Was Liddie Jones' Jail-Mate Slain By Killer For Hire?

Baltimore Afro American

Founded August 13, 1892—This Is Our 81st Year. 68,827 Families Read The AFRO Last Week.

B—16 JUNE 2, 1973 YOU KNOW BECAUSE YOU READ THE AFRO

Philly police seek Balto. link to accused

Philadelphia police state they are searching for clues and motives that may link a Philadelphia accused killer in the death of a man wanted to give testimony in a Baltimore County State's attorney's office corruption case.

Kevin Darby, alias Kevin Jones who was due to give evidence in the corruption case last Friday was slain in an argument with a man in Philadelphia May 18.

Philadelphia homicide investigators state 24-year-old Lawrence Williams, 1000 block Brown Pl., is charged with the slaying. Since the killing rumors are rife here that Darby had been slain to block evidence.

However, Philadelphia Homicide Squad lieutenant, Ronald Patterson told the AFRO Tuesday there is no evidence to connect Darby's death with any case in Baltimore. He said according to their records the accused killer has no Baltimore connections at all.

"We have heard the rumors and that could be possible but there are no facts to substantiate them. Williams will not talk," he stated.

Darby who was one time a jail-mate of John E. (Liddie) Jones, an accused "big narcotics pusher," allegedly helped Liddie escape from a Baltimore County jail last year. Liddie is currently serving 13 months for that escape.

Last Friday Liddie Jones was sentenced to five months imprisonment by Judge Kenneth C. Proctor, for failing to testify in the Baltimore County state's attorney's office corruption case.

Meanwhile, a 12-man jury last Wednesday found Liddie guilty for violating federal gun law when agents reportedly found him in possession of a firearm July 2, 1972 in his Kittridge Court home, Randallstown.

Chief Judge Edward S. Northrop reserved sentence in order to study the records of Jones. The trial was prompted by a federal gun law which states persons guilty of certain crimes cannot possess guns.

Jones is also indicted in a separate Federal Court with three of his brothers and eight other persons on charges of operating a multi-million-dollar heroin distribution ring.

Last two weeks the Internal Revenue Service allegedly acting in the interest of the state in taxes, placed more than $1½ million lien on Jones' property and those of his six relatives. The lien, filed in county and city courts, seized his houses, cars and closed down and padlocked his two taverns.

AT GROUND BREAKING CEREMONY— (From left) Fred Simon of Melvin Simon and Associates, Inc., shopping center developer, Allan Bloostein and Herald Crone of the Hecht Co., Jack Adelson, District Manager of Montgomery Ward Stores, Mr. W. I. Nichols, whose late husband, while Real-Estate manager for Montgomery Ward, initiated negotiations for the land on which Golden Ring Mall will be built and Norbert Christel of Stewart's. The major tenants of Golden Ring Mall scheduled for opening in the fall of 1974 are the Hecht Co., Montgomery Ward, and Stewart's. Golden Ring Mall will contain 70 stores when completed at the location on Pulaski Hwy., Route 40 East at the Beltway I-695.

SKYSCRAPER on the site of old North Ave. Market is West Twenty, the home for the elderly opened last week.

Plan bankers' conference

Sen. Robert L. Dalton (Balto. City, 2nd) has asked Housing Commissioner Robert C. Embry Jr. to convene a conference of bankers and others who provide mortgage money for housing to discuss means of making more mortgage money available for purchase of homes in the city.

Under the new Maryland Housing Fund the state is prepared to insure up to $2 million in mortgages in Baltimore City, but only $732,600 has been used to date.

"Banks which are co-operating are backlogged with applications, but too few of the lending institutions are cooperating," Sen. Dalton states.

"The burden should not fall on a few institutions," he said. "All institutions which do business in the City should share the burden."

• • •

Sen. Dalton revealed that federal lending institutions cannot at present become involved because the Maryland program does not carry the full faith and credit of the state.

However, legislation has been introduced in the U.S. Senate to make such programs eligible under the Federal Home Loan Bank.

• • •

The Maryland Housing Fund backs mortgages on new as well as existing housing. It provides 100 percent insurance for 3 bedroom, one to four family homes costing up to $14,000 or 4 bedroom, one to four family homes costing up to $16,000. Higher priced homes are eligible for insurance up to 20 to 60 percent of their value.

Thirty-two city institutions have been approved as lenders for the Maryland Housing Fund but only a small number of these are making substantial numbers of loans under this program.

