The Task Force to Initiate Preservation Planning in Maryland was formed in 1991. The Task Force is concerned with preserving the textual material housed in Maryland's libraries, archives, historical societies, and museums. Acting upon recommendations of the 1990 Governor's Conference on Libraries and Information Services, the Task Force applied for and received a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to study and devise a plan to coordinate preservation efforts statewide.

In 1994, the Task Force will issue an action plan that outlines a program, coordinated through the State Archives, of conservation services, information dissemination, and basic training in preservation methods. The goal of the program is to provide low-cost preservation assistance to institutions across the State. The staff at the State Archives will work with preservation specialists in Maryland to insure that the State's record heritage is preserved for future generations.
