Former Sparrows Pointers interested in attending the reunion fetes should contact one of the following persons to make reservations for the gala affairs being planned.

They are: Mrs. Mildred Alston at 435-6384 and Mrs. Columbia Foster 282-1820.

April 19 deadline set for postal applications

Applications for Mail Handler positions are now being accepted through April 19, District manager-postmaster Warren Bloomberg has announced.

An examination will be given to establish a register of eligibles from which present and future vacancies in the Baltimore Post Office will be filled.

Although experience is not a prerequisite all applicants will be required to pass the written examination designed to test address checking, following of oral directions and the understanding of word meanings.

When reached for appointment consideration, applicants will also be required to pass a physical examination as well as a test of strength and stamina in lifting and carrying mail sacks of various weights up to 70-pounds.

Mail Handlers start at a salary of $3.88 per hour with scheduled increases to $5.07 per hour.

The U. S. Postal Service application (Form PS2479-A8) is available from Room 300, Main Post Office, 900 E. Fayette St., weekdays 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

TYRONE JONES

Late start no handicap for Edmondson sticker

BILL RHODEN

To look at Tyrone Jones, you'd never imagine him to be one of top lacrosse players in the MSA, as well as one of its leading scorers.

Looks can be deceiving, however, and the 5-8, 175 senior has proven that adage to be true week after week.

In Edmondson's first five games, (in which they've remained undefeated), Jones has scored 8 goals and has nine assists to his credit.

"My presence is felt by opponents," says Jones. "They don't know my name, but they know my number. That's why my assists build up."

One of the more interesting facts about Tyrone's performance on the field is that he only began playing lacrosse in the 10th grade.

"I was playing basketball one day," Jones remembers, "and I saw a couple white kids playing with lacrosse sticks and I was fascinated with how they twirled them and threw the ball around; so I decided to take up the game."

Although Jones has made tremendous strides in becoming a skillful mid-fielder, (comparable to hockey's center position), he doesn't feel he's reached a level of achievement which is commensurate with his ability.

"I'm not really proficient yet," says Jones, who, incidently, is a B student. "It takes time to improve in the games of the season last year to get to the point where I really knew what I was doing."

One of Jones's more outstanding performances this year came against Northern High School.

In that contest, he scored three goals and added another assist as Edmondson went on to defeat Northern 10-2.

"That was a very important game because Northern was undefeated and we were also undefeated. It just so happened that I was able to come through for us."

Jones says he would like to wind up the season with 20 goals, but quickly adds that there is much room for improvement.

"I've got to work on my left hand. That is, I have to develop it so that I can shoot and pass equally well with either left or right hand."

During the fall, Jones plays outside linebacker for Edmondson's football team, but when he enrolls at Towson next fall, lacrosse will be his total interest.

"I like football but I don't want to play in college because of my size. I'm too small to play linebacker, but I should be a good size for lacrosse."

Although he has played lacrosse for only 3 years, Jones feels he has the potential to be as good as any schoolboy in the state: "except for some of the superstars!" he adds jokingly.

"By the time I leave college," he says, "my goal is to be as good as the best lacrosse players in the country!"

Miss Sarah Bannister, Baltimore pioneer

Miss Sarah Elizabeth Bannister, 91, 1320 Druid Hill Ave., one of Baltimore's pioneers, died here on April 4 after a prolonged illness.

Funeral services for Miss Bannister were held Monday, at the Leadenhall Baptist Church. Burial followed at Arbutus Memorial Park.

For 54 years, Miss Bannister resided at 1320 Druid Hill Ave. and was employed at the Hochschild Kohn department store from which she retired in 1953.

Surviving Miss Bannister are a devoted friend, Mrs. Mildred White and her sons, Leslie and Charles White and Mrs. Charlotte

Private school seeks teachers for next year

WANTED: Qualified persons to teach secondary studies mathematics at Ralph Young Junior High School in Baltimore.

An independent public school in the inner city, the Ralph Young Jr. H. School is soliciting applications for openings that will occur for the 1973-74 school year.

