Federal agent tells how Iberry Adams sold him $1,000 worth of heroin

James Aubury (Iberry) Adams, of the 2100 block E. Hoffman St., was found guilty on four counts of distributing unlawful heroin, and aiding and abetting, Tuesday by Federal Court Judge Alexander Harvey II.

Richard L. Jacobs, special agent Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, testified in court that he was introduced by an informant to Adams at the Chicago Billiards, Jefferson and Collington Aves. on Feb. 17.

Agent Jacobs testified that the informant went into the pool hall first and then came back out in a few minutes to take him in to meet Adams, where Adams sold him 45 grams of heroin.

He also testified that he gave the informant $230 to make sure of the sale and it would be purchased by the informant for Agent Jacobs, at a total $1,000.

He also testified he saw Adams at Jefferson and Collington where he was given a sample to test.

An hour later after Agent Jacobs returned from making a test, he then purchased a large quantity of heroin on March 16.

Agent Jacobs testified that he went to the same location April 17, and told Adams that he had a friend from out of town that was interested in buying.

Agent Jacobs testified that Adams made an arrangement to meet back in a half hour, and when he did Adams said he would have something on Apr. 19.

When Agent Jacobs came back on Apr. 19 Adams did not return.

He testified that he had seen Adams again May 5 at the pool room where he had been given another sample of heroin to test.

Agent Jacobs testified that he returned and told Adams he did not like "the stuff" and would like to have something better.

The prosecution brought forth another witness, William Nelson, of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, who testified he observed Agent Jacobs at the Chicago Billiards on several occasions.

He testified that the informant had gone into the pool room and then a few minutes later returned to get Agent Jacobs, and later met with them back at the bureau, where they made tests and filled out reports, Feb. 17.

He testified that he observed another meeting of Agent Jacobs and Adams and later followed Adams by car towards Patterson Park, where Adams met with some unknown males on March 16.

Agent Nelsor. then testified that he observed Jacobs when he went to the pool hall to see Adams and then later met with Jacobs at a prearranged place where they made a field test, May 5.

Adams was arrested May 26 by Special Agent Richard L. Jacobs.

Gerald Kroop, defense attorney, gave arguments saying that counts two and three should be welghed together, but Judge Harvey denied the motion because they were two separate offenses that happened at two different times.

He also argued that entrapment tactics were used on his client, but he was again denied because he had no proof of it.

The defense attorney asked that there be a continuance in order to find the informant, but the motion was denied because the informant could not be located. The prosecuting attorney was Andrew J. Graham. Adams will be sentenced at a later date. — Carol Koger

Mitchell, Lee Want Action From U. of Md.

Cong. Parren J. Mitchell (D., 7th) and Del. Lena K. Lee (D., 4th) are pushing for specific details concerning the University of Maryland's affirmative action program in regard to hiring black people and women.

* * *

In a letter to the University's President, Dr. Wilson K. Elkins, they point out that "We are making an effort to be responsive to the aspirations and demands of our constituency and to assure them that the University of Maryland, as a recipient of state and federal funds, is in compliance with:

1) Executive Order 11246 as amended by Executive Order 11375, 2) Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 3) Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972, 4) Article 49 B of the Annotated Code of Maryland, and 5) Governor's Code of Fair Practices, promulgated Dec., 1970."

The two black lawmakers asked that they be provided with the following data by no later than Friday, Sept. 22:

1) An analysis of the University's current work force for each campus; 2) A list of specific employment goals toward the achievement of equity throughout the various levels of employment.

* * *

3) A list of specific time frames for immediate and long range action consistent with employment goals and available manpower. 4) An organizational chart reflecting the organization of the personnel department as to the requirement of each campus' affirmative action program.

5) A chart which shows the lines of authority and accountability at each campus for such a program. 6) A detailed summary of the University's plans to construct a recordkeeping system which will show an accurate monitoring of discriminatory effects and violations of the affirmative action goals.

* * *

7) A detailed summary of the University's plans to insure that each campus will oversee each of its department's compliance with these goals.

* * *

Both have been working closely with the Black Coalition of the University headed by Howard P. Rawlings.

"The University of Maryland has the largest work force of any state agency," said Rep. Mitchell, "therefore it must be in the vanguard of affirmative action programs for the employment of black citizens."

Vicki Day and Bonita Maydak, C&P Telephone operators

Sometimes it doesn't pay to talk to a pretty girl.

When you ask an operator to place a Long Distance call for you, do you know what the operator does?

Dials it. The same as you can.* Only when an operator does it, it costs you more.

Just look up the dialing instructions in the front of your White Pages Directory.

And when you make long distance calls, dial them yourself.

And save.

People need to talk to each other. C&P people help.

Door cleaner salesmen must be watched

Consumers should be cautious of door-to-door salesmen who are currently promoting an aluminum door cleaner in the Baltimore area, says Maryland Attorney General Francis Burch.

Mr. Burch said that the Consumer Protection Division of his office has received several complaints from home owners who have objected to the sales tactic referred to as "spotting" whereby the salesman sprays a section of the aluminum door with the cleaning agent.

These salemen fail to inform the consumers beforehand that the product significantly changes the color of the aluminum door in the area in which it is applied, and the consumer is put in the position of having either to purchase the product or leave his aluminum door a very noticeable two-tone color.

Mr. Burch further pointed out that this particular aluminum cleaning agent was subjected to chemical analysis and it is strongly recommended that protective gloves be worn during the application of it.