Sen. Dalton states that the Maryland Housing Fund is presently the only governmental assistance available for housing mortgages in the city since federal funds have been cut off.

He suggests to Commissioner Embry that other means of inducing private investors to provide more mortgage funds should also be explored.

A greater flow of capital into the city mortgage market is crucial to homeownership and it has long been recognized that a cooperative effort is needed by government and the private sector to meet this need, he states.

Commercial banks and other institutions which provide mortgage funds doing business in the city have a responsibility in this direction public pressure should be brought to see that they meet this obligation.

Senator Dalton added that the banks should be interested not simply because this is a serious social problem, but because without more opportunities for homeownership people will continue fleeing the city and the investment which these institutions themselves, have in the city, will suffer.

JOB CORPSMAN — Delerio Wingate, 920 N. Wolfe St., was graduated May 30 at the 168th Commencement at the Singer Breckinridge Job Corps Center, Morganfield, Ky after successfully completing metal trades. He plans a career in welding.

Five get top jobs at the 'Point'

Five local area residents have recently received promotions at Bethlehem Steel Corporation's Sparrows Point plant. The promotions were announced by John W. Colbert, general manager.

James P. Wilson, of Donnachie Road, was promoted to management development assistant in the general manager and assistants department.

Born in Baltimore, Mr. Wilson was graduated from Douglass High School, received a bachelor of science degree from Morgan State College in 1969 and is working toward a master's degree in business administration.

Mr. Wilson served in the U.S. Army from 1969 to 1972 and became a member of that year's management training program.

Upon completion of an orientation period in Bethlehem, Pa., he was assigned to the management development division as a technical assistant, the position he held prior to his recent promotion.

James E. Campbell Sr., of Hillsmere Road, was made mould yard foreman in the steelmaking department. A native of Norlina, North Carolina, Mr. Campbell attended schools there. He joined the steelmaking department at the Point in 1955 as a vessel liner helper. Prior to promotion, he served as assistant stripper foreman.

Charles W. Lucas, of Chelsea Terrace, plate mill and flanger department, was elevated to finishing and reclamation foreman. He previously served as turn slab yard foreman. Mr. Lucas attended schools in Wendell, North Carolina, his birthplace, and served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 1951 to 1953. He joined the plate mill at Sparrows Point in 1955 as a laborer.

Also in the plate mill and flanger department, Charles C. Beard, of Belle Avenue, was stepped up to loading foreman trucks and north yard. Mr. Beard is a native of Baltimore and graduated from Sollers Point High School. He attended Hampton Institute from 1954 to 1955. Mr. Beard served in the U.S. Army from 1958 to 1960 and joined the plate mills at Sparrows Point in 1955 as a laborer. He has served in various capacities of increasing responsibility prior to his most recent promotion.

In the pipe mills department, Herman C. West Jr., of Parkview Avenue, was elevated to turn foreman from an hourly rated foreman. He attended Carver Vocational School in Baltimore and served in the U.S. Air Force from 1946 to 1947. He became a member of the force at the Point in 1950 as a laborer in the pipe mills.

WON FIRST PRIZE—Antoine Little, 2, son of Mrs. Shelia Little of Hamburg St. was the first place winner in a baby contest recently. The sponsors of the rally were the Clayton Memorial Chapter, 17, Order of Eastern Star.

Gwynns Falls Junior High pupil slain

A 7th grade Gwynn Falls Junior High School student was shot and killed Saturday evening when, relatives report, he accidentally stepped on the foot of a girl in the 3300 block W. Mulberry St.

Police records show the well-liked popular student, Gregory R. Blue, 16, 300 block Gwynn Ave., was pronounced dead of gun wounds of the left side shortly on arrival at the Lutheran Hospital.

Homicide investigators revealed 19-year-old Robert Lee More, 3300 block Mulberry St., is charged with murder. Police state he was picked up in his home based on information they received.

Police state Blue was found lying face up on the front porch bleeding from wounds of the lower left side.

Witnesses reported the youth had just walked up the steps when he was gunned down.

Young Blue's mother, Mrs. Annie Blue, told the AFRO: "They told me he accidentally stepped on his sister's foot. He did not accept his apology and so he shot him."

The grieving mother added tearfully: "I don't understand why they allow children to carry guns about. It is a pity that this should happen."

