College sweethearts marry, move to Iowa

MRS. ELLSWORTH LANGHORNE

Two college sweethearts where joined in marriage by the Rev. Richard L. Clifford, June 24, at Sharp Street Methodist Church, Dolphin and Etting Sts.

Miss Selena Billups and Ellsworth Reginald Langhorne Jr. are both graduates of Morgan State College.

Immediately following the wedding the couple left to set up residence in their new apartment in Davenport, Iowa.

Mr. Langhorne is employed as a computer specialist for John Deere Co.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Billups Sr., of W. Pratt St., the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Langhorne Sr. of Commonwealth Ave., Catonsville, Md.

* * *

Miss Madeline Langhorne was maid of honor and Miss Barbara Billups and Linda Langhorne were bridesmaids.

Miss Willene Salem was flower girl and Kelly Prince was ringbearer.

Henry Billups Jr. was best man and Nollie Wood Jr. and Eugene Newman were ushers.

Adults may register now for Community College classes

By DR. SIDNEY KOBRE

Early Bird registration for adults who wish to attend the morning, late afternoon, evening and Saturday classes at the Community College of Baltimore is being held now.

Adults may register now through August 17 for the fall semester courses at CCB.

These classes are sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education. "Prospective students can get the benefit of the more leisurely counseling about their educational programs and career opportunities," said Dean Herman E. Westerberg.

Counselors are available from Monday through Thursday, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., and between 6 and 9 p.m. on the Liberty Campus.

Regular registration will be conducted August 24 and 26, and also on August 28 through the 30th on the campus.

The courses are designed to furnish background and to enable recent high school graduates and mature adults to upgrade themselves in business, industry or the professions. They can explore, too, the possibilities of new careers for themselves.

Surveys taken by the Division of Continuing education show that employes and even supervisors and managers of companies enroll in the evening classes. Accountants, salesmen, office workers. Employes of department stores and specialty shops.

Some are policemen, others are firemen. Still others are bank tellers and government service employes. A number of postal employes are expected to enroll this fall.

In these classes, too, chemists and physicians from hospitals and clinics are joined by homemakers — housewives and mothers — who want to expand their knowledge or prepare for careers after their children are grown.

"These men and women, working in offices, stores and manufacturing plants as well as U.S. county and city departments, are willing to spend one or two evenings a week in systematic, guided study to advance themselves, Dean Westerberg said.

"Those who are working want promotions and security in their jobs—or to earn more money for their families. In these days of steadily increasing prices for food, clothing and shelter, these mature, thinking people find that they need more income. They can get it by being more valuable to their present or future employers."

For brochures about special courses and an illustrated catalogue, giving all courses and the times they are offered, write to Dean Westerberg, Division of Continuing Education, Community College of Baltimore, 2901 Liberty Heights Avenue, 21215, or call 462-5800, Ext. 325 or 326.

Hiram E. Smith Memorial Choir on television

The Hiram E. Smith Memorial Choir of the Mt. Lebanon Baptis Church is just one of the outstanding local gospel singing groups to appear on WBAL-TV's "Jubilee," Friday, July 21, at 7:30-8 p.m. in color on TV 11.

The program will feature To Be Continued, a gospel quartet, singing "Let It Be." Miss Florence Shipman, a music student who has studied on a Fulbright Scholarship in Germany, will sing the spiritual "Honor, Honor."
