeed, as are all the Les Onzes affairs. This time it was a Saturday afternoon pool party at the elegant Hilton Rd. home of Dr. and Mrs. Archie Robinson (Bernice).

Club members brought their favorite dishes and their guests munched and chatted poolside, watching the young fry who spent a long time in the pool.

* * *

No adult, save Clift Gaddis and pretty Mrs. George Taliaferro (Vi), stayed in a long time. (By the way, Mrs. Taliaferro and her husband and their daughters, desert their Columbia home for Bloomington, Ind., next month. Mr. Taliaferro has left his Morgan State dean post to become assistant to the president at the University of Indiana.

But back to the poolside party. Club members and mates about included Messrs. and Mesdames Clifton Gaddis (Helen), Milton Stanley (Doreva) and Joseph Walker, (Grace).

Also Drs. and Mesdames Irving Henry (Edith), John Holmes (Serena), Edward MacDaniels (Bernice), Bernard Christmas (Vashti); Herbert Trader (Harriet) and Elroy Young (Walta), and Mrs. Frances Murphy.
