New courses offered at Peabody

Three new courses, two of which are open to the public, will be offered during the second semester at the Peabody Conservatory.

Anyone may enroll in "Contributions of the American Black Classical Composer," a course to be taught by Dr. Calvin Ward on Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Also, a course entitled "Basic Acting Techniques," to be taught by Harvey Vincent on Thursday evenings from 6-8 p.m. is open to all.

The third new course, "Understanding The New Testament," is part of the Conservatory's liberal arts curriculum and will be taught by the Rev. Ralph Minker, pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church.

Registration for the second semester, which begins on January 29, is already in progress. Interested persons may call the Peabody Registrar's Office for further information.

Woodlawn HIGHlights

MRS. GREEN

By MARJORIE R. GREEN

By MARJORIE R. GREEN

There are several groups of employees in the Social Security Administration (SSA) doing exciting things both inside and outside the Woodlawn complex.

One of the most active is the Modern Dance group whose talented director, Clinton Pettiford, is a supervisor in the Payment Preparation Branch. Organized in December, 1971 they have performed under the sponsorship of the Employees Activities Association. The dancers were participants in a new Tour film last week that was produced in the headquarters studio.

In the spring they plan to tour military and childrens hospitals in the Baltimore and Washington area.

Members of the dance group are; Antoni Sharp, Donna Farrington, Janet Jones, Lula Moore, Shirley Chambers, Rosalind Victor and Patricia Hansborough. Choreographer is Gloria Grant, student at Morgan State College.

Effective Jan. 21, Mrs Etta Musgrove, an Assembly and Dispatch clerk will receive an increase in salary. This increase has been awarded because of the superior manner in which she performed her duties from September 1971 to January 1973. Congratulations to popular Etta who is a member of Charity Baptist Church.

VOSSA is planning a fund raising theatre party for Thursday, Feb. 8 at the Morris A. Mechanic theatre. On stage will be the broadway rock musical "GREASE." Winner of seven Tony nominations, this hit musical is all about our own monumental city and features scenes from one of our city high schools.

The volunteers have extended an invitation to all SSA employees, their families and friends to join them in support of this gala evening.

The Security Toastmistress Club in SSA will sponsor their second annual speech contest at noon on Feb. 22 at the Dickinson Building. There are two run-offs scheduled for Feb 8 and Feb. 15.

Speech topics for the finals will be given to each contestant one week prior to the contest.

The purpose of these contests, according to Betsy Lutz, president of the group, is to develop self confidence, speaking abilities and faster language growth.

Mrs. Gwen Richardson, OA analysis and Mrs. Julia Penny, examiner in BDI will assist as judges

Mrs. Mildred Nelson, supervisor in the Correspondence and Control section of the Certification branch has proved the Upward Mobility program at SSA is worth continuing.

In this program the Social Security Admistration pays the employees college tuition fees in an effort to encourage them to continue their edueation.

Mrs. Nelson is at present enrolled in the independent Home Study program at the Community College of Baltimore. Successful completion of this course will enable her to receive an Associate in Arts degree in June. In addition to the CCB home study course she is working on a bachelor of science degree at Morgan State College. So that she does not neglect her duties as wife and mother Mrs. Nelson arranges her study time on coffee and lunch breaks. She is an active member of VOSSA and St. Paul United Methodist Church.

On Wednesday, Jan 31, members of the Coverage Adjudication Section in the Bureau of Data Processing are planning to give a farewell retirement party for Mesdames Blancie Mallinow and Lenora Kamber.

Coordinators for the party to be held at Martins West are: Pisy Mitchner, Marion Lincoln, Mary Viail, Mamie Harris, Olivia Weems, Gladys Palmer and John Mulgrew.

BIG SISTERS

During the month of January two activities were given by Big Sisters for their Little Sisters and guests. The first was a post-holiday party held at the Big Sister office on Maryland Ave. Games and a talent show kept the group engrossed. The girls were pleased with individual gifts beautifully wrapped and donated by a civic-minded group, The Modern Mothers. This is the second year this club has made these gifts possible.

