Miss Orlowski Has Lost Her Discrimination Case

The Maryland Commission on Human Relations has dismissed a complaint by a white woman, Catherine Orlowski, that she is being evicted from her apartment by the management merely because she gave an inter-racial party.

The order was signed by Chairman George D. Solter Aug. 24.

• • •

The complainant is a resident of an apartment at Oakcrest Towers, 2100 block Brooks Dr., Suitland, Md., a development owned by the Scott Management Company.

Miss Orlowski, according to the Hearing Tribunal Decision of the Commission, "Alleged that the notice to vacate was unlawful because it was based upon her association with black guests on various occasions in her apartment and at an interracial party which she sponsored for business associates in the party room of the complex Sat., Apr. 1.

• • •

"The complainant is white, and the evidence shows that there are some black tenants in the facility and that other interracial parties are held at the complex.

"The Commission contended that the notice to vacate was discriminatory since it was based upon direct discrimination and, under similar circumstances (i.e. noise, or pets) other tenants who had not associated with members of the black race had received different and more favorable treatment.

• • •

"The Commission's case rested primarily upon the records of a security officer employed by Scott whose reports contain references to Miss Orlowski's association with blacks, some of which were patently racial slurs and indignities, and that Scott relied on these reports at least in part in its decision to issue its notice to vacate.

"Scott contended that the notice to vacate was not based upon any racial considerations and that it was 'in keeping with the lease,' which gave either party the right to terminate upon 45 days written notice to the other without explanation.

• • •

"It further contended that it issued the notice because Miss Orlowski maintained a cat in her apartment, about which there had been at least two complaints and which was in violation of the lease.

"The party of Apr. 1 had been so noisy that it evoked three complaints from other tenants, three warnings from the security officer and ultimately required the Prince Georges County Police to terminate the party between 2:30 and 3 a.m. Apr. 2."

"We are unable to find that the Commission has met the burden of proof that the notice to vacate was predicated on racially discriminatory grounds.

"In order to prove its case, the Commission's evidence must show that the notations of the security officer referred to were relied upon and were a factor in the decision by Scott to issue its notice to vacate.

"This we were unable to find by the evidence."

NEW FIREMEN—The city Fire Department took great pride Tuesday in graduating 44 new firefighters. Looking over one of their graduation certificates (left panel) are firefighters Ralph Gentry, Philip Gerber, Henry Cavey and Glenn Dancy. Fireman Thurman O. Pugh and his pretty wife, Mrs. Denise Pugh, have high hopes for his firefighting future. AFRO photographer I. Henry Phillips also captured this happy couple, Firefighter Albert Foster and his lovely wife, Mrs. Felicia Foster. Fireman Michael Jenson had a whole cheering section at his graduation. With him are his wife, Mrs. Lorraine Jenson, and their daughters, Angeline, 2 mos., and Lynette, 5.

City Fire Department greets 44 new members

At noontime ceremonies Tuesday, the Fire Department graduated 44 probationary firefighters at the Fire School on Pulaski Highway.

This, the first graduation under the auspices of new Fire Chief Thomas Burke was attended by Fire Commissioners Howard Owens, Boshop Winfield Showell and Calhoun Bond.

Among the graduates were Glenn Dancy, Albert L. Foster Jr., Michael D. Jenson and Thurman O. Pugh.

New Firefighter Dancy will begin his Fire Department career assigned to Engine 43. A 1970 graduate of City College, Mr. Dancy lives in the 5000 block Midwood Ave. His mother, Mrs. Dorothy Dancy lives at the same address.

Why did Mr. Dancy decide to become a firefighter? He simply answered: "God job; pays good, good security; I don't have to worry about being laid off."

Accompanying Firefighter Foster to his graduation were his wife, Mrs. Felicia Foster and their daughter, Gwendolyn, 4.

• • •

A 1967 graduate of City College, Mr. Foster decided to take the 8-week training course after a 2-year stint with the Army as a dog trainer at Edgewood Arsenal.

Firefighter Jenson brought a crowd of well-wishers with him.

His mother, Mrs. Lorraine Davis; his brother, Sherman Davis; his wife, Mrs. Annie Jenson; their children, Angelina, 2 mos., and Lynette, 5; and friend, Charles Best, who is a firefighter, watched his graduation.

