Inc. is sponsoring the Mini-Metro Tours, a series of tours into various communities of the Baltimore city-county area.

With cooperation from County Fair Housing Councils and City Community Organizations the committee members plan to take guests into such communities as, Ten Hills, Hunting Ridge, Catonsville, Rolling Road, Westview, Windsor Hills, Pikesville, Randallstown, Reisterstown, Owings Mills, Loch Raven, Joppa, Govans, Northwood, Ednor Gardens, Mt. Washington, Fells Point, Seton Hill and other areas of interest and as requested.

The purpose of these tours is two-fold: to educate prospective black home buyers about housing opportunities, real estate values, mortgage financing, building trends etc.; and to provide an opportunity for meaningful interchange between homeseekers and residents of new and established communities.

Black Communications Committee members are available to speak to church groups, civic organizations, PTA's etc. about the tours and will make reservations for remaining tours which will take place on Saturdays and Sundays through the end of June. Interested persons should call Baltimore Neighborhoods, Inc., 243-6007 or the committee chairman, Mrs. Audrey L. Simmons, 265-5084.

Well-Paying Careers Open Up For Teen-Agers, Adults Trained In CCB Day or Evening Classes

Community College of Baltimore—Guide
By DR. SIDNEY KOBRE
Director, News Bureau
Community College of Baltimore

What's the key to success in the business, industrial or professional world?

It's training.

That's what employers say and that's what graduates of the Community College of Baltimore know.

They realize that to obtain and hold a financially-rewarding job today, you need special preparation. And the way to move up in commercial life or in the professional world is to obtain background and special training beyond the high school level.

High school grads and employed men women, who are ambitious and are looking ahead, have discovered already that the 45 career programs at CCB give them the preparation they require.

All at a low-cost.

Housewives are you looking for a rewarding career outside your homes? Do you want to supplement your family income in a period of rising prices? Then join the large educational army enrolling at CCB this summer or fall. Applications are being received now.

No matter what your vocational interest, you can bet CCB has a career program for you in the day or evening classes. A two-year program awards you the associate in arts (A.A.) degree, while a one-year program gives a certificate.

Interested in engineering? You can study construction technology, drafting technology, electronics planteng-ineering technology or mechanical technology. Would you like to get hold of a rewarding job in business? Then consider the business administration program, or the general business program which includes marketing management, labor-management relations.

You will enjoy the accounting or the data-processing courses. Every CCB graduate of the secretarial programs is placed in a job whether you graduate from the executive, legal or medical secretarial options.

PUNCH THE RIGHT BUTTON — The Data-Processing Program at the Community College of Baltimore has considerable appeal. The courses are varied and interesting. Graduates of this career program find jobs in private industry, local organizations, hospitals as well as in the federal government. Social Security Administration employes a number of CCB graduates of the computer program.

Do you like the medical or dental pharmaceutical, profession, and to be associated with doctors or dentists? A steady demand exists for allied health workers. If you become one, you will be needed in hospitals, clinics, doctors' and dentists' offices. Interested in nursing? Would you like to become a member of a medical team as a therapist—occupational, physical or respiratory? The occupation of medical laboratory technician is equally exciting and, what's more, is useful.

If becoming a dental assistant or a dental hygienist is you goal, enroll in the accredited programs at CCB. Teen-agers and adults choose the dental laboratory technician program, for the demand is unusually high for the graduates.

Some persons enjoy working with other people, and so they select the Human Services program. If you are in this category, you might pick the public safety group. You will be working in law-enforcement, corrections, security of fire technology.

Still others, interested in people, enroll in the recreation leadership and social worker assistant program, or in urban planning.

Perhaps you have always wanted to teacher. At CCB you can realize that dream, for capble instructors train you for the teacher-education program. You may select the business-secretarial option, teaching these subject in high schools. Or you may pick the general teacher education program, and eventually study for your A.B. degree.

There is a demand for industrial arts teaochers with CCB having an excellent program for such training. Perhaps you would like to teach music or art, or help shape the lives of cmall children. CCB has an Early Childhood Education program. Others of you may ant to teach physical education and coach teams in high schools and even Colleges.

The radio-television-journalism program in communications provides excitement and rewarding careers. You may be interested in theatre acts, acting, directing, producing. Or you may want to prepare for work as a doctor, pharmacists, lawyer, scientist. If so then you may enroll in the pre-professional programs at the Community College.

When April 13 rolls around each year, it's a big day for little April Teresa Hunter. Last Friday, the little lady celebrated her 9th birthday at her Druid Hill Ave. home. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Braxton (Thelma) Hunter and a second grader at School No. 122.

UMBC staff to appear in concert

The Department of Music at the University of Maryland Baltimore County (UMBC) will present a voca-piano recital by Elizabeth Elrod, contralto, June Lilienstein, soprano, and Arthur Tollefson, piano, on April 25.

The program, open to the public in Lecture Hall Two at 8 p.m., will include several duets by Mendelssohn (Gruss, Op. 63 No. 3; Volksiied, Op. 63, No. 5; Das Aehrenfeld, Op. 77 No. 2; Herbstlied, Op. 63 No. 4) as well as "Deh! con te, con te li prende" from Bellini's opera, Norma.

Elizabeth Elrod, Assistant Professor of Music and Education at UMBC and former Metropolitan Opera Regional Auditions finalist, will be featured in "Dido's Lament" from the opera Dido and Aeneas by Purcell, "Che faro senza Euridice" from Gluck's Orfeo, "Mon coeur s'ouvre a ta voix" from Saint-Saen's Samson et Dalila , and El Pano Moruno by de Falla. Dr. Elrod who has appeared with several leading opera companies and featured with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, will direct UMBC's vocal music program next fall.

June Lilienstein, a vocal instructor at UMBC well known for her performances with the Lake George Opera Company and the Harford Opera Theatre, will be featured in "Aer tranquillo e diereni" from Mozart's Il Re Pastore, Quatre Chansons de Jeunesse by Debussy, and four of the Lieder nach Clemens von Brentano, Op. 68, by Strauss ("Ich wollt' ein Strausslein binden," Sausle, liebe Myrthe," "Amor," "Dein Lied erklling".)

Gourmet's delight is inexpensive

Now is the time to take advantage of a gourmet delight, shad or herring roe, for an inexpensive and nutritious meal, according to Gordon P. Hallock, director of the Seafood Marketing Authority, a Division of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development.

Shad and herring are now running heavy in the Chesapeake Bay, according to Hallock, and are plentiful supply at most fish counters around the State.

Roe is the name for eggs found in a thin membrane of the female fish. Shad and herring roe have a similar flavor and are very much in demand at this time of the year, and inexpensively priced. For instance, a serving of herring roe costs the housewife about thirty-five cents and shad roe only about fifteen cents more. Roe is also very low in calories and fat as compared to sirloin steak.

A 3½ oz. portion of roe has 126 calories, as compared to 387 in sirloin, which has 32 grams of fat compared with 2.8 grams in roe. Iron content is about the same in both portions.

The following listed kitchen tested recipes for Chesapeake Bay shad or herring roe feature "Chesapeake Broiled Roe," "Oven-Toasted Roe," and "Roe Salad Maryland." For additional free recipes on Maryland Fish, write: Recipes, 2525 Riva Road, Annapolis, Maryland 21401.

Our Thriftmaster Policy. Life insurance you can live with.

Your chances of living a long, happy life are greater now than ever before.

So your life insurance should do more than simply provide security for your family if something happens to you.

It should also provide some security for you and your family if nothing happens to you.

That's why we offer our Thriftmaster Policy. It's life insurance that lets you think about living. But protects your family if you don't.
