Columbia Capers

By PINNIE L. ROSS

Miss Jacqueline Harrington, a junior at Howard High School, and first runner-up in the Miss Black Teenage Howard County Pageant'72, was introduced into the National Honor Society last night, Thursday.

The cute honor student is very active in school activities. She is a member of the student council, secretary of the American Field Service Club, a cheerleader, a member of the Black Advisory Council, an officer of Junior Achievement, and a member of Woodward and Lothrop Teen Board.

She is the daughter of Major and Mrs. Robert Harrington Hightor Hill in Oakland Mills.

FASHION EXHIBIT

Fashions, like flowers, bloomed anew last week when the Columbia Mall hosted a week-long fashion exhibit with various clothing stores presenting their spring collections.

The center fountain area was decorated with live flowers consisting of pink and white azaleas used as a boarder around a cluster of tall trees in the background.

The unique brick bridge tapered out in a "T" shaped runway. It was surrounded with tiny evergreens of show white azaleas at the corners of the "T."

Many professional models paraded the runway in last week's show including two beautiful black models, who modeled couturier designs from the Dianne Gayle's For the Distinctive Woman shop.

Misses Valeria Coats and Marta Frank with Pinnie Ross models were also featured in the show.

Valeria dashed out in a bright red pant suit topped with a black and white blouse, sporting a red felt flip back brim hat.

The audience began to whisper oohs and ahs when petite Marta stepped out on the runway wearing a three-piece blue and white pant set — walking beside her was her own black poodle. Those girls walked with poise, confidence and most of all pride and dignity.

Cuff Note: The young generation is doing it. In my opinion that's where it is. Let's stay in the background and push them forward.

CARD PARTY

Speaking of fashion shows, the Queets will be presenting their card party luncheon and fashion show April 28, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Fun fashions will be the theme of the show, and will be presented by my aggregation.

MUSICAL DRAMA

The Young Black Experience group from New York will be performing in D.C. Saturday and will perform in Columbia Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Slayton House.

They will be doing a musical drama on the life of Martin Luther King.

This 35-member drama group ranged in ages 13-18 and need housing overnight. Columbia residents won't you open your home to these youngsters. If you are able to house one or more — please contact Mrs. Barbara Bray at 730-3920 or this columnist at 730-5689.

Admission is free, but donations will be accepted at the door.

PTA PRESIDENT

Nathaniel Hoff, of Columbia, was elected president of the Howard County PTA last week. Mr. Hoff, one of the first educators to ever be elected to this post in this area. He taught school for many years and has tremendous experience in community affairs.

He has been president of Bryant Woods PTA here in Columbia for two years. He served as Legislative Chairman on the PTA Council Executive Board, has been a delegate to the State PTA Convention for three years.

The young educator is a field representative for Maryland State Teachers Association, and Columbia's only AFRO-AMERICAN carrier.

He was totally responsible for the AFRO being on the stand in the Wilde Lake Village Green Drug Store.

Mr. Hoff is "happy go lucky" at all times. He said "After my long day of work and continuous meetings, some times I am as late as 12 p.m. finishing my deliveries in different sections of Columbia." His route includes Ellicott City.

This jolly man believes in personalized service to his customers.

In spite of the inclement weather during deliveries, as a warning to his customers, he toots his horn, jumps out of his car, knocks on the door and sticks the paper between the knob and the door. Cuff Note: Now that's service:

What more would you want Columbians?

Nathaniel Jr., his oldest son assists him with his distribution.

Mr. Hoff resides with his wife, Annett, and his eight lovely children in Bryant Woods.

Mrs. Hoff is presently doing her student teaching at Mt. Hebron High School in Howard County.

NAFAD'S SHOW

Baltimore's own, Miss Ethel Ennis will headline this year's Fashion Extravaganza to be presented by the Baltimore Chapter of the National Association of Fashion and Accessory Designers at the Holiday Inn, Downtown, tomorrow, Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

The purpose of our annual benefit show, is to raise funds for the National and Local Scholarship Fund of this organization," says Mrs. Jacqueline Britton, local president.

Mrs. Selena Thomas is coordinator of models for the show.

The participating models include: Mrs. Sylvia Mackey, who has appeared on coast-to-coast television commercials. She recently had her own TV show and has also appeared in many magazines. Miss Cee Cee Stokes, the presently reigning Miss Businessmen's League of Baltimore for 1972-73; Miss Linda Bryant, Miss Kodak; Miss Neptune Yacht Club and Miss Empire State Artartus Jenkins; Gantt L. Moore, Harold Brightful and Travis Winkey.

Also Mrs. Trena Taylor, who besides being a professional model, is presently involved in student teaching at the Kennedy Institute; Miss Carlotta Moore, who has done fashion photographs, TV commercials, appeared in many fashion shows and held the title of Miss Maryland-World, 1970-1971; Miss Andrea Bland,—an instructor at the Flair Modeling studio and Miss Shirley Harrris is presently a student at Towson State College, who has participated in many beauty contests and was the winner in the swim suit competition of the Miss Black Maryland contest.

ABOUT ORGANIZATION

The National Association of Fashion and Accessory Designers is a non-profit organization formed under the auspices of the National Council of Negro Women in 1949 by Mrs. Jeanetta Brown and Ada Fisher Jones in New York City. The idea of NAFAD was conceived as an effective step toward organizing professional and promising fashion and accessory designers for a greater impact on the fashion industry.

