Watch out for easy puzzle contest-Burch

Maryland residents should be wary of a new 'easy puzzle" contest that offers a holiday vacation as the prize, but is likely to provide only a loss of money.

Attorney General Francis B. Burch told the AFRO this puzzle contest, run by the Magic Holiday Puzzle Club of Hollywood, Calif., is similar to those run by other companies there on which he has previously issued warnings.

The puzzle askas contestants to solve such clues as: "third month; Noah's boat; frozen water; not the south; it comes from a cow," etc.

The first letter of each answer is then used to identify the job of the man who "brings your letters.

"For those who are still stumped, the contestant gets to choose his answer from among 'policeman, fireman or mailman,' and there is a picture making the answer so obvious that any watchdog would growl at it," Mr. Burch said.

"Once the contestant has solved this puzzle, he is asked to return the solution and between $2 and $5 to determine what prize category he wants.

"A close reading of the rules shows that this is the first of six of these puzzles with the probability of ties resulting.

"Up to four tie-breakers may be used, and these are usually so difficult that it would take a computer to get a correct solution," Mr. Burch warned.

"In all, this contest could run a full year before a winner is determined, thus giving the promoters a good profit in just the interest on the entry fees.

"As the first puzzle is so simple, it is likely that there would be thousands of people competing — all required to send in an entry fee, the Attorney General said.

"This company is preying on the pocketbooks of the poor. Those who can least afford to lose the money are usually the unfortunate victims called contestants.

"Only 25 people of the thousands who will enter from all across the country can win. Unless you can really afford to throw away your money, don't spend it on games like this," Mr. Burch said.

Golden nation?

If California were an independent nation, it would rank first in the world in per capita personal income, fourth in the number of autos, sixth in value added by manufacturing and have the seventh largest gross national product in the world. (UPI)