$45,000 flim flam in court

By PAM WIDGEON

One of the most incredible stories that one could hear is being told by witnesses in Criminal Court again today (Friday) before Judge Marshall Levin.

During the 3-hour hearing Thursday, Mrs. Emma Pauline Adams, 53, 3700 block Barrington Rd., told the court how Hyman Yankeloff, 75, 3700 block Barrington Rd., had received over $16,000 from her and her brother, the Rev. Henry H. Gibson, 51, of Detroit.

Mr. Yankeloff (alias Sam Lowe), white, has been arrested over 77 times on false pretense and served 20 years in prison off and on for flim-flam convictions.

Mrs. Adams told the court that she had a snowball stand in her garage and Mr. Lowe who lived down the street from her would come and sit to talk with her.

She further testified that she used to sell real estate and he asked her to see about a house for him. He had her to take him to see property on route 40, she told the court.

She revealed that Mr. Lowe questioned her about how she and her husband got along. He was told that they were not divorced but trying to get a divorce.

HYMAN YANKELOFF he called her Baby Doll —

Julie was in town

By ANN KOGER

Mrs. Julie Nixon Eisenhower came to Baltimore to celebrate the 175th anniversary of the old Navyship, the Frigate Constellation and arrived Thursday at 1 p.m. at Pier 1 to present an anniversary speech for her father, President Nixon. As the president's daughter, she was under tight security.

Many city officials were on hand to greet Mrs. Eisenhower.

"No questions asked."

The suspects entered through an open second floor rear bedroom window.

Mr. Mitchell told the

BOARD OF ESTIMATES

Mayor and Hymie shake hands after long feud

Throughout the summer, Comptroller Hyman Pressman has not attended the mayor's preliminary sessions before the Wednesday Board of Estimates meetings, saying that all city business must be carried out in the open.

But this Wednesday, Mayor William Donald Schaefer and the comptroller buried the hatchet in public. Mr. Pressman accepted the mayor's invitation to once again attend the pre-Board closed sessions.

The mayor sought Mr. Pressman's return because allegedly a breakdown in communication between the two elected officials would hinder the progress of the city.

In the pre-session, the mayor said the Board discusses "extremely important . . . policy matters."

• • •

In official business, the Board approved a 5-year extension of the city's contract with Baltimore Sports, Inc., for presenting Baltimore Clippers Ice Hockey and other ice shows in the Civic Center.

According to Assistant City Solicitor Gerald Klein, this renewal is essentially the same as the contract recently signed with the Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey Circus.

He explained the major change in both contracts is a credit extended ($15,000 to the Clippers) so the attractions would not have to bear the burden of the city's 10 per cent admission tax, which cost the Clippers about $40,000 last year.

• • •

The added cost of having to pay the admission tax apparently, Mr. Klein remarked, was not a factor in the Bullets Basketball team deciding to leave the city after this upcoming season.

He said another change in the Clippers' contract is that the team will be charged rent (at $1,100 per game or 10 per cent of the gross whichever is higher) on a full season basis instead of game to game.

This is supposed to save the hockey franchise, so the team will not be particularly taxed on low attendance dates.

Crucificado on stage tonight

'Crucificado' a new play by New York playwright Edgar White will be performed Friday evening, 8 P.m., at the McHenry School, Hollins and Schroeder Sts. Darryl S. Hill, a second year student at the Yale University School of Drama, is director. 'Crucificado' is a Black ensemble, a poetic metaphor expressing the pathos of the Black man in America. Also fetured in this limited engagement will be Linwood Powell, Deborah Jacobs, Adrian Britt, Danarda Tutman, Robert Cooke, Charlene Williams, and Fletcher Roberts. As an experiment in modern theater, the public is cordially invited and encouraged to attend. There is no admission charge.

LOOK AROUND YOU

Public Defenders almost lily-white

EDITOR'S NOTE — Too often public agencies in the city and state offer more nuisances than services. Agencies may well be unable to handle the needs of Baltimore's black citizenry because too few of the agencies' workers and very few of their supervisors are black people.