According to Mrs. Britton, "the local chapter has been in existence 14 years." The chapter meets the last Sunday of every month at 1836 W. North Ave.

With the aid of the NAFAD scholarship, students and members have been able to study at a variety of institutions from Maine to Paris. In addition, Association members have periodically taken European tours to keep informed of the changing modes of fashion and to collect fabrics for their designs.

HELD FINAL MEETING

Using "Love" as a theme, the Ethel M. Newman Wesleyan Service Guild of Ames Memorial United Methodist Church held its final meeting before its phasing out to become part of the new United Methodist Women.

Mrs. Velva Purvis conducted the service of love and fellowship while Mrs. Leray Stakes gave highlights of the growth and development of the group.

Following the service, the president, Mrs. Louise Mason, formally dissolved the group.

The Guilders then sat at the beautifully decorated table set up by Mrs. Dorothy Lambson and Mrs. Grace Johnson and partook of a covered dish dinner that had every imaginable food and desert.

Sharing in the affair were Mesdames Lilyan Nottingham, Helen Banton, Virginia Tabb, Eliza Diggs, Frances Thompson, Leray S. Stokes, Olivia Sheppard and

A CARDEN TOUR

Homes and gardens in Windsor Hills will be open to the public during the sixth annual House and Garden Tour on Sunday, May 6 (rain date May 13), from noon to 5 p.m.

Baltimore artists and artisans will display their work, and handwork, plants, and white elephants will be on sale. Crab cakes, barbecued spareribs and other refreshments will also be sold. Tickets will be available in Windsor Hills on the day of the event at $1 per person.

A scenic community in northwest Baltimore, Windsor Hills is probably the city's oldest, most stable, integrated neighborhood. Several years ago, the community formally dedicated itself to the goal of maintaining Windsor Hills as a model of integrated living.

"Perhaps the surest indication of our success," said Mrs. Colyn Harrington, president of Windsor Hills Neighbors, Inc., "is the fact that both blacks and whites move to Windsor Hills. Some are attracted by its beauty; others come in conscious search of a genuinely integrated community. All knew of Windsor Hills' racial character and chose to live here."

Main events of the day will be held in the 3900 block of Carslisle Ave. between Mount Holly and Lyndhurst Ave. To get there, take either Liberty Road or Gwynns Falls Parkway to Garrison Boulevard. From either, turn right on Garrison, and continue to Duvall Avenue. West on Duvall to Mount Holly and then left.

The name of Gov. Mandel brought "boos" from the audience as the governor's aide tried to bring greetings from the absent official.

City Council President Walter Orlinsky brought greetings from the mayor and presented Mr. Van Gelder with a distinguished citizen award from the city.

Taking the opportunity to criticize the Nixon Administration, Mr. Orlinsky described the president as "a man, who with malice and forethought, is attempting to dismantle the American Society."

Others seated at the ADA head table included: Howard H. Murphy, AFRO-American Newspapers comptroller and an ADA National Board alternate; Mrs. Howard H. Murphy; H. Warren Buckler, ADA Baltimore Chapter vice-chairman; Hon. and Mrs. Paul S. Sarbanes; Cong. Parren J. Mitchell, ADA Board member; Hon. Leonard S. Jacobson, ADA national board representative; Hon Jacob Edelman, ADA board member.

Businesswomen hold Saturday conference

The Baltimore Club of the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc. held an all-day conference Saturday at Waters A.M.E. Church where they focused on black-owned businesses and professional services.

The 30 persons attending the seminar discussed their businesses and services and made suggestions on how they can continue to build a sound business and better serve the black community.

One speaker, Rogers Sanders, owner of the Rogers Beauty Supply Co., told the group, "We need money and we need opportunities." Saying that he believes in "economic power," Mr. Rogers suggested that black businesses buy their supplies from black dealers.

MUSIC NOTES

UMBC'S CONCERT

The Department of Music at the University of Maryland Baltimore County (UMBC) has slated the choral literature of Johannes Brahms and other composers to be performed in concert by the Chamber Choir and the University Choir on April 17.

The program, open to the public in Lecture Hall Two at 8 p.m. on the UMBC campus, includes Brahms, "neue-Liebeslieder," Opus 65, for solo quartet, chamber choir and duo-pianist; and Benjamin Britten's "Rejoice in the Lamb," Opus 30, for solo quarter and choir and organ.

Three folksong settings, "Ain-a That Good News," arranged by William L. Dawson; "My Lovely Celia," arranged by Morton J. Luvaas, and "Polly-Wolly Doodle," arranged by Gail Kubik are also included in the program.

PEABODY JAZZ

Jazz from Duke Ellington to Hank Levy will be featured in a concert by the Peabody Jazz Ensemble, conducted by Calvin Lampley, on Tuesday, April 17 at 8:30 p.m. in the Peabody Concert Hall.

PAULA HATCHER

The Cultural Council of the Community College of Baltimore will present Paula Hatcher and the Peabody Jazz Quintet, at the Campus Theatre on Saturday, April 14, 1973, at 3 p.m. The program is designed to give a survey of the blues; African contributions; some of their own compositions, and a sampling of recent popular tunes. The one hour concert combines the above with explanatory dialogue, which creates a rapport with the audience and which provides the opportunity for them to get to know the quintet.