At its second activity Big Sister Linda Gallun directed a hilarious melodrama, "Everybody Loves Opal" at The Spotlighters Theater. She invited Big Sisters, Little Sisters and their guests to see the production.

Attending the activities were: Mesdames and Misses Mary E. Basker, Carole Bell, Grace Black, Karen Wallace, Genevieve Penzmith, Eleanor Cooper, Lillie Jule Seward, Mary Carter Smith, Linda Gallun, Ionna Ciblar.

Mesdames and Misses Nancy Shock, Regina Pauley, Christine Wehrman, Regina Springfield, Velma Springfield, Cynthia Springfield and Abarlene McKay.

Meedames and Misses Robbie Young, Elizabeth Baldwin, Allyne Peters, Ruth Fauntleroy, Marie Berry, Wilhelmia Sutton, Dorine Byrd and Regina Bozemore.

Misses Amanda Barksdale, Elizabeth Bunch, Antonio Ball, Howard Bowls, Samantha Murray, Sharon Smith, Theresa Lewis.

MISS THOMAS WEDS

The former Miss Elaine Thomas, assistant director of Model Cities Foresight Community Center and the Rev. Ellis Young, the director, pledged their vows last month in a quiet courthouse ceremony.

They are off for a honeymoon trip to Houston, Texas to visit Stan and Vashti McKenzie. Home for the couple is on Sanford Place.

PROVIDENT NURSE

Provident Hospital has a new assistant director of its nursing service staff. She's pretty Miss Patricia A. Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood D. Powell of Rosedale Rd.

The new assistant director is no stranger to Provident. In 1967 she was graduated from the Helene Fuld School of Nursing. From there she went on to complete studies at Tuskegee Institute and received her degree in '69 after which she completed two years of Air Force nursing at Langley Air Fort Base, Va.

While at Langley, Miss Powell was the only black female officer. She was discharged in September of last year with the rank of captain. In addition, she is a member of the Chi Eta Phi Sorority.

Hints For Homemakers

INEZ KAISER

Now that the holiday season is over, I can settle back to a normal routine again. But I must admit I do miss all the company and the activity that accompany holiday festivities. Believe it or not, things are almost too quiet now.

With all the entertaining of company and other things to do, I just didn't have time to do as much for my husband as I usually like. But there was one way I could begin making up for it, I decided. I could fix him one of his favorite kinds of breakfast.

The next morning I got an early start in the kitchen. I whipped up the waffle batter and put the sausage in a skillet. It wasn't very long before Richard walked in with a big smile on his face.

MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S FOR A BREAKFAST TREAT

In typical male fashion, Richard gave me a helping hand. He went to the cabinet and picked up his favorite syrup—MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S. It is the only kind of syrup we'll ever use.

As my husband often says, "Your waffles are good because you make them, but they are even better because you use MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S syrup."

Realizing the diplomat that he is, I knew the plug for me was only to give me a little credit, and that the real winner was MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S.

In fact, if we go out to eat, Richard will never order waffles or pancakes unless he's sure they have MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S syrup. It has 2% real butter and it adds real zest to any breakfast with its thick, rich, mapley flavor.

With MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S there's never much syrup left on the plate, which helps with the dishwashing. That brings to mind another tip I'd like to pass on.

DOVE LIQUID FOR DISHES, POTS AND PANS

When you use DOVE LIQUID, dishwashing becomes a pleasure! You can imagine all the dishes I used over the holiday season, but you certainly couldn't tell by the way my hands look. A woman can't complain when she has a mild lotion friend like DOVE LIQUID in the kitchen.

One evening during the holidays, I had a few close friends over for dinner and a little holiday cheer. Naturally, after dinner I just stacked the dishes in the kitchen sink until morning so I could relax and enjoy my guests. When I went into the kitchen the next morning, the dishes and pots and pans were still waiting in the sink—greasy and sticky.