Mrs. Vernola Wallace, young Blue's homewood teacher, told the AFRO: "We're all surprised to hear about his death. He was such a good student. All his classmates are as upset as I'm."

• • •

Mrs. Wallace said young Blue helped her with her books Friday and he told her he was planning to go to Edmondson High School and then to college.

"We all regret his death because he wasn't a bad boy at all."

Funeral services for Blue were at the Friendship Baptist Church on Denison and Mulberry Sts. Thursday. Burial is in the Baltimore Cemetery at 11 a.m.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his father, Buster Blue Jr., four brothers, Alfred, William, Reginald and Ronald Blue; four sisters, Misses Stephany, Christina, Cora and Vanessa Blue.

School 309 pupils had a real treat last week

The Council for Exceptional Children (C.E.C.) last Friday treated the entire student body and faculty of School No. 309 to a picnic at Patapsaco state park.

School No. 309, one of the city's various trainable schools, has 100 students and 12 special education teachers.

The Council for Exceptional Children is a nation — wide organization interested in and deals with children of all exceptionalities from the gifted to the severely retarded.

• • •

The levels of C.E.C. are not only extended to college students majoring in special education, but to college instructors, doctors, and any other person involved with retardation.

The Coppin State College chapter of C.E.C. deals primarily with the retarded, the children then feed need most to be helped.

In the past the local chapter of C.E.C. has given fashion shows, bake sales and dinners to raise money so that they may sponsor many activities throughout the city.

• • •

Last August, with funds raised, C.E.C. purchased three TV sets and gave them to deserving special education facilities on a yearly basis.

Schools involved were School No. 309, T. C. Hamelton principal; School No. 306 Mrs. M. Poole, principal and the class of Mrs. C. Hoses in school No. 100. Each year TV sets will be collected and redistributed to different deserving schools.

Members at the picnic were Dexter R. Brown, president; Mrs. Almenta Bell, vice president; Mrs. Sylvia Vinson, secretary; Mrs. Linda C. Lovett, public relations; Ms. Betty Lowery, special representative; Harold Dett, Ms. Veronica McNeal, Ms. Pat Heidelberg, and Mrs. Doris Honore, special education instructor at Coppin, and chapter's advisor. Mrs. Lois T. Nixon.

Other members are Ms. Robin Siamon, Miss Adie Tynes, Leonard Covington, Miss Vinice Jones, Vernetta Delly, Miss Gwyndolyn Clark, Ms. Doris Bolton, and Ms. Francine Cohen.

Man slain in friend's mom's defense

A 26-year-old man was stabbed to death in his 2300 block Koko Lane home Sunday when he protested to "nasty" remarks a friend was making against his (friend's) mother.

Tyrone Copeland, stabbed in the chest, was pronounced dead at the Provident Hospital shortly on arrival at 1:12 p.m. Police records show a 23-year-old man with no fixed address is wanted in the slaying.

Relatives report Tyrone helped find the friend who was missing from home for a long time. When in the house, police report, the man began insulting his mother. But as Tyrone objected to the way the man was treating his (man's) mother a struggle ensued between them, in the fight that followed Tyrone was stabbed several times in the chest.

Tyrone who was an employee of Abacus Corporation will be buried in the Cedar Hill Cemetery after services in the Mt. Ellis Baptist Church, at 1 p.m. (today) Friday.

He is survived by his parents, Willie J. Copeland, and Mrs. Annie Copeland; a sister, Mrs. Beverly Shearin and a grandmother, Mrs. Viola Green.

Is Stadium Issue Racial?

An attempt was made this week by William Boucher 3rd to inject the racial question into the current controversy over whether there will be a new stadium built in downtown Baltimore City.

Boucher claimed at a luncheon for a group of businessmen that residents of the neighborhood surrounding Memorial Stadium are afraid of what might happen if the stadium is torn down and the 30 acre tract of land is developed for low income housing.

• • •

The injection of racial overtones into the already embroiled stadium controversy was responded to quickly by black city councilmen.

Of the five officials, only three were available at late notice for comment — Councilmen Clarence H. (D) Burns, Dr. Emerson Julian and Mrs. Mary B. Adams.

As a group, they were all suspicious of Boucher's motives for making a statement about possible racial implications in the stadium issue.

Though none of the three refused to say that racial considerations did not play some part in the issue, they wondered aloud why Boucher would now decide to take up the banner for blacks in the city.

