John (Gwendolyn) deCecilia, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar (Arletta) Whittaker and Mrs. Leonia Young.

Their hosts in the islands were Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Iris) Whittaker, brother of Edgar, who entertained their guests with a continuous round of Yuletide festivities in their beautiful homes located in Montego Bay, Kingston, Edwarton, Mandeville and St. Ann's Bay where the Whittakers maintained four villas.

Highlights of the numerous social activities were a reception in honor of the Governor General, Sir Clifford Chambers, and an opera performance of "Half Columbia" at the Kingston Royal Opera House, featuring an all-black cast.

The trip ended with an all day fishing trip aboard Frank's newly-purchased yacht celebrating "Boxer Day."

Sunday, Jan. 14, 6 p.m. — Testimonial honoring Mrs. Ida M. Redd, wife of the Rev. Samuel Redd of the Mt. Ararat Baptist Church, Holiday Inn-Downtown. Mrs. Doris Holt, general chairman.

NO SUCH LADY

The Charles Hillens (Gwen and Granny) brought in the year with dinner for intimate friends. (At least that's what the invitation read). Never did they think that dinner meant a whole lot of other things.

Like, when cars started pulling in the driveway of their Durley Lane home and the charming hostess discovered that one of the driveway and back onto the street ... a sure sign of rudeness early arrivals thought. Mrs. Hillen then explained that a special guest who was confined to a wheelchair would have to use the driveway, therefore cars would have to be parked on the street. All agreed.

Then, the men took their seats in front of the TV to scope the numerous football games, while the wives chitchatted in another room. Oh, it was going to be a lovely evening.

After all had enjoyed Gwen's fine cooking, guests were invited to join in the festivities in the club room. Ha, ha, were they ever surprised when they found a three-piece combo already set up and ready to roll. (Remember that lady in the wheelchair? No such lady. Gwen had reserved the space for the group).

It was the Ken Brook's Experience, featuring Ken Brook on bass; Don Bowie, drums, and Leroy Hawthorne, electric piano.

PHILOMATHIANS

Mrs. Frank A. DeCosta, Jr. was hostess on Saturday at the opening meeting of the Philomathians Club.

The group gathered at her Greenway home to hear an informative talk about the work of policewomen. Speakers were Lt. Carolyn Robinson, who retired last month after 30 years service; and her successor, Sgt. Marion L. Crawford.

Lt. Robinson detailed highlights of her career and shared with club members tips on how to protect themselves and their homes.

Both speakers expressed personal satisfaction in their jobs which they said were meaningful because they enabled them to help others.

Club guests included Mesdames Mione Hardin, sheemf emf shrdlun Grace Parker Johnson, Mrs. Hermione Hardin and her daughter, Mrs. Hermione Gordon.

Other members present: Mesdames Ruth King V. Cheek, John Chissell, Ralph V. Cook, Frederick Dedmond, Carol Blanton Diggs, Charles Fletcher, Marcellus Moore.

Also Mesdames Frances Murphy, Roland N. Patterson, Carl Murphy, Warren Peck, Roger K. Williams, Dr. Ruth Brett Quarles, Dr. E. Irene Diggs and Mrs. A. Paul Moss, president, who presided.
