and "satisfying" weekend in New York City. The threesome dropped in at the Edison Theater on Saturday to see their nephew, Dickie Damon Evans, in the Broadway smash, "Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope."

Following the show they dined, banquet style, on assorted Chinese dishes, with Damon and other "Cope" stars at the Confuscious Restaurant. Later that evening, they were special guests at the home of their sister, Mrs. Berteal Matthews. Among family members who dropped in for the evening were Wilfred Shelton, Jr. and his wife, Aida and son, Andre.

On Sunday at the 11 a.m. service of The St. John's Baptist Church, the Sheltons witnessed the impressive christening ceremony of their great nicec, Nipua Shelton, daugther of Mr. and Mrs. Marquis (Joyce) Shelton of this city. A dinner party in honor of the baby followed at the home of the parents.

FIRESIDERS MEET

Mrs. Iris Mapp was hostess for the Saturday dinner meeting of the Firesiders. She selected an Italian dinner theme and invited as guests Mesdames Wilhelmina Garner, Ivy Grinage, Deanna Brown, Helena Edmonds and Pinchie Denkins.

Club members about were Mesdames Ada Weaver, Milburn Brown, Ida Peters, Irma Dancy, Frances Ashby (who now has a new apartment at Cold Spring and Charles), Bea Nixon, Lillian Bell, Dorothy Brown, Eula Watkins, Florence Ringgold.

KINGS LANDING WOMEN

The K.L.W.'s (Kings Landing Women) held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Bettye Moss to formulate plans for its annual Benefit Cocktail Party to be held in April at the Club Venus.

President Mamie Jones and benefit chairman, Mrs. Marjorie Green, announced that this year's affair will be a "real swinger." Fashions will be shown by the KLW models from Wetzlers. An added attraction this year will be the appearance of guest model, Donald Clapp.

About that afternoon were Mesdames Alease Ball, Gwendolyn Clarke, Collen Corprew, Blanche Hughes, Roberta Keets, Betty Lindsey, Gertrud McKella, Elsie Mackey, Margaret Ross, Rosie Salley, Geneva Small, Helen Tucker, Mary Upsher and Evanua Webb.

WOMEN'S AD CLUB

The Women's Advertising Club of Baltimore, by a recent vote of its membership, has officially changed its name to "The Advertising Association of Baltimore," according to Mrs. Virginia M. Zeller, president.

In a related move, the club has stricken all references to gender in its constitution and by-laws and is actively encouraging male participation in the new association.

Recognizing the need for a broadly based men's and women's professional advertising association in the Baltimore community, the Women's Advertising Club of Baltimore, chartered and incorporated in the city since 1920, undertook the study of possible expansion and restructuring.

A committee was formed in June, 1972, to make such an investigation and to report its findings to the Board of Directors. Mrs. Janet Covington, chairman of the Committee for Expansion of the WACB, together with the committee, sounded out the advertising community on its receptivity to a men's and women's professional association.

The Women's Ad Club membership ratified changes in name and gender reference in December, 1972, and gave its approbation to the new name, "Advertising Association of Baltimore." This organization will continue to be affiliated with the American Advertising Federation.

DYNAMIC PROGRAMS

The aims of the "AAB" will be to present a larger and stronger organization for the Baltimore advertising industry. More dynamic programs, awards, and seminars will be designed to benefit an increased membership and the community at large. The work-experience scholarship pioneered by the Women's Advertising Club will be continued and expanded.

A steering committee is operating to guide the transition of the WACB into the new "Advertising Association of Baltimore," Mrs. Covington is continuing her role, chairing the group, together with Frank Blumberg, as co-chairman. Others serving on the committee include: Mrs. A. Ruth Adams, Richard Barrett, Harry Brian, Mrs. Ann Harbaugh, William Hooper, William Hunter, Mrs. Trudi Johnston, Mrs. Eileen Keogh, Stanley Paulus, LaRue Schneider, Mrs. Marjorie Smith, Sheldon Taule and Mrs. Zeller.