Another aspect all three agreed upon was race in comparison to all the other considerations for deciding whether or not to build a new stadium, had to be one of the minor issues, if it was an issue at all.

• • •

"Race is just not the question here," said Dr. Julian. "What is at stake is whether or not the city citizens shall choose to subsidize professional sports to the tune of building a new stadium downtown.

"Now I don't care if the city pays for it or the state does, because you can send money out of your right pocket or your left. But in the face of so many mortgage funds should also be explored.

"If there is racial question to this issue, I can only describe it as a hidden agenda. In my limited contact with the issue, I can say that the racial question has not been directly pointed to before and I don't see why it should be now.

"I agree that there is a critical housing shortage in the city.

"I think persons who live in the neighborhood have a right to know what might happen to the 30 acres of land Memorial Stadium now occupies; but Boucher doesn't say all the other things that this land could be used for.

"I am concerned about the possibility an emotional issue would become even more emotional for reasons which simply aren't valid."

• • •

And how do these three councilman stand on whether the stadium should stay or move downtown? Burns leans toward a new stadium, and Dr. Julian and Mrs. Adams say they haven't made up their minds yet thought of two Mrs. Adamses seem most likely to swing to the new downtown complex action.

"I asked him why and he only intimated the possibility of there being a racial question," she said.

Councilman Burns made this assessment of the racial overtones in the stadium controversy.

"If there is racial question to this issue, I can only describe it as a hidden agenda. In my limited contact with the issue, I can say that the racial question has not been directly pointed to before and I don't see why it should be now.

"I agree that there is a critical housing shortage in the city.

"I think persons who live in the neighborhood have a right to know what might happen to the 30 acres of land Memorial Stadium now occupies; but Boucher doesn't say all the other things that this land could be used for.

"I am concerned about the possibility an emotional issue would become even more emotional for reasons which simply aren't valid."

• • •

And how do these three councilman stand on whether the stadium should stay or move downtown? Burns leans toward a new stadium, and Dr. Julian and Mrs. Adams say they haven't made up their minds yet thought of two Mrs. Adamses seem most likely to swing to the new downtown complex action.

ABORTIONS
CONFIDENTIAL"
"SAFE-LEGAL"
MEDICAID ACCEPTED
(301) 358-1180
Baltimore, Md.
FREE PREGNANCY TESTS
Immediate Appointments

TV REPAIRS
$10.00 PLUS PARTS
3-D TV SALES AND SERVICE
462-4300
DAY OR NIGHT—
2038 W. NORTH AVE.

C.O.D. OIL Company
OR. 5-1818
PAY CASH AND SAVE!
100 GALLONS $19.50 Tax Incl.
50 GALLONS $11.75 Tax Incl.
CALL EARLY FOR QUICK SERVICE
WE OFFER PREMIUM QUALITY FUEL FOR A BIG SAVING

NEW MOTEL CO.
4601 E. MONUMENT ST.
Baltimore, Md.
Nice air conditioned rooms & TV. $8.50 or $9 plus tax, One bed for 2 people

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST
Kerr's Kell-A-Kough
The Medicine with the Nasty Taste
For Coughs Due To Colds
Used In Balto. For 40 Years.

Saturday reception held for Me-De-So Club Deb

for and about Women

The Groveland Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland (Rita Keets) Selby was the setting for the debutante reception honoring Miss Mary Terrell Keets.

Miss Keets, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Inglehart (Roberta) Keets of Bentalou St., was presented at the 1973 Me-De-So Debutante Cotillion held last month. She was sponsored by Dr. William H. Watts, club member. Miss Keets is a freshman at Bowie State College, majoring in special education.

The honoree, her family and hostesses welcomed over 100 guests on Saturday in the spacious reception room of her sister and brother-in-law's home.

Carrying out the pink and green color scheme, Miss Keets was lovely in a pale pink polyester knit pantsuit with a contrasting kelly green organza scarf. A two-tone green beaded bracelet complemented her outfit.

Her mother was stunning in a pink and green two-piece suit which featured a floor-length skirt and three-quarter length jacket.

Hostesses for the afternooner were Mrs. Gwen Tarter and Mrs. Ida M. Peters, who were also clad in pink and green.

About that day were:

Messrs and Mesdames Glenn Tarter, Max Alston Jr., Earl Warner Sr., Grant Owings, Sherlock Grinage, James Green, Joseph Brewington, Edward L. Slater Jr., James R. Parker, John D. Peters, David Robinson, David Wright, J. E. Phelps, Leonard D. Thompson.