DOVE LIQUID made all those greasy utensils sparkling and shiny in just a matter of minutes, and cleaned the dishes and glassware to a sparkle. The more you use DOVE LIQUID the more you'll love it.

So, if you want to entertain friends but you dread the cleaning-up chores afterwards, keep DOVE LIQUID by your kitchen sink. It does the job on your dishes and pans and still keeps your hands looking lovely any day of the year.

'all' DOES ALL THE LAUNDRY

Entertaining also means tablecloths and napkins left to do. I don't think I could have made it through the holidays or any day without the help of CONCENTRATED "all."

This year there were an awful lot of soiled linens, including my special holiday tablecloths, napkins and, of course, guest towels by the dozen.

CONCENTRATED "all" with bleach, borax and brighteners can solve my toughest laundry problems and get clothes really clean, yet it's mild enough for my best table linens. "all" gets out grease stains, like that margarine on my best white tablecloth, and it gets regular laundry really clean, too.

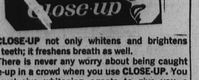
My Christmas reds and greens are still just as bright as they were the year before and will be again next year, thanks to CONCENTRATED "all," and it works just as efficiently on my husband's shirt collars as on my linens. All in all, "all" was in constant demand the past few weeks around my household.

CLOSE-UP HAS "DOUBLE ACTION"

Another little item that saved the holiday season for me was CLOSE-UP toothpaste. I find I'm always promoting CLOSE-UP and its double action to all my friends.

Just the other morning, one of my out-of-town guests happened to mention at breakfast that she had to go shopping for a few items she had forgotten to pack. Toothpaste just happened to be one of them so I chimed right in with my pitch for CLOSE-UP.

"I'm always seeking a bargain," I said. "It really doesn't pay to buy anything unless it offers you and you family the most for your dollar.



"CLOSE-UP not only whitens and brightens your teeth; it freshens breath as well.

"There is never any worry about being caught close-up in a crowd when you use CLOSE-UP. You get exclusive whitening agents to give you a sparkling smile that lasts all day, while also freshening your breath. Besides, CLOSE-UP really tastes good in both regular or mint flavor," I concluded.

Needless to say, I convinced another friend to use CLOSE-UP.

-Columbia

really the issue of busing; it's what's white people are afraid of."

The dynamic speaker added "In 1963 black and white sang together but 1973 race remains the number one issue in this country, velvet racism" which he termed as "insidious" and covert."

"Columbia is an exception," he said "because you are trying to get black and white to live together in harmony."

PROGRAM NOTES

"I wish I Knew How It Would Feel To Be Free" was sung by the harmoniously-balanced vocal group known professionally as the Columbians. Their vocal rendition was complementary to the speech by Congressman Mitchell.

The Honorable Charles Mathis, U.S. Senator, gave complements to the Congressman, for the work he has done.

He noted that Martin Luther King's greatest contribution was his non-violent approach, and his faith and confidence that man was redeemable.

The nodding of heads an facial expressions came from people in the audience while listening to Martin Luther King's recording of "We Shall Overcome," followed by a one-half hour concert by the Columbians.

The benediction was by the Rev. Clayton Hammond, after which the audience including James Rouse, Columbia Developer, joined hands in singing the Civil Rights Anthem "We Shall Overcome."

Group Acting Positively, sponsored the program. It is an organization made up of individuals who either live or work in Columbia and who possesses a deep concern for people and a real desire to contribute their individual and combined skills to making their "Columbia Dream" a reality.

Members are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Blumheim, Miss Sylvia Dixon, Miss Janet McKinnon, Mrs. Barbara Bray Jessie Little and Fred Weaver.

Proceeds from the Mini Breakfast will benefit the Sickle Cell Anemia Feundation, provide financial scholarships for children to attend summer camp, and bus trips for the teens.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

"Let the motive be in the deed, and not in the event. Be not one whose motive for action is the hope of reward." — KRISHNA.
