tions in the Lakeview Apartments. It was said that many apartments were like "little fairy gardens." Each one showing his or her individual talents.

At Lakeview there is a club known as the "Roof Top Garden Club.

These ladies include Mrs. Freda Hall, chairman; Madames Jeanetta Wilson, Emma Logans, Carrie Robinson and Margie Brown.

Attractive were the garden tables in white with blending colors of umbrellas. Each table was adorned with plants. The ladies greeted the judges looking like flower gardens themselves. Each member wore colorful long dresses while others were in bright blouses with flowered skirts.

It was all a festival of color and unusual beauty.

Judges for the contest were Mesdames Inez Kent, Madeline Harding and A. Lemmuel Lewis. They found this a breath-taking experience.

Miss June Page, Miss Black America Md. and a city elementary school teacher will leave Friendship Airport Sunlay at 10 a.m. for one week in Hollywood.

She will be competing with 43 other girls from across the USA for the title of "Miss Black America."

Miss Page will be accompanied by state director of pageant, Mrs. Diana Kane, and Mrs. Kane's 11-year-old son, Darryl.

Mrs. Kane is also fashion coordinator for the national staff of Miss Black America.

Miss Page will perform the song that won her the title — "I Got Love" from the Broadway hit "Purlie."

In the competition Miss Black Maryland will wear a red one-piece bathing suit with matching pumps. Her gown the same green slinky number with an eye catching slit up the side, as she wore in the Md. pageant. Her accessories will be silver.

Some 200 persons participated in the workshop, "Nurses Notes: Goals and Actions Directed" held recently at Crownsville State Hospital.

The registrants represented, Crownsville's own nursing staff, three state hospitals, one out-of-state hospital, one general hospital, two nursing homes, the Glen Burnie Comprehensive Mental Health Clinic, the Anne Arundel County Health Department and a large number of affiliate nursing students and Mental Health Associates.

Mrs. Thelma Harris, RN, MSW and Richard Gelfman, Esq., Legal Aid attorney were also speakers in the program.

Ellen Wassermann, doctoral candidate at the Peabody Conservatory and a student of Leon Fleisher, was first place winner in the International Piano Competition finals held on Aug. 5 at the University of Maryland in College Park. Her cash prize was $250.

The women's committee of the United College Fund recently met at the home of its chairwoman, Mrs. Milton B. Allen, to plan for its 1972 UNCF Gala Charity Ball.

It was decided that the ball will be held on Oct. 22, at the East Wind.

Thomas D'Alesandro III, general chairman of the drive, reports that the proceeds from the charity ball will go towards the $85,000 goal for the Baltimore area.

The ball, according to Mrs. Allen, will be a highlight for those attending. There will be dancing, entertainment, as well as the crowning of a UNCF queen and court. Invitations and tickets will be sent to every segment of the Baltimore community.

With Soror Geraldine Black presiding the Baltimore Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority met recently at the Village of Cross Keys to install new officers.

A high point of the meeting was the singing of a set of lyrics reflecting all of the projects and activities of the past year set to the tune of Battle Hymn of the