Messrs and Mesdames John Walker, Pa.; Earl Anderson, John Dawkins, William H. Rose III, A. Paul Moss.

Drs. and Mesdames, William Watts, I. B. Higgins, Gilbert L. Banfield, Albert LaForest, William B. Russell, Bernard H. Christmas.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Wilbur Crable and Col. and Mrs. David Colter.

The Reverends Mildred Fisher and James N. Caldwell.

Mesdames Elizabeth Parker, Mamie Jones, Edwardena Brown, Blanche Hughes, Elizabeth Bartz, Elmira E. Harris, J. Douglass Sheppard, Byron H. Thomas, Cecilia Mitchell, Roslyn Lewis, Berry Edmond, Christine Pilgrim, Alice Morrell, Vivian Hutchins, Josephine D. Brown.

Mesdames Frances L. Murphy II, Anne Emery, Phyllis Shamwell, Walter T. Dyson, D. Taylor, Frances Adams, Margaret Rawlings, Mary S. Walker.

Mesdames and Misses Phyllis Langston, Thelma B. Elsey, Delores McEven, Rita Dea, Ada Watkins, Margaret E. Johnson, Catherine B. Young, Lucille Wood, Doris McCrose, Fannie S. Morgane, Phyllis Bryant.

Mesdames and Misses, Hellena T. Edmonds, Wanda A. Alderman, Adelle Foreman, Sara Giles, Karen Giles, Margery L. Prout, Myra A. Harris, Lenora Thompson, Diane Hutchins, Shelley S. Brown, Anita Myers, Patrice Myers, Gwendolyn Biddle, Marcia Porter.

Mesdames and Misses A. Vinessa Porter, Nikki C. Keets, Marian M. Bland, Vickie Colter, Barbara A. Keets.

Messrs James E. Lang, Cecil Cooper, Clifton Gross, Ben Foreman, Travis Emery, Attery Pilgrim, Reggie Best.

Standing in the receiving line at the debutante reception honoring Me-Do-So- deb, Miss Terrell Keets were from left: Mrs. Phyllis Terrell Langston from Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Nikki Keets, aunt, from Calif.; Mrs. Marguerite Dixon, godmother; the honoree, Miss Keets; Mrs. Roberta Keets, her mother; Iglehart Keets, her father; Dr. and Mrs. William Watts, Me-De-So sponsors; Mrs. Glenn Tarter, hostess; Mrs. Louise C. Walker, her aunt, and Mrs. D. John Peters, hostess.

Members of the Krinon pledgee club of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa hosted a Reading Workshop on Saturday in the Provident Hospital auditorium. Members (L-R) are: front row, Mrs. Carolyn Griffin, Mrs. Wynonia S. Rhock, Miss Rosetta Stith, Mrs. Ellestine J. Grant, Mrs. Barbara H. Garnes. Second row, Mrs. Doris Countess, Mrs. Ursula Krafchick, Miss Parona J. Dorsey, Mrs. Charlotte E. Brooks, Mrs. Maudnell S. Wilson, Mrs. Dorothy F. Bennett, Dean of Pledgees. Third row, Mrs. Helen M. Hull, Mrs. Beatrice W. Avery, Mrs. Pearl C. Boone, Mrs. Janet C. Smith, Mrs. Bessie Black. Missing from photo is Mrs. Ida Eley.

(AFRO photo by R. Courtney Anderson)

R.S.V.P. with Marie

Young Ladies, Gents Feted Sunday Following Commencement Exercises

BY MARIE MURPHY PHILLIPS COOKE
(AFRO Women's Editor)

Graduations, wedding and reunions — these are the kind of happy events which come this time of the year. Even though the weekend weather was dreary, there was happiness at the indoor graduation exercises and plenty of sunshine at the gatherings which followed.

It was so on Thursday evening at the Me-De-So Club when Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Banfield hosted a dinner honoring Dr. Eli Anthony Timmoli on his graduation from the Johns Hopkins Medical School.

Dr. Timmoli is married to the former Miss Sondra Banfield. He will serve his internship at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

The new physician's mother, Mrs. Ether Timoli, and aunt, Mrs. Gloria Brown, came from Maypen, Jamacia, West Indies.

Classmates, professors and a few family friends joined them for dinner. Toasts to the honoree and fellow graduates were proposed by Dr. Ivan Higgins.