This series of articles called "Look Around You," is written to help AFRO readers know more about their public agencies and inspire them and the agencies to correct the inequities.

With one exception, no matter where you live in the state, no matter how poor you are, no matter

NAACP lawyers appeal Prince Georges 'wait till later' desegregation order

By CAROL KOGER

The most important desegregation case to come before the courts since the historic nationwide decision of the Supreme Court opened all schools to all races in 1954, was heard by Federal Court Judge Frank A. Kaufman, in Baltimore Federal Court during the week of Aug. 27.

In the ruling that came late the night of Aug. 31, Judge Kaufman denied desegregation of the Prince Georges County Schools for this first semester that began Tuesday, Sept. 5.

Judge Kaufman directed that work be made on the plan for desegregation of all schools, elementary, junior, and senior high schools, and that the plan is to be filed on Dec. 4, with a hearing of the plan for Dec. 11, and schools to be desegregated no later than Jan. 29, 1973.

When the plantiffs, parents and children, read the decision they made immediate motion for an appeal that was presented before Circuit Judge Harrison L. Winter.

Gerald A. Smith, NAACP, plantiff lawyer, feels that the ruling Judge Kaufman gave was too long to wait and that all things should be swept aside and the Constitution should prevail at this time.

Ken Johnson, another plaintiff lawyer, feels that Judge Kaufman made a mistake in his decision, and that he is fully confident

Mr. Risper put away in style

"Farewell Porky," was inscribed on one of the floral arrangements at the last rites of Ernest Risper, at the Morton and Dyett Funeral Home, Sept. 7.

Around the $2,500 casket, at the Morton and Dyett Funeral Home, there were over $3,000 worth of floral arrangements sent by family and friends.

Around the room were many other floral arrangements of all shapes and sizes, adding up to over $3,000.

One very interesting piece, made of carnations and red roses was an arrangement in the shape of a "Dummie," with a bottle of cough syrup with the initials "AC" on it, and in front of both of them were a set of dice made of carnations.

Other interesting arrangements were of hearts, one which was a broken heart.

Gadabouting in Baltimore City Folks Do Their Party Thing

BY MARIE MURPHY COOKE

Baltimore town folk ended the summer season with what they do best, PARTY! There were lawn parties, house parties, boat parties, birthday parties, anniversary parties and just plain ole party parties. Like for instance, last Wednesday when the Charlie Thompsons flew in from Montego Bay and he promptly pulled a fabulous suprise birthday party for her (Mary) who had no idea when she got to the East Port dock to board their famed Earl Britt boat that the gathering was for her. But it was.

Guests had secreted gifts in a plastic trash bag so it was a big surprise. The honoree was attractive in a white pants suit with matching top.

Edgar Allen, the caterer, did himself proud with his tables lain with delicious dishes and a variety of wines (both pretty and tasty).

About were Messrs and Mesdames Russell Frisby, Cyrus Marshall, Robert Payne, Edward Wilkins, Melvin Callaman, Harold Clark, Theodore Brown and the charming Mrs. Florence Dennis.

• • •

Feted at a surprise birthday party recently, shortly before taking off to Wildwood, N.J., was Mrs. Harold (Mildred) Dobson, prominent beautician.

Co-hostess at the swanky dinner affair was the honoree's cousin Mrs. Almatine Johnson of Ellwood Ave. in East Baltimore.

After the elegant party, Mrs. Dobson left for N.J. to visit relatives and reports that she located a cousin whom they hadn't seen in some 40 years.

Later during the week, she recalls, other cousins got together and gave her another party honoring her special day. They were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Page of Hall's Hill, Va. and Claude Page of Washington, D.C.

Traveling with Mrs. Dobson were sons, Sherman, Woodrow and Berkley. Harold II is working in Frogmoor, S.C. for the summer and is expected home soon.

Back from Montego Bay are members of the Travel Pals.

On the night of their arrival (Aug. 18) the group was feted at a welcoming party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dotson, who were also vacationing.

• • •

The swinging Mrs. Dotson, niece of Mrs. Aileen West, president of the group, told them where to go and what to see and it's said they did it all.

In the group were Mesdames and Misses Hazel Winston, Doris Parker, Yvonne Stokes, Jean Smothers, Betty Campbell, Bernice Strut and Betty Covington.