The education facility boasts an enriched academy program for boys of above average intelligence. It serves the surrounding community primarily, but not exclusively.

Applicants who feel they meet certification requirements in mathematics or social studies should write or call the school for further information.

April is OIC month; fund cutoff protested in Wash

PHILADELPHIA — "You can't cut down a tree that is growing," the Rev. Dr. Leon Sullivan declared as he led some 6,000 followers in Washington March 29 protesting President Nixon's plans to give local governments control over manpower funds.

In Philadelphia, April was designated as "OIC Month," by Mayor Frank Rizzo, "for a $500,000 fund raising drive to meet governmental funding changes, broader objectives and increased responsibilities."

Opportunities Industrial Union (OIC) was founded in Philadelphia in 1963. Since then, it has provided more than 100,000 disadvantaged persons across the United States with valuable job training needs.

The Philadelphia based organization is said to have the highest placement record of any manpower program in the United States and the best retention rate.

The, Rev. Mr. Sullivan told the crowd in Washington that the President's proposal would threaten the future of his widely acclaimed centers.

Dr. Sullivan called the OIC a job-training program that had proven itself "successful."

The administration said it would not renew its $23.4 million Labor Department contract this September with OIC, but would place a $1 manpower training money in the hands of local mayors.

Dr. Sullivan has maintained that this switch would entangle the nation's 102 OIC branches in "city hall politics."

Summer camp for boys needs counselors

Volunteers are needed to serve as counselors at the Baltimore City Police Boys' Summer Camp for groups of inner city youths.

Counselors must be male at least 18-years-old and able to spend one or more weeks at the camp between June 25 and August 17.

The camp provides an opportunity for interested persons to work with youth in a full range of outdoor activities.

The camp is located at Fort Ritchie in the Catoctin Mountains. For further information, call Miss Joyce Blume, Police Boys' Clubs at 467-3954.

The defendant has approximately 40 convictions of soliciting and has been to jail several times.

She was dressed in a beige and black double breasted midi-coat with a split up the front and back of the coat. She had on black suede boots and was wearing unusually large rings on her fingers.

Miss Land told the court, "I took a six month typing course at Jessup. I did not learn because they did not have a qualified teacher."

New fire engine across street from AFRO

Dedication ceremonies for new fire pumper being placed in service at Engine Company No. 7, 700 N. Eutaw St. across from the AFRO home office building are set for 2 p.m. Saturday.

Mayor Schaefer and city officials will be on hand for presentation of a new 1,000 GPM diesel powered fire engine.

The unit designated Engine 7, will serve the Seton Hills area and other adjacent sections.

The pumper is the most modern and effective fire-fighting capability available and replaces an obsolete pumper.

The Board of Fire Commissioners extends invitation to the public to attend the ceremonies and urges all residents of the Seton Hills section to be present.

Teacher sues for promotion

PHILADELPHIA — The leader of the Black Caucus of the Philadelphia Federation of Teachers has charged Superintendent Matthew W. Costanzo and PFT president Frank Sullivan with conspiring to prevent his promotion.

Also accused in a suit filed in U.S. District was Board of Education personnel director Murrva Bookbinder.

The suit was filed by Eugene S. Bivens, a teacher at Strawberry Mansion Junior High School, who claims he was denied a promotion to labor relations assistant with the School District last March because of his role as leader of the Black Caucus during the 1970 schools strike. Bivins rad urged black leaders to cross the PFT picket lines.

However, Bivins charged that even though he finished 5th out of 20 in the testing, the three defendants agreed to create only four jobs instead of eight.

'Our Mrs. Brooks' cited by 350 A&T Alumni, friends and family

PHILADELPHIA — She is affectionately known as "Our Mrs. Brooks," but the alumni and civic worker was overwhelmed last Saturday as 350 of her friends honored her with an impressive testimonial dinner.

Hosted by the Creative Business Council for Darwyn Holiday Inn on City Line Ave., Philadelphia, the testimonial earned the honoree the plaudits of the many organizations she has served over the past 20 years.

First there were glowing tributes from A and T State University, her beloved Alma Mater. "She's a lady," said Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, A and T