A membership campaign is underway, directed by Mrs. Adams of Vansant Dugdale. Qualified individuals are welcome to submit application for membership. To be eligible, they must be professionally engaged in advertising, public relations, or promotions work.

Miss Oxendine, bride of Mr. Baxley

Miss Jo Anne Oxendine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oxendine, was wed to James W. Baxley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Baxley, Sr., Saturday, at the home of the bridgroom's parents, on Reisterstown Rd.

Officiating at the single-ring ceremony was the Rev. Theodore C. Jackson, pastor of Gillis Memorial Community Church.

The wedding reception followed at the home of the bridgeroom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mack, on Ulman St.

The bride was elegant in a white satin gown trimmed in lace and seed pearls.

She was attended by her maid of honor, Miss Ruby Dennis, and bridesmaid, Miss Sheila Ann Baxley, sister of the bridegroom. They wore lime green and hot pink gowns and carried matching bouguets of flowers.

Best man was Tommy Thomas and the usher was Archie James Baxley, Shannon Gaskins was the ringbearer.

The bride is a graduate of Edmondson High School and a former teacher's aide. The bridegroom, a 1967 graduate of City College, is a machinist at Scully's Rubber Corporation in Dundalk.

The newlyweds are now at home in the 2800 block Coldspring Lane. A spring wedding trip is expected to be taken to Los Angeles.

for and about Women

A talented, brown haired, beauty from Baltimore, is "Miss Fair Lanes 1973."

She's pretty Miss Annette Carberry, The 21-year-old queen is employed at the Ulman and Cohar Law Firm. She won the title over four other finalists at the recent kick-off luncheon for the Third Annual Fair Lanes $80,000 Professional Bowlers Association Open.

Miss Carberry won the "Miss Fair Lanes 1973" title over an original field of over 50 contestants which dwindled to ten semi-finalists and then to five finalists. The beauteous queen has the almost perfect figure statistics, but the judges were swayed by her pleasant and sincere personality and her alert brightness.

'Miss Fair Lanes'

JUDGING

The judging was based on seven categories: first Impression, personality, poise posture, smile, walk, voice, figure, general appearance hair, make-up, and clothes), reply to a prepared question, and her answer to a impromptu question. The finalists were graded one to five in each category with five being perfect.

As "Miss Fair Lanes 1973," Miss Carberry will be the official hostess to all activities connected to and during the Fair Lanes PBA Open, which is being held this week at Fair Lanes Towson. She will also receive a bowling bag, ball, shoes and bowling outfit to "do her thing."

OTHER CONTESTANTS

Runners-up to Miss Carberry were Nancy Ann Gawor, 19, student at Towson State Teachers College and Fair Lanes Youth Coach at Fair Lanes Eastpoint, graduate with honors of Catholic High; Debbie Schultz, 19, of Baltimore, graduate of Merganthaler Vocational School; Mary Rita Ditman, 25, of Baltimore, employed at the Social Security Administration and graduate of Woodlawn High; Donna Bender, 22, employed at the Northpoint Electric Company, attended Towson State Teachers College and a graduate of Kenwood Senior High.

THEY WERE HONORED — Among individuals who were honored by the Community Health Council of Baltimore on Sunday were from left: Mrs. Pam Fields, news reporter, WBAL-TV 11; Congressman Parren J. Mitchell (D-7th), and Mrs. Mary Clayburn, director, public affairs WWIN Radio. The Council, a group of black professional and social workers, cited citizens for their support of the drive to get United Fund to improve its racial posture. (AFRO Photo by I. Henry Pillips Sr.)

SILVER ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Hoyle recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at St. Pius Church Hall. Joining in on the festivities were Andrea Hoyle, left front, granddaughter of the honorees and right Nathan Hoyle, their son, age 1, (Standing): Miss Diona Hoyle, their daughter, age 25; Neathiea Hoyle, daughter, 10, and Nathaniel Hoyle, Jr., son, 21. Columbia Capers

By PINNIE L. ROSS

The Kidney Foundation of Maryland held its second annual "Gift of Life" luncheon last Monday at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

The occasion was in honor of those who have given outstanding volunteer service during the year of 1972.