Mrs. Albert (James) Laforest an Mrs. Ivan (Hilda) Higgins greeted guests at the clubhouse. Miss Karen Banfield and Mrs. Adrienne Banfield Pinkett sat with the guest book.

• • •

GUESTS THERE

Dinner guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Daudet Constable, Alfred Moore, George Conover, Wibert Jones, Raymond Powell and Louis Dixon.

Also, Drs. and Mesdames Condit Moore, Michael Moore, Larry Bower, Jeffry Phelan, Earl Kidwell, Philip Butcher, C. R. Campbell, Philip Byrd, and Theodore Patterson.

And Mesdames Gloria Brown, Vivian Pendleton, Robert Heysell, Edward Murray, Alimav Kendrick and Miss Marcia Timmoll.

Also, Drs. Jerome D. Frank, Charles Carpenter, Gilbert Leslie Banfield Jr.

Dr. and Mrs. Timmoll will soon be residing in their Gist Ave. home here in Baltimore.

ELEY RECEPTION

The Wayne Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Eley was the setting of an informal reception honoring their son, Maurice, and daughter, Sheila, both of whom received B.A. degrees from Morgan State College on Sunday.

The reception, which had been scheduled to be held on the spacious Eley lawn, had to be moved inside.

Some 100 guests passed through the receiving line where they were introduced to the honorees and their parents — afterwhich they helped themselves to a variety of delectable dishes which were beautifully displayed in the dining area. There were also bubbly sippables and snacks for the guests to enjoy.

Among those present were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Richard Jones, East Orange, N.J.; Randy Drew, Newport News, Va.

Messrs. and Mesdames William Blake, Ernest Clinton, Thomas Coles, Louis Curry, Charles Dowdy, Richard Eley, Walter Gayles, Booker Harris, William C. March, I Henry Phillips Sr., Robert Sellars, Hilton Stanford, Richard Ward, Doc M. Washington, Paul Whetstone.

Mesdames Hollie Allen, Laura Byrd, Marie Cashen, Alice Christopher, Anita Cole, Marie Cooke, Iolas Drake, William Lee Henry, Thelma W. Hills, Helen Hull, Corinda Jones, Doris Jones, Ethel Langley, Dorothy Ransom, Mary E. Smith, Gertrude Venable, Florine Bingham, Newport News, Va.

Misses Joanne Christopher, Bessie Coles, Deborah Curry, Lisa Eley, Phyllis Eley, Wanda Harris, Barbara Haskins, Vickie Lynn Jones, Rachael Phillips, Sheila Phillips, Edwanda Smith, Carolyn Streat, Veatrice Streat, Christina Ward, Dorothy Washington.

Messrs. Terry Brown, Louis Curry Jr., Michael Curry, Gerald Eley, Ricky Eley, Harold Langley, Sumpter Langley, Frank W. Phillips III, Theodore Smith.

ANDERSON RECEPTION

And, up Dorchester Rd. way, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Anderson had a rather large gathering of friends and family to honor their daughter, Lynne, also a Morgan grad.

Spied were:

Messrs. and Mesdames William Adams, Glenn Tarter, Calvin Wesley, Joseph Gilford, A. Paul Moss, Raymond Mitchell, Roland Williams, Bruce Edemy, J.E. Phelps, Gerald Kerr, William H. Ross III, Ben Foreman, Harold Western, George Gantt, Henry Neal, Roland Daugherty, John McGuire, Charles Hall.

Drs. and Mesdames Bernard Christmas, Harold Ramsey, Edward McDaniel, Albert Burwell.

Mesdames William H. Hunter, Beulah Fogle, Elaine Smith, Ida Milborne, Carolyn Willis, Delores Parker, Alice Tucker.

Misses Maxine Jones, Denise Grelecki, Shelley Seale, Carol Dorsey, Cheryl Franze, Carrie Johnson.

Messrs. John McCargo Jr., Randy Carroll, Ronald Penn, Michael Smith, Wilbert Merchant.

HOLIDAY GATHERING

And, late Monday when the weatherman talked about possible heavier rainfall, those Baltimore members of Guardsmen changed their plans midstream and switched their Memorial Day picnic from a seashore beach to the Civic Center.

G-Man Harold Jennifer showed how easy it is to put things together and if you hadn't known it was a last-minute switch you'd have thought it was planned there all along—what with Mickey Fields orchestra holding forth and handsome Ernie Andrews warbling like mad . . . and the red-decorated tablecloths, soft lights and delicious eatables . . . it was saying something.

