AFRO CAMERAS AT FOREST PARK

415 Graduates Have High Hopes For The Future

• THIS IS THE second in a series of June graduations representing all city high and most junior high schools. All AFRO photos by I. Henry Phillips Sr., Benjamin M. Phillips IV and R. Courtney Anderson.

F.P. grads wore green and white

Dressed in green and white caps and gowns, some 415 young men and women received their diplomas at graduation exercises held at the Civic Center on June 9.

It was the 43rd annual commencement of the Forest Park High School. Almost 7,000 excited relatives and friends filled the auditorium to witness the conferring of diplomas.

Charles F. Michael, principal, brought greetings, introduced platform guests, and announced special awards and scholarships.

Dr. Roland N. Patterson, superintendent of city schools emphasized the importance of obtaining as much knowledge in a specific field so that one might become a 'specialist' in his line of work.

"Seek excellence in development," he stressed, "and make quality contributions to our society, the kind we will be able to look forward to."

It was at this point the diplomas were conferred by Mayor Schaefer and assisted, at times, by Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy Moss, school board member.

Northwestern Awards 725 Diplomas To Seniors

Mayor Schaefer shook each graduate's hand

• THE TEN top students in the graduating class of Northwestern High School were Marcia Finkelstein, Robert Ginsberg, Richard Kagen, Shelly Becker, Fran Sugarman Hinda Shapiro, Andrea Axman, Kenneth Sokolow, Sharon Feldstein, Edward Dahne and Sherrie Gold.

Some 725 graduating Northwestern High School seniors sat quietly through the fifth annual commencement exercises, but let out a roar when the ceremonies were finally over on June 1.

The graduation held at the Civic Center was attended by more than 8,000 parents and friends.

Mayor William Donald Schaefer personally congratulated and shook hands with each senior as he awarded diplomas.

Dr. Roland N. Patterson, superintendent of public schools, praised the students saying "Never half of you have been accepted by colleges and universities over the country."

He told the seniors, "Higher education does not necessarily mean four years of college. Everyone of you can pursue some type of higher education."

Miss Kathy Smallwood, president of the graduating class, read her message in verse. Michelle McCrae is vice president of the class; Robin Cherry, secretary; Saundra Rusk, treasurer; and Stephanie Lee, historian.

Edward L. Goldsmith is principal of the school. Earl L. Hagan, J. Donald Murray, Robert Wells and Mrs. Edmonia T. Yates, all are assistant administrators.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, graduates dressed in white and blue gowns, let out a yell and threw ticker tape in the air.