The Rev. R. Douglas Pitt gave the invocation, followed by opening remarks by Charles M. Solomon, president, Kidney Foundation.

Just before the presentation of the guest speaker who was Dr. E. Lovell Becker, president, National Kidney Foundation, New York, the "Locks" of the Junior League of Baltimore, Inc., entertained the over 900 guests with a variety of songs.

Stu Kerr, W.M.A.R. — T.V. was master of ceremonels for the awards presentation. There were many certificates of appreciation given to organizations and individuals for outstanding volunteer service.

JACK AND JILL

Among the many recipients were the Jet Set, Columbia Chapter of Jack and Jill Teenage Group. This diligent group sold candy for two years as a service project for the Foundation.

Receiving the certificate on behalf of the group was cute and talented Carolyn Briscoe, president of the group, while Kathy Dandridge, vice president, and Celonia Walden looked on.

The Delta Sigma Thelta Sorority, Columbia Chapter, was a recipient of an award.

Receiving their citation was Mrs. Emerson Walden, who also was honored for her many years of volunteer services with the Foundation. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the Foundation

Just before departing a Spring Fashion Show was presented by Miller Brothers. Participating in the show was attractive Mrs. Delores Sykes; her sophisticated modeling, stole the show.

BLAKES IN MIAMI

Dr. Vincent Blake, accompanied by his lovely wife Ruteena, attended a one week pediatrician seminar last week.

The post graduate course was held at the Deauville Hotel in Miami.

After the 1 p.m. sessions, the Blakes found time to tour the city and attend the races. They even took in several cocktail parties.

Mrs. Blake viewed the trip as a short vacation prior to the preparation for the presentation of her play "Save the Children." This second annual performance is expected to be held at the Lyric Theater in mid-May.

MINI BOOK FAIR

If you want to survey the present market of qualitative black books for children, what would you do? Most people would check their directories for book stores, and take off. Not so for Paul and Betty Walker. Such a route would be far too commonplace and orthodox for this couple. Why not have the book store come to you? This is precisely what happened when book stories in the area (and second and third largest holders of black books in the country) come to the Walkers' home.

Drum and Spear was well represented by its owner-founder, Courtland Cox. Parents must be highly selective in choosing books for their children, the guests were told. Everything with a black cover and picture does not represent a positive image nor message. One can only feel good when one views such a display, realizing that not too many years ago, our children did not have this tremendous source of information and inspiration. Children are inspired when they see themselves positively represented in painted and pictorial form. Ms. Walker, who is a scholar in African studies, goes further. "An investment in good books for black children is an investment in black minds and self concepts."

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

"Life is no brief candle for me. It is a sort of splendid torch which I have got hold of for a moment, and I want to make it burn as brightly as possible before handing it on to future generations." George Bernard Shaw

Help us tell about YOU responsibility for the care of her patients and administers well all her duties for the Agency.

Her job consists of caring for the whole family, planning and executing patient care, not just for the individual, and learning how particular suffering of one will effect the whole.

"No matter how limited our facilites and equipment, we always manage to give ourselves and to serve others." These are Mrs. Pegram's own words describing her work, which she says is really on a 365 days a year basis.

Area No. 1 covers Timonium, Towson, Park Heights, Arbutus and South Baltimore, a geographical area that spans most of the outlyng part of Baltimore's metroopolitan section. She has sixteen registered and licensed practical nurses under her supervision who serve approximately 300 clinets a month.

Mrs. Etta Pegram has been employeed by the Istructive Visiting Nurse Association (IVNA) for twelve years since her graduation from Pdovident Hospital as a registered nurse.

Born in Baltimore, she has retained her slim, trim appearance and after years of service as a staff nurse at Provident and then general duty nurse of IVNA, she recently received promotion to supervisor Area No. 1

In speaking of this unusual woman, Mrs. Katherine Matthews, another supervisor, who has known Mrs. Pegram for all the years she has been associated with IVNA, said she is a most loyal, conscientious professional woman who accepts full