And Jack McDaniel, Walter C. Gray and Joe Young.

LORENZO TINSLEY modeled a fur-trimmed plaid midi with matching pants. (AFRO photo by B.M. Phillips)

Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Gwen) Hillen entertained members of the Upper 10 Club on Sunday at their fabulous Pikesville home.

• • •

Miss Jeralyn Manuel, Miss Bettye Morton and Ms Frances Murphy will be inducted into the Chum's Club tonight at Mrs. Hillen's home.

Mrs. Bernice McDaniels is president of the group; Mrs. Blanche Beckham, vice-president; Mrs. Fonjola Priest, secretary, and Mrs. Hillen, treasurer.

And another example of people doing their thing was the fashion show, which included cocktails, given by that handsome group of men known as the Mark Five Associates at the Checker Board Lounge a few days ago.

They got together with a well-known merchant and modeled what they will be sporting this fall.

The capacity crowd of over 200 was flabbergasted when trim and very sexy Lorenzo Tinsley, vice-president, strolled on stage in a fur trimmed plaid midi coat with matching wide-legged, wide-cuffed slacks. (He reminded one of movie character Charleston Blue).

Also appealing was Thomas Pendleton in gangster white-on-white with a striking red leather cape with white stitching.

Looking good in up-to-the-minute new winter fashions were Robert Tennessee, president; Columbus Robinson, secretary; Eddie Singletary, treasurer and L. Davis, business manager.

• • •

The Joseph Feltons wound up the holiday weekend with a gathering of friends for an outdoor thing in their spacious Dennlyn Rd. yard.

One of the happiest guests present was Mrs. Lloyd McDonald (Lillian). Her son, Wade Horsey Jr. and his wife, Jacqueline and their toddler daughter, Erica, were off to Boston where he enters Harvard University on a two-year fellowship where he will be working on his doctorate.

Young Horsey, a Vietnam vet, holds a degree from Hopkins. Mrs. Horsey's parents were the late Mr. Mrs. Donald Costa of Rosedale St.

Messrs. and Madames Edward (Margaret) Peck, Earl (Pat) Martinez, Anderson, Bob (Maxine) Fleming, Washington, D.C.; Robert (Louise) Parker and Theodore (Lorraine) Hayes.

Messrs. and Madames Arthur (Reva) Leure, A. Paul (Bettye) Moss, Granville (Gwynn) Hillen, Queener (Carolyn) Willis, Lloyd (Lil) McDonald, Edward (Bernice) McDaniels.

Messrs. and Madames I. Henry (Lena) Phillips, E. Gaines (Priscilla) Lansey, Woody (Beverly) Williams.

Also Mrs. Anita Richard, Eva Creigler, Miss Burnetta Brown, David Jones and Alexander Malone and Nathaniel Felton.

"Florida, here we come," may be in the minds of those who were at the Turf Valley Country Club last Wednesday evening to hear about land available in that state and the plans being initiated.

The evening included dinner and highballs and was hosted by Palm Coast officials and co-hosted by the AFRO-AMERICAN and the International Telegraph and Telephone Co.

Folks who were there to hear and see plans for the dream city were Messrs. and Mesdames Kenneth O. Wilson, George L. Jude, Sherlock Cooper, Aaron Ellis, Royal Weaver, Granville Hillen and John H. Murphy II.

And Dr. and Mrs. Albert Burwell, Col. and Mrs. William "Box" Harris and Judge and Mrs. Solomon Baylor.

Also Mesdames Frances Murphy and Robert (Vashti Murphy) Matthews. David Wright was also in the group.

Members of the Otis Stevenson Sr. family gathered at the elegant Other Barn in Columbia last week for a swinging family reunion.

Not only was there a buffet-style dinner with continuous music, but a karate demonstration by Mr. and Mrs. Malachi Lee from New York City.

Other out-of-towners were Mr. and Mrs. Willie (Eva) Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevenson and daughter; Ernest Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Willie (Delores) Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harris and daughter, all of Detroit, Mich.

And, Mrs. Ellen McCain and children from Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Pauline Barber, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hollimon, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hollimon, from Freehold, N.J.;