Here from Durham, N.C., at the affair, Dr. Helen G. Edmonds, the noted dean of N.C. Central College at Durham.

She had spoken the day before at annual women's day at Sharp St. Methodist Church which was packed to the hilt for her talk which moved members to frequent 'amens.'

Also about at the Guardsmen's picnic, Linda Bryant, the pretty model, and Dr. John Mulpin. She confides they've set a July date.

WO-BE-CO

And, it was a gay and happy crowd of friends and associates who gathered at Gray Rock Manor out Pikesville way for the annual gathering . . . given by Wo-Be-Co. (Women Behind the Community). It was pouring outdoors but nothing but sunshine inside.

Advertised as soul and champagne party, it was that and more with talented Harlem Park Junior High youngsters performing beautifully, and a pretty young student of Coppin State, demonstrating how to wrap one's head in yards of fabric to make those attractive turbans.

MISS SHORTER

Miss Gretchen Alethya Shorter, received her masters of science degree in urban elementary education from Morgan State College on Sunday.

Miss Shorter was recently feted at a bridal shower in her honor.

The beautiful shower, given by Miss

(Continued on Page C-18)

Mrs. Ralph T. Eley is shown here with daughter, Sheila, and son Maurice, at the Morgan State College commencement exercises. Both children received their B.A. degrees on Sunday. Read about gala reception given in their honor in this column.

(AFRO photos by I. Henry Phillips, Sr.)

Miss Saunders to wed

Mr. and Mrs. Roddey Sanders of Arunah Ave. have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Doretha Mattie Sanders to William L. Galloway, son of Mrs. Viola Galloway of Bel Air, Md.

Miss Sanders is the granddaughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. Elijah Tunson and the late Mr. and Mrs. Milas Sanders. Mr. Galloway is the grandson of Mrs. OcCavia Galloway of Bel Air, Maryland.

Miss Sanders is a graduate of Western High School. She received her bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Morgan State College. Miss Sanders also received her master of science degree in elementary education from Morgan State College. She is a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

Mr. Galloway graduated from Central Consolidated High School of Bel Air, Maryland. He has attended University of Maryland Eastern Shore and Morgan State College.

A July wedding is planned.

MISS DORETHA MATTIE SANDERS engagement told

Beauty Tips

In this age of herbal delights, why not treat your whole body to a delicious new experience everytime you bathe?

It's simpler than you think and makes bathing a beautiful time to look forward to. The thing to remember is . . . anything goes. You can mix a delectable potpourri of your favorite scents into a luxurious bath that does wonders for you skin and your psyche.

How about the juice of a fresh lime, orange or lemon? Or sprinkle some mint tea into the water. Nutmeg and cinnamon sweeten the water and intice your senses, making your bath time a good time to relax, unwind and forget about the rest of the world.

Linger in the bath at least 30 minutes to get the complete benefits and then buff dry with a towel, don't rub. An added touch of baby oil on rough spots like elbows, hands and knees will insure baby softness all day and all night.

MRS. DAVID G. DOUCOUMES
former Miss Tanya Justyne Quille

Miss Quille weds Mr. Doucoumes

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Quille announce the marriage of their daughter, Tanya Justyne to David George Doucoumes, the son of Mr. and Mr. John Phillips (Mary) Doucoumes of Lexington, Kentucky.

The marriage took place in Lexington Thursday, May 17. The bride, a graduate of Pikesville Senior High School, also attended George Washington University and New York University Law School.

Mrs. Doucoumes is a graduate of George Washington University and plans to enter the Institute of Culinary Arts in Poughkeepsie, New York in September.

The newlyweds have made their home in Lexington, Kentucky.

LET US KNOW

The AFRO's Women's Editor wants to know what's going on in your communities. Please send her your engagement and wedding notices, clubnotes, too. There is no charge. She will also print a pictures, if available. Send to: Ms. Marie P. Cooke, AFRO Women's Editor; P. O. Box 1857, Baltimore, Md., 21203. IT'S FREE.

Brides: Send For Form

Getting married? The AFRO wants to know. Our photographer will come and take a picture for publication on your big day. Simply call at least two weeks in advance and let us know. Want a story too? Call for the special bridal form: 728-8200, ext. 65 or 31. Remember, IT'S FREE.